Commissioner Reeves seconded the motion.

The motion passed. 3:0

Commissioner Levy was not present for this vote.

Tab 2

Self-Exclusion

Ashlie Laydon, Rules Coordinator and John Chinn, Project Manager presented the materials in this tab. RC Laydon explained that the legislature directed the Gambling Commission to draft rules establishing a statewide self-exclusion program through Substitute House Bill 1302. The Gambling Commission has discretion in establishing the scope, process, and requirements of the self-exclusion program, however it must comply with the following requirements: the program must allow persons to voluntarily exclude themselves from gambling at authorized gambling establishments that offer house-banked social card games and any individual registered with the self-exclusion program is prohibited from participating in gambling activities associated with this program and forfeits all moneys and things of value obtained by the individual or owed to the individual by an authorized gambling establishment as a result of prohibited wagers or gambling activities. PM Chinn explained the process to be added to a self-exclusion list. He started with the self-exclusion initiation process, adding an individual to the self-exclusion list, enforcing the self-exclusion terms, and then removal of an individual from the list. He also spoke about the licensee pre-implementation tasks and the licensee process for an updated list. Commissioners had questions regarding confirmation of identity of individuals that want to self-exclude. Commissioner Reeves asked about making the process to self-exclude as easy as possible and not to create barriers. She also asked if staff could look to the licensed behavioral health community and any other licensed professionals to see if that could be another avenue in which to identify individuals. Commissioner Patterson asked about confiscated monies from individuals that wish to self-exclude. She asked if the money would go to the state's problem gambling account or a designated provider. AAG Matt Kernutt said "once this money is forfeited, it would be designated as public funds and it would just be dependent upon where the money is subsequently distributed. The gambling commission does have authority under this particular statute to determine where and how distributed". Chair Sizemore asked AAG Kernutt if the Commission had the authority to allow the money to go to the state problem gambling fund with the language that the legislature chose? AAG Kernutt said he would get back to the commission with some detailed advice. Commissioner Reeves had concerns about an opt-in model rather than an opt-out model. Senator Holy asked about the language change from gambling disorder to gambling problem. Interim Director Griffin explained that Dr. Kahlil Philanders recommended the language change.

Public Comment

Roxane Waldron, Program Manager for the State Problem Gambling Program addressed the Commission. She said, "As you know, from your packets, I have submitted several letters on areas of concerns that I have. Before I get started on those, I just want to say that I do agree with Senator Holy about keeping problem gambling in the definition along with gambling disorder. The reason for that is that we know that people tend to underestimate the difficulty that they are having with gambling. And if they get to the point where they think they might have a problem having to come in under gambling disorder, they may see that and say, "Oh, that's too severe, that's not me, that's not appropriate for me." So I actually disagree respectfully with Holy I do think that it should be included. So that's my comment about that. And I appreciate Senator Holy that you raised that.

So, first of all, my first main area of concern, which I've talked about before is that I believe the forfeited money should be coming to the State Problem Gambling Program, and that would be from the commercial card rooms only, not the tribal. I understand that tribes are sovereign nations and have the right to decide where their funding will go. I did make a recommendation for changing to the wording. I'm not going to read that out here unless requested but it is in my letter. And the reasons for why I think this change should be made is that the State Problem Gambling already has contract monitoring and financial auditing as part of the established oversight for both revenue and expenditures.

And so this way, the public can have confidence that the people's money is being used appropriately, and that there is a paper trail in case of concern. And then leaving it open for commercial vendors to decide where they're sending the funding, it means that the State Problem Gambling Program will be essentially vying for this additional funding as a state agency with other non-state organizations. And in my role as a State Problem Gambling Program manager and the only staff person in the program, it's not appropriate for me to reach out and lobby commercial vendors for a forfeited funds. So that sort of leaves me at a disadvantage in that regard.

Additionally, due to WAC 230-15-710, which covers how progressive jackpot games will be removed from play, licensees have several options for dispersal of any remaining jackpot prizes including donating the money to a nonprofit gambling organization in Washington State. And I know that as a result, the Gambling Commission has fairly recently distributed funds to the Evergreen Council on problem gambling. However, the State Problem Gambling Program it's not a possible recipient on that list. So it's received none of the forfeited progressive jackpot game prizes, leaving the state program in a disadvantaged position on that. So, having the State Problem Gambling Program as the recipient for the self-exclusion forfeited funds would help to equal that up.

So, the State Program is also projected in this current biennium that we've just entered to have a funding gap for treatment of about $150,000. So, I'm already submitting a request to have supplemental appropriation to help cover that. But this just illustrates that our need is growing, and we need to have more funds available in an ongoing way for treatment. So as a low barrier program, the State Problem Gambling Program seeks to provide services to all eligible residents of Washington State. So, we need to have that funding available. So that's probably the biggest issue for the State Program.

I'm also concerned about the online registration not being available. We did talk about that quite a bit. So, I support Representative Kloba and others who have asked for additional research into that. We know that people have been gambling more online at home because of the pandemic. Research shows that internationally to be true, even though online gambling, isn't legal in Washington State, we know that it's happening. So, I also think that people need to have the ability to ban themselves from the comfort of their homes without having to seek out a notary in-person.

We do have things in society like DocuSign and other kinds of verification programs, so I fully support having that as a goal. I don't think it should hold off on starting the program, but I do think it should be a goal. So finally, in the draft rules, there don't appear to be any specific consequences for the Washington State commercial vendors if they don't adhere to the licensee responsibilities per the new rules. So, I would recommend that the Gambling Commission at least consider language about how non-tribal venues will be held responsible such as a fine or additional consequence. I think just saying administrative action will be taken it doesn't feel like it has any teeth in it.

And I think when we think about what will motivate licensees to do a good job some will do it because they want to do a good job and others will need a motivation that has to do with the stake, unfortunately. So I just want to advocate for that. So I've run through a lot of things in a really short period of time. So thank you for the opportunity to present. And I'm available for any questions as well”.

ID Griffin reiterated the takeaways to remove the notary or to add an option of notary and/or licensed treatment professional to verify the identity and sign off on the form. Representative Kloba stated that a notary would be acceptable but having an additional licensed treatment professional to sign on as a witness would be helpful. Staff will reach out to the behavioral health community within the Problem Gambling Task Force to see what term of enrollment they recommend. Commissioners would like an annual report beginning one year after implementation. Commissioner Patterson requested that staff investigate an online option within six months after the commission has completed its IT modernization process.

Rules were held over for additional work by staff as directed by the Commissioners.

Commissioners took a 10-minute break

Electronic Raffles

Ashlie Laydon, Rules Coordinator and Sonja Dolson, Special Agent Supervisor presented the materials for this tab. RC Laydon said that at the March 2020 meeting, Commissioners accepted a petition and chose to initiate rule-making to allow sports teams' charitable foundations to operate electronic raffles at sporting events. RC Laydon explained the necessary terms and requirements. The petitioners respectfully request amending the raffle rules to allow for the sale of 50/50 raffles tickets at professional sports games and matches via electronic devices and systems in compliance with current applicable state statutes. Staff feels that this rules package addresses the concerns that stakeholders have expressed, except for those concerns that cannot be addressed without amending the Gambling Act, such as the use of a cloud-based server, allowing for electronic selection of winning raffle tickets and issuance of electronic receipts. SAS Dolson addressed the commission with a more in-depth explanation of the rules. She was joined by Eric Pettigrew representing the Seattle Kraken, Drew Johnston of the Seattle Seahawks, and Amber Carter of the Seattle Mariners. Each of the representatives of the Major League Teams present thanked the Commissioners and staff for their support and help in providing an easier way for fans to contribute to the teams supporting charities. Representative Kloba asked if this raffle would be an expansion of gambling. AAG Kernutt said he would like more time to speak with AAG Becker and come back to staff with at least a reasonable legal opinion associated with that, prior to final adoption. Commissioner Patterson asked what the process would be if it were considered an expansion of gambling. AAG Kernutt said, "if this was deemed to be an expansion of gambling, I'm not saying that it is. I want to be very, very clear. That is not a legal opinion yet associated with this... Then it would be outside the authority of the Gambling Commission. It would need to be a legislative question if that is the case. I, unfortunately, am not prepared to answer that question today for the Commission. I apologize for that, but we can work with staff associated with that, and would also, obviously in evaluating that, welcome the petitioner's views associated with that to evaluate their legal position as well. But if it is an expansion of gambling, it would be a legislative determination outside the scope of the Gambling Commission's authority". Senator Conway asked if any team could offer these raffles. ID Griffin replied, only major league teams at this point that are affiliated with a non-profit organization.

Sports Wagering Update

On September 9, 2021, the Snoqualmie Tribe opened the state's first sportsbook, see the attached press release. The Tribe and state worked collaboratively together to license vendors and finalize the sports wagering menu, internal controls, and house rules.

On September 23, 2021, Snoqualmie Tribal Gaming Commission Executive Director Daniel Hansen gave me a tour of the sportsbook, which has a retail counter and six kiosks. While on-site, I expressed my appreciation to the Snoqualmie Tribal Gaming Commission for the good working relationship that helped facilitate such a timely opening.

To date, 17 Tribal-State Compact Amendments authorizing sports wagering have been approved by the Gambling Commission, 15 have been signed by the Governor, 13 have been published in the Federal Register, and one is being finalized through a memorandum of incorporation.

Enforcement Actions in the Illicit Market for Sports Wagering

ESHB 2638 became effective on March 25, 2020, authorizing sports wagering pursuant to the Tribal-State Compacts authorizing the activity. The legislation included the following:

"Sec. 14. The sum of six million dollars is appropriated from the general fund—state for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2020 and is provided solely for expenditure into the gambling revolving account. The gambling commission may expend from the gambling revolving account from moneys attributable to the appropriation in this section solely for enforcement actions in the illicit market for sports wagering and for implementation of this act. The appropriation in this section constitutes a loan from the general fund to the gambling revolving account that must be repaid with net interest by June 30, 2021."

To date, we have identified and investigated 48 online gambling sites offering sports betting. Of those 48 websites offering sports wagering:

- 34 denied WA residents from placing a wager; and
- 14 allowed WA residents to open an account and/or place a wager.

Staff is currently conducting further investigations on those websites that allowed Washington residents to place wagers on their website and monitoring additional websites for compliance. We continue to conduct investigations on other illegal sports wagering occurring in the state.

Sports Wagering Menu and Snoqualmie Casino Ready for NFL Kickoff

Posted on September 08, 2021

The Snoqualmie Tribe and the Washington State Gambling Commission have agreed to the initial list of wagers the Snoqualmie Tribe will offer in its sportsbook when it opens at 11am on September 9th, 2021. The tribe and the state worked collaboratively to develop the list of wagers that falls within the guidelines provided by the legislation and the Sports Wagering amendment. Sports Wagering Menu

On March 25, 2020, Governor Jay Inslee signed House Bill 2638 that authorizes sports wagering for Class III tribal facilities under terms negotiated in tribal-state compacts.

“The kickoff of Sports Wagering is the result of hard work by the Washington State Gambling Commission and the Tribes that began more than a year ago. Working with our Tribal partners and Tribal Gaming Agencies we negotiated compact amendments, developed new rules and learned the intricacies of operating professional sports books. Together we built a Sports Wagering Menu that will offer casino customers a wide array of gaming opportunities on sporting events from around the world. Commission staff along with our Tribal partners were able to get all this done in time to meet the goal of being ready for the beginning of the 2021 NFL regular season. The work reflects our commitment to protect the public by ensuring that gambling is legal and honest, said Commission Chair Bud Sizemore.”

General Information:

Diamond Game Enterprises, Inc. (Diamond Game) is a manufacturer of pull-tabs and equipment. They applied for a manufacturer license with the intent of offering their electronic pull-tab ticket dispenser. They are aware that there are several steps that need to be accomplished for them to be licensed to market and sell their equipment in Washington State, as the current rules do not allow it. The licensing process was just one of the steps.

Staff Proposed Rule-Making
Chapter 230-23 WAC- Self-Exclusion Rules.

October 2021 – Discussion & Possible Filing
August 2021 – Discussion
October 2019 – Initiated Rule-Making

Tab 3: OCTOBER 2021 Commission Meeting Agenda.	Statutory Authority 9.46.070; 9.46.071

Who Proposed the Rule Change?

Washington State Gambling Commission Staff

Background

BOLD = Changes made after August 2021 Commission Meeting.

At the October 2019 meeting, Commissioners initiated rule-making to adopt new rules to establish a statewide self-exclusion program. At the August 2021 meeting, Commissioners directed staff to continue to work on draft language to specifically address the following areas:

- Allowing counselors who provide treatment for problem gambling to verify the identity of participants and sign the self-exclusion form, in place of a notary,
- Adding a three-year enrollment period,
- Exploring the option for electronic submission,
- Providing a legal analysis of confiscated funds going only to the problem gambling account created in RCW 42.05.751,
- Evaluating the participant renewal process, and
- Annual reporting on the efficacy of the program.

Staff has addressed these areas in the draft language before you today which:

- Establishes a centralized, statewide self-exclusion program,
- Outlines how participants may request self-exclusion,
- Establishes periods of enrollment for the program,
- Acknowledges that enrollment is voluntary,
- Addresses disclosure of program information,
- Establishes licensee responsibilities, and
- Addresses how the list may be shared.

The Gambling Commission has been directed by the legislature, through Substitute House Bill 1302, to draft rules establishing a statewide self-exclusion program. The Gambling Commission has discretion in establishing the scope, process, and requirements of the self-exclusion program, however it must comply with the following requirements: the program must allow persons to voluntarily exclude themselves from gambling at authorized gambling establishments that offer house-banked social card games and any individual registered with the self-exclusion program is prohibited from participating in gambling activities associated with this program and forfeits all moneys and things of value obtained by the individual or owed to the individual by an authorized gambling establishment as a result of prohibited wagers or gambling activities. The Gambling Commission may adopt rules for forfeiture of any moneys or things of value, including wagers, obtained by an authorized gambling establishment while an individual is registered with the self-exclusion program.

Stakeholder Outreach and Feedback

Draft language was sent out to all licensees, tribal gaming entities, Washington State Health Care Authority, the Problem Gambling Task Force, and others with a vested interest in problem gambling on May 3, 2021 for review and feedback. Feedback was received from the following stakeholders:

- Cory Thompson
- Douglas Granstrand, Bill’s Place
- Dr. Kahlil Philander, Washington State University
- Kevin Crum, ABS Business Data, LLC
- Kevin Zenishek, Northern Quest Resort & Casino
- Laurie Myers, All Star Lanes & Casino
- Maureen Greeley, Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling
- Nanci Watson, concerned citizen (also testified at May 13, 2021 public meeting)
- Roxane Waldron, Washington State Health Care Authority
- Ryan Keith, Washington State Health Care Authority

Input was sought from the clinical and research community on whether licensees should be prohibited from adding individuals interested in self-exclusion to operator-level programs instead of the state-wide, centralized program and how player accounts should be handled. Feedback was received from:

- Dr. Kahlil Philander, Washington State University
- Maureen Greeley, Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling
- Roxane Waldron, Washington State Health Care Authority
- Dr. Ty Lostutter, UW Medicine

A Small Business Economic Impact Statement (SBEIS) was completed on August 6, 2021.

Implementation of this new chapter, chapter 230-23 WAC, self-exclusion rules, is not anticipated to impose more than minor costs on house-banked card room licensees. Initial costs will be higher as licensees will be required to notify individuals already enrolled in operator-level programs, develop procedures for implementation, and train staff. Monthly costs of implementation are expected to be relatively low and will depend on how many individuals enroll. Initial and monthly costs will vary between licensees depending on location, clientele, and staffing structure.

The SBEIS and final draft language was sent out to stakeholders for review and feedback on August 9, 2021. Feedback was received from the following stakeholders:

- Delano Saluskin, Confederated Tribes of the Yakama Nation
- Pat Hosier, TIL Gaming and Fortune Casinos
- Roxane Waldron, Washington State Health Care Authority
- Tim Woolsey, Suquamish Tribe of the Port Madison Indian Reservation
- Vern Westerdahl, Roxbury Lanes & Casino

Draft language was mailed out to the attached list of certified gambling counselors on September 16, 2021 with a request for feedback by September 24, 2021 for specific input on whether they would verify the identity of the participant and sign the self-exclusion forms and their thoughts on the proposed enrollment periods.

- Brad Galvin, Brief Therapy Works
- Hilarie Cash, reSTART Life, PLLC
- Tana Russell, Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling

Draft language was emailed to Department of Health staff responsible for regulating behavioral health professionals and treatment facilities for feedback and specific input on signing the self-exclusion form in place of a notary. No feedback has been received.

Staff reached out to the Washington State Health Care Authority and to the Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling regarding a definition of “certified gambling counselor”. Feedback was received from:

- Maureen Greeley, Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling
- Roxane Waldron, Washington State Health Care Authority
- Tana Russell, Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling

Staff Recommendation

Staff recommends filing draft language for further discussion.

Ashlie,

Thank you for putting this together. I believe there should be more onus put on the card rooms to insure the people that are self-excluded as a result of their gambling problem do not gain entry. I can see a situation where someone is allowed to play and then has their money/chips confiscated as they are playing, which, in essence, rewards the card room for allowing them to play. Currently, security does not do a very good job, in general, in keeping self-excluded people out due to apathy as well as the high turnover rate in the industry.

Bill's Place in Yakima WA, even though we have a card room license, doesn't have any actual card games being played.

Therefore, its hard to comment on these rule changes as we have no idea what the impact to the licensee will actually be.

SELF-EXCLUSION RULES

WAC 230-19-XXX Purpose

The purpose of this chapter is to establish a centralized, statewide self-exclusion program, administered by the Commission, allowing a person with a gambling problem or gambling disorder to voluntarily exclude themselves from licensed house-banked card rooms and participating tribal gaming facilities.

WAC 230-19-XXX Definitions

The following definitions apply only to this chapter:

- (1) "Licensee" means the house-banked card room licensee.
- (2) "Participant" means a person who has enrolled in the program.
- (3) "Self-Exclusion List" means a list maintained by the Commission of individuals who have requested to be voluntarily excluded from house-banked card room licensees and participating tribal gaming facilities in the State of Washington.
- (4) "Voluntary self-exclusion program" or "program" means the voluntary self-exclusion program authorized under RCW 9.46.071, and does not apply to gambling via horse-racing or lottery.

WAC 230-19-XXX REQUEST FOR SELF-EXCLUSION

(1) Any person may request to be placed on the self-exclusion list voluntarily excluding themselves from house-banked card room licensees by submitting a completed form, which we provide, in person at our office or at a house-banked card room licensee or by mail:

(a) In person at our office or at a house-banked card room licensee by:

- (i) Submitting a completed form, which we provide; and

(b) Through the mail by:

- (i) Submitting a completed form, which we provide. The form must be notarized; and

(2) The form must be:

- (a) Completed with no areas left blank, and
- (b) Signed under penalty of perjury by the person seeking self-exclusion, and
- (b) Be properly notarized if submitting by mail.

(3) Upon receipt of a completed form, the licensee will forward it to us within 72 hours.

WAC 230-19-XXX Period of Enrollment

SELF-EXCLUSION RULES

(1) At the time of enrollment, the participant must select the period of self-exclusion:

- (a) One year,
- (b) Five years, or
- (c) Ten years.

(2) The self-exclusion time period selected begins and the participant is considered enrolled:

- (a) Upon receipt of the notarized form by mail or
- (b) The date the completed form was accepted by a licensee or us when submitted in person.

(3) Once enrolled, the participant cannot be removed from the program prior to the selected period of voluntary self-exclusion.

(4) Upon expiration of the selected period of enrollment, the participant will be removed from the program.

WAC 230-19-XXX Voluntary self-exclusion

During the period of enrollment, the participant acknowledges and agrees:

(1) The ultimate responsibility to limit access to all house-banked card rooms within the State remains theirs alone; and

(2) The self-exclusion request is irrevocable during the enrollment period selected and cannot be altered or rescinded for any reason; and

(3) The exclusion is in effect at all house-banked card room licensees in the State of Washington and participating Indian Gaming Facilities, which is subject to change, and all services/amenities associated with these gaming facilities, including but not limited to, restaurants, bars, bowling, check cashing services, cash advances, etc.; and

(4) Player club memberships and accounts will be closed and any points or benefits accrued in the participant's existing loyalty program account, if any, expire based on the established expiry date(s) and no refund or replacement will be provided; and

(5) New player club memberships, direct mail and marketing service complimentary goods and services and other such privileges and benefits will be denied; and

(6) Disclosure of certain information is necessary to implement the participant's request for self-exclusion; and

(7) If found on the premises of a house-banked card room licensee, for any reason other than to carry out their duties of employment at the licensed establishment, they may be charged with criminal trespass; and

(8) All money and things of value, such as gaming chips, obtained by or owed to the participant as a result of prohibited wagers or the purchase of chips and/or participating in authorized gambling activities outlined in this Chapter will be forfeited under RCW 9.46.071; and

(9) To not recover any losses from the purchase of chips and/or participating in authorized gambling activities outlined in this Chapter.

Commented [KP1]: I would suggest changing this to:
6- months
One-year
Five-years (if a renewal)

A study by McCormick et al. on the BC program found substantial improvements in wellness within 6-months. This therefore may be adequate to provide the necessary break from gaming, and may improve enrollment counts as it seems less daunting to enroll for 6-months over one-year.

Re: the five-year renewal option, this ensures that you don't run into issues in the future where individuals have overcommitted themselves to a multi-year ban and have unrecindable regret (this will occur anyway, but ensuring that people understand the program before they commit for multiple years is helpful).

With a multi-year horizon, its hard for individuals to anticipate things like moving to a different town where most of the social interaction is based around hospitality in a gaming facility.

Commented [KP2]: Here I would suggest having an "active re-enrollment" process. Effectively, after expiration, the individual remains excluded, but may complete a form to become eligible to return.

Commented [KP3]: This is a reasonable regulation, though I would suggest that the internal policies be to focus on re-education of the individual on program values, rather than elect to criminalize the self-enrolled act

Commented [KP4]: You may have already addressed this, but ensure that your disclosed rules (e.g. jackpot entitlement rules) note this separate treatment of individuals enrolled in the self-exclusion program. The was a successful action against BCLC (I think it was Hagh dust v bc lottery) because the game rules weren't updated to account for the different treatment of self-exclusion enrollees.

SELF-EXCLUSION RULES

WAC 230-19-XXX Disclosure of Self-Exclusion Information

(1) Personal information submitted by a participant under the self-exclusion program is exempt from public disclosure under the Public Records Act and may not be disseminated for any purpose other than the administration of the self-exclusion program, or as otherwise permitted by law.

Commented [KP5]: typo

(2) No house-banked card room licensee, employee or agent thereof shall disclose the name of, or any information about any participant who has requested self-exclusion to anyone other than employees and agents of the house-banked card room licensee whose duties and functions require access to such information.

(3) The house-banked card room licensee may release the names and identifying information of participants on the self-exclusion list to contracted service providers that provide check cashing, cash advances, marketing, automated teller machines or other financial services.

(a) The identifying information must be limited to the address, driver's license or state issued identification number, photograph, and physical description; and

(b) Only the name and identifying information may be disclosed to contracted service providers. The house-banked card room licensee must neither disclose the reasons for providing the name and identifying information nor disclose that the person is on the self-exclusion list; and

(c) The house-banked card room licensee must require by written contract that the contracted service provider implement measures designed to ensure the confidentiality of the names and identifying information and to prohibit the release of the names and identifying information to any other person or entity; and

(d) The house-banked card room licensee must immediately report to us all instances of a participant accessing or attempting to access the services provided by the contracted service providers.

WAC 230-19-XXX Licensee's Responsibilities

Each house-banked card room licensee must:

- (1) Make available to all patrons the self-exclusion form developed and provided by us; and
- (2) Accept complete self-exclusion forms, verify the participant's identity as required on the form, and forward the form to us within 72 hours of receipt; and

Hi Ashlie,

Thank you for the opportunity to review and comment on this rules package. Our Sonoma player rewards system currently is installed in 33+ licensed cardrooms in Washington and our system does have the ability to mark player's as self excluded which then prevents any play or rewards activity to be initiated from those accounts. Our system could tie in to the new statewide system by way of an External API that would allow our casino operator customers to ensure that they follow the new requirements while using the same system they have been.

Each player account in our system is tied their Driver's License or state issued ID number. If the state's system would allow us to query the state ID number on a periodic basis we could then seamlessly update the accounts on the Sonoma side when they have been entered into the self exclusion database. It would be easiest to do that at a system level rather than casino by casino, but we could make the system work either way.

What will be the process by which such an interface between our Sonoma system and the new statewide system can be made to work together? How can I get started on that?

Ashlie,

After reading the rules put forth by the Gambling Commission, I have a few comments and concerns.

- On the request for self-exclusion through the mail and having it "NOTARIZED" would not be something that a patron would most likely complete. All Star has received letter's in the mail from patrons that wish to be excluded from the casino for a period of time and usually have a phone number which we call and talk to them and discuss their length of exclusion and the rules we follow at our establishment. Them sending in a head and shoulders picture of themselves would probably not happen. These steps would deter patrons that need to exclude themselves from doing so with so many steps. This seems extreme for a "Voluntary" exclusion.

- Period of enrollment seems extreme with options of 1, 5 or 10 years. I agree that problem gambling is a serious problem. The process of keeping records for 10 years seems extreme. Patrons looks could be very different in 10 years. When their expiration of the period of enrollment is reached, will the participant receive any notification? Maybe a letter asking if they want to further their self exclusion with updated information.

- In businesses with other revenue sources and entertainment, patrons should have the choice to just exclude themselves from the casino not the entire business since this is "Voluntary."

Good afternoon!

John, thank you so much for including ECPG in this email. While we agree wholeheartedly that providing individuals with a state-wide system where they can choose to register for a voluntary self-exclusion program once and be successfully barred from multiple gaming locations across the state is fantastic (kudos to WSGC for moving forward on this important initiative), I would like to address the concerns you listed below. I am also attaching a copy of our Council's new briefing paper on Best Practices and Broad Perspectives for Voluntary Self-Exclusion Program Development. I hope you will find it helpful as you continue the rules development process.

Because Voluntary Self-Exclusion programs are, first and foremost, tools for individuals who believe that they have a problem with gambling and can voluntarily bar themselves from entering one or more gambling venues to help prevent their gambling behaviors.

And, because Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs are important tools that the Gaming Industry can offer their guests to enhance customer service and corporate responsibility, support harm-minimization, and assist self-excluding individuals to get the help they need to address their problems and achieve their goals. We believe the best way to accomplish this is to ensure that registration in voluntary self-exclusion programs in Washington State is available at multiple access points (casino/card room, TGA, Health Care services location; through WSGC, via Internet, and more). If that means that more than one list must be kept at different locations, while not optimal, it should be offered.

The key here is to make this tool as easily accessible as possible. And so, it is crucial that all processes and procedures (wherever and however the registration takes place) are consistent. All registration points must use the same forms; take the same type and size of picture; provide training for their staff who will be interacting with registrants; and ensure that accurate and meaningful information on treatment referrals and support services are discussed with the individual when they register.

For many people, Voluntary Self-Exclusion is their first step in seeking help (and it is a difficult step to make). It is far more than an enforcement/regulatory system – it is a harm-minimization and treatment support opportunity that must be offered to the full extent possible.

Therefore, ECPG would highly recommend that WSGC and stakeholders add to the rule-making discussions ways in which to make the State-wide Voluntary Self-Exclusion Program accessible to individuals at as many locations as possible, particularly within Washington State Casinos and Card Rooms.

Happy to discuss further and/or help support your efforts.

Warmly,

~Maureen

Subject: State-wide Self-Exclusion

Greetings,

In working through the rules development process we are looking for feedback from the clinical and research communities on a specific area of concern.

The current state of self-exclusion in the House-Banked Card Rooms in Washington consists of individual lists that are not shared. Currently an individual enters into an agreement with a house-banked card room to self-exclude themselves from that place of business. This creates a less than ideal situation in assisting individuals in dealing with their gambling problem or gambling disorder. Once the state-wide system is operational licensees will be required to notify individuals on their self-exclusion lists of the state-wide system and provide a means of taking advantage the new system. Not all will respond so the licensees will be required to maintain both their individual lists as well as the state-wide list.

Our question, should the licensees be prohibited from adding individuals to their proprietary self-exclusion list instead of the state-wide system? From an operational perspective the simple answer is yes, but this doesn't take in to consideration the clinical perspective. We would like your feedback on the merits of requiring only using the state-wide system going forward and not adding new names to the individual site-specific lists.

I would appreciate your feedback by July 9, 2021. If you have any questions please contact me at john.chinn@wsgc.wa.gov

BEST PRACTICES AND BROAD PERSPECTIVES FOR VOLUNTARY SELF-EXCLUSION PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

The Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling (ECPG) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization committed to providing services and programs for those with a gambling or gaming problem/Gambling Disorder, their families, employers, students, treatment professionals, and the greater community through gambling addiction treatment support, information and education, advocacy, research, and prevention efforts. Founded in 1991, ECPG maintains a position of neutrality on gambling and gaming, recognizing that most people who gamble do so for recreation and suffer no serious problems. However, for some, gambling becomes a serious addiction, devastating to the individual and family. ECPG is the Washington State Affiliate of the National Council on Problem Gambling.

ECPG MISSION

The Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling is dedicated to increasing awareness of public health issues around problem gambling and gaming, expanding the availability and integration of services, and supporting advocacy, research, and programs for education, prevention, treatment, recovery, and responsible gambling and gaming.

Supporting the Gaming Industry's efforts to provide information and tools to reduce harms by offering Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs is an important part of ECPG's work. Our Council provides this brief overview of Best Practices and Broad Perspectives to assist Gaming Operators in developing Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs that are designed to help and empower people in getting the help they need to address their gambling problems and achieve their health goals.

INTRODUCTION

Self-exclusion is, first and foremost, a tool for individuals who believe that they have a problem with gambling and can voluntarily bar themselves from entering one or more gambling venues to help prevent their gambling behaviors. Most people report that they decided to self-exclude themselves, although family and friends may also play a role in the decision to self-exclude. Financial problems often constitute the main reason for self-exclusion and most people report that they are unable to stop gambling of their own accord. Severe financial hardship, stress caused by their gambling problems that affect their physical and mental health, desperation, and suicidal thoughts are all among the feelings shared by individuals as they contemplate signing up for Self-Exclusion Programs.

When people are considering self-exclusion, they are looking for help. Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs are important tools that the Gaming Industry can offer their guests to enhance customer service and corporate responsibility, support harm-minimization, and assist self-excluding individuals to get the help they need to address their problems and achieve their goals. Self-Exclusion programs should help and empower people, not make them feel like criminals. Here is some of the information gleaned from research that may be helpful when considering development of Self-Exclusion Programs.

Despite evidence for effectiveness, only a small proportion of individuals with gambling-related problems or Gambling Disorder ever seek treatment and support resources for their problem. Voluntary self-exclusion (VSE) programs are an ideal circumstance to engage individuals who are reluctant or have not yet sought formal treatment, given that individuals are already electing to prevent themselves from gambling through self-exclusion. (Yakovenko, I., & Hodgins, D. (2021). Effectiveness of a voluntary casino self-exclusion online self-management program. Internet Interventions 23 (2021) 100354 Elsevier B.V.)

This self-directed intervention is often the first serious attempt a person makes to control their gambling (Blaszczynski et al. 2004).

Participants in self-exclusion programs state that the program had been very helpful in regaining control of their financial affairs and overcoming relationship problems. Furthermore, many participants found the process of enrolling into the program empowering and saw it as the start of their recovery. (Croucher et al. 2006)

Benefits include participants reporting decreases in gambling expenditure and improved financial circumstances; decreases in gambling frequency and time spent gambling; reduction in problem gambling severity and negative consequences of gambling; reduction in related psychological difficulties including depression and anxiety; and feeling they have more control of their circumstances. (Gainsbury 2014)

EXPECTATIONS AND PURPOSE

For Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs to be effective, clear information about the self-exclusion program and wide promotion of the program are both important. Casino staff and Tribal Gaming Authority/Regulators should have an effective training program for all staff who have a role in enforcing the self-exclusion program, including refresher training.

“The features and principles of a self-exclusion program should be fully understood by individuals who wish to self-exclude, employees of gaming venues, gaming venue operations, and regulatory bodies. This is essential in order to clarify expectations regarding the role and limits of all parties including legal and governmental authorities and avoid unrealistic expectations and unfair criticisms.” (Gainsbury 2014)

Some of the areas that must be covered with the guest at the time of Self-Exclusion Registration (pursuant to the Gaming Venue’s Policies and Procedures):

- Agreement not to enter gaming areas, not to play gaming machines, or not to enter the venue at all
- Authorizing Casino/Regulatory staff to stop them from entering or remaining in a gaming area or venue from which they are excluded
- Accept their personal responsibility to stay away from the venue
- Clear roles and expectations, including how compliance breaches will be managed; and how Self-Exclusion Extensions or Reinstatements are handled
- Clear description of Self-Exclusion term options – let the individual choose, do NOT lead them into any particular option
- Clear information on player cards and loyalty points (does individual have more than one player card or is registered under more than one name?)
- Cessation of promotional materials
- Winnings forfeiture policies
- Share options for support resources (treatment and recovery resources; financial management counseling; community resources)

GUEST INTERACTION AND REGISTRATION

Registration in a Voluntary Self-Exclusion Program should not be cumbersome or stigmatizing to the guest. Staff training at multiple access points is key to ensuring consistency and a professional process.

- Make registration available at multiple access points (casino, TGA and/or Corporate offices; Health Care services location; casino hotel guest services...)
- Registration should take place in a comfortable, private, friendly setting that ensures confidentiality and respects the individual (don't make them feel like a criminal or engage in stigmatizing behaviors and verbal communications – encourage the guest in making healthy gaming choices that can include self-exclusion as an individual tool to support those choices.)
- Ensure all processes and procedures are consistent regardless of where registration takes place (use the same forms; take the same type and size of picture; same staff training...)
- Staff interacting with guests during the Self-Exclusion Registration should be specially selected and trained to provide a responsive, respectful, and professional process. Trained “Ambassadors/Supervisors” should conduct meeting, explanations, and registration.
 - Do not offer the guest an opportunity to engage in “one last bet” or to “finish spending their free-play money.”
 - Self-Exclusion Registration should be handled discreetly and in a timely fashion. It is best to offer the guest a seat in a comfortable, quiet, private area. If, for any reason, the guest is asked to wait for assistance with Self-Exclusion Registration, do not offer or ask the guest to wait at a gaming machine or gaming table, or within or near the gaming floor.

SUPPORT SERVICES AND RESOURCES

Ensure that information on resources and/or actual resources are available to assist players.

- Share options for support resources (treatment and recovery resources; financial management counseling; community resources)

People using self-exclusion programs noted the following items that should be stronger: Many gamblers felt that the programs did not provide them with sufficient resources on problem gambling treatment and support during the ban period; that the detection process was not strong enough; the program was not well advertised; and they should be able to renew a self-exclusion agreement without going back to the casino (Ladouceur et al. 2000).

All self-exclusion participants' names must be removed from marketing lists and participants should be made aware that any winnings during the self-exclusion period (indicating the individual has breached the self-exclusion agreement) will be forfeited and made available to a Tribal or nonprofit organization that supports prevention/awareness, treatment, and recovery support for those affected by problem gambling.

SELF-EXCLUSION PERIOD/TERM OPTIONS

(No Early Reinstatement Options)

Periods of self-exclusion in gaming venues across the world vary substantially. But most often options range from 6 months to irrevocable lifetime bans.

Almost all research indicates that it is best to offer a range of exclusion time periods. ECPG recommends a minimum of 1 year to allow individuals sufficient time to enter treatment if desired. Longer bans may be more effective, and ECPG recommends offering the Lifetime (irrevocable) option for those who might choose it. Offer one or two other interim options (2 years and/or 3 years) that are not Lifetime so that individuals have choices that do not deter them from registering for the self-exclusion program when only a Lifetime exclusion is offered. “In general, most participants felt that longer bans were better because they felt that most gamblers with problems do not realize how serious their problems are at the time of self-exclusion. Most participants recommended a minimum ban length of one year because they felt that shorter bans were easy to wait-out and did not provide enough time for people who had self-excluded to stabilize and develop healthier behaviours.” (Responsible Gambling Council, 2008)

ECPG RECOMMENDED SELF-EXCLUSION TERMS:

1 year

2 year

3 year

Lifetime (irrevocable)

SELF-EXCLUSION EXTENSION AND/OR ACTIVE REINSTATEMENT

A reinstatement process should be put in place before the self-excluded individual is permitted re-entry into casino/gaming facilities. Prior to the end of the self-exclusion term, individuals should be contacted with appropriate information and clear details regarding reinstatement requirements. Individuals should be able to extend the Self-Exclusion period.

ECPG recommends an Active Reinstatement Process, whereby the individual must apply to be reinstated (preferably in writing). This allows, yet again, an opportunity to provide the individual with support and information regarding treatment and support resources, rather than a Passive Reinstatement where the individual can automatically re-enter the casino after the end of the exclusion period. If the individual does not initiate reinstatement prior to the initial term end, then the ban, as well as any consequences for breaches, would continue in force. (NOTE: This needs to be clearly stated on Self-Exclusion forms and materials and explained carefully to the individual – suggest signing/initially next to this provision).

Even if reinstatement is granted, suggest a 30-day waiting period after approval and resend a package with information on problem and responsible gambling, treatment and recovery resources, and financial management counseling options.

Determine how many times you want to offer an extension before the ban should be permanent. Suggestion: Initial Self-Exclusion; Second (Extension); with Third Request – consider initiating Lifetime Self-Exclusion as permanent/irrevocable ban.

COMPLIANCE AND BREACHES OF AGREEMENT; CONSEQUENCES

(Enforcement and Support)

Be clear upfront on what the consequences are and make sure you use any breach as another opportunity to share treatment and support resources with respect and confidentiality. Potential consequences might include:

- Verbal warning and/or warning letter – in discreet and respectful meeting with a trained Ambassador/Supervisor
- Escorted off premises
- Trespass charge
- Fines (not recommended by ECPG)
- Forfeiture of any winnings while Self-Excluded (winnings to go to Tribal or nonprofit program for problem gambling prevention/awareness, treatment, and recovery supports.)

PROMOTING AWARENESS OF SELF-EXCLUSION PROGRAM

Most gaming venues have great opportunities to advertise self-exclusion programs on their websites and through print materials and displays throughout the casino, including in “discreet locations” such as restrooms; on ATM machines; potential for information kiosk/Responsible Gaming Center within casino.

Promotion of the self-exclusion program as well as support services and resources should be available at the casino as well as information provided in the general community and through health and mental health centers and other relevant support services. Relevant professionals (treatment professionals, financial counselors, court systems) should all be informed about the program so that they may refer clients as appropriate.

A major aspect of promoting self-exclusion programs is educating casino/gaming staff, Tribal Gaming Authority and other regulatory staff at every level on the program. Anyone interacting with a guest should be aware of the program and how to access it in a timely manner. Create a Culture of Responsible Gaming throughout your venue and at all levels – from the top down.

BREAKING DOWN BARRIERS

Individuals who have experienced the self-exclusion process report mixed feelings in a wide variety of studies and reports. When the staff is supportive and compassionate, the guest felt comfortable. Often, however, reports that staff were rude, uncaring, and disrespectful, or staff and situations (isolated dark rooms behind the security office; noisy areas that didn't offer privacy) that made the guest feel "like a criminal" were barriers.

It is important to remove any unnecessary complexities in the application and registration process, including for those who have limited proficiencies in English, and unnecessary legal jargon....Individuals should have the ability to enact agreements away from gaming venues, such as at a central administrative office, with a health or mental health treatment provider or legal professional, or via the Internet or mail. (Gainsbury 2014)

During the process of enrollment, privacy and confidentiality were an important concern. Venue staffs' attitude was also frequently criticized: staff members were perceived as not sufficiently briefed on the process and did not provide reasonable sensitivity, encouragement, or support. (Hing, Nuske, et al, 2015; Hing et al, 2014).

Thanks, I will circulate to the PGTF today.

Brian and John, I'm really surprised that this language still says that forfeited funds can be sent to either the state pg fund and/or a 'non-profit charitable org,' despite the fact that non-Tribal venues are required to pay the business and occupation tax into the problem gambling account.

Here's my suggested language, which I will also forward to Ashlie:

(h) → All money and things of value, such as gaming chips, obtained by or owed to the participant as a result of prohibited wagers or the purchase of chips and/or participating in authorized gambling activities outlined in this Chapter are forfeited under RCW 9.46.071, in which the licensee will:

(1) → Issue a check for the same monetary value within three business days after collecting or refusing to pay any winnings from gambling or chips in the possession of a participant on the self-exclusion list as follows:

(A) → ~~For licensees subject to the state business and occupation tax for problem gambling, forfeited funds must be transferred to the problem gambling account created in RCW 41.05.751-42.05.751, and/or~~

(B) → ~~For Tribal venues, forfeited funds can be used for that Tribe's problem gambling program, and/or donated to a charitable or nonprofit organization that provides problem gambling services or increases awareness about problem gambling, and/or g; and the state problem gambling account created by RCW 41.05.751; and~~

Waldron, Roxane (HCA)

I'd like to see this changed to be that all forfeited funds from a non-Tribal venue go to the problem gambling account.

I'm also going to check with California about their language that forfeited funds go into their state pg program account.

Thanks for your continued support for the State Problem Gambling Program.

Subject: Self-exclusion Proposed Draft Rules

Hello Roxane,

Attached are the Gambling Commission's proposed draft self-exclusion rules that we are sending out to stakeholders today. I'm sending them to you for HCA's review and comment.

Also, I'm hoping you'll send them to the PGTF, if that is appropriate. I think that's what was done with Lottery's proposed rules; however, I can send it out to the PGTF if you prefer that route.

Additionally, WSGC wants to ensure the greater behavioral health community has an opportunity to review and comment on these rules. We are sending them to ECPG and the researchers who worked on the problem gambling study. However, please let me know if you recommend we send it to additional groups or people.

All comments, questions, concerns are welcome and please submit written feedback to Ashlie Laydon, WSGC's Rules Coordinator, by May 14, 2021 at 5pm. Comments can be sent directly to her at ashlie.laydon@wsgc.wa.gov or through our website.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you,

Hi Ashlie,

Roxane has suggested that you're the right person to pass along feedback regarding the draft rules for the voluntary self-exclusion program. After reading through it, I had a few items to note –

Voluntary self-exclusion section -

In the language around section (9) ("To not recover any losses from the purchase of chips and/or participating in authorized gambling activities outlined in this Chapter."), I would note that as written this does not prohibit them from attempting or initiating recovery of any losses, and does not clearly state that any such losses are not eligible to be recovered. It seems to clash with the language of forfeiture in the section that immediately proceeds it.

Disclosure of Self-Exclusion Information section -

This section has multiple items that outline that disclosure of personal information of participants is not allowed, but does not indicate any penalty for a licensee/employee if they do disclose any personal information (also listed under Licensee's Responsibilities, 8-g). It indicates "or as otherwise permitted by law" but does not cite any relevant statute that may apply. Disclosure could be by mistake or it could be malicious, and both participants and licensees would benefit from clarity on the matter.

For dissemination of any forfeited funds -

More clarification and guidance in language is needed for item h-1-b ("A charitable or nonprofit organization that provides problem gambling services or increases awareness about problem gambling"), as it is overly broad and could be abused as written. If the option to direct funds other than to the state problem gambling account is retained, then the WSGC should maintain a list of non-profit organizations that they have vetted that meet the criteria that is intended under the draft language.

I hope that's helpful feedback, if there are any questions or clarifications needed, feel free to reach out to me any time. Thanks!

I don't have a strong opinion here as there not substantial evidence one way or another.

There is some evidence that gamblers can achieve improvement in outcomes from self-exclusion programs, even when they engage in other gambling. This I attribute to the fact that the program is helping them with the product that's creating the most issues for them. In that model, only restricting their local cardroom may be effective and encourage more uptake (as described by Roxane) if they feel they can still do things like drop into an out of town resort when they're traveling.

That said, I also think that operational simplicity should be the deciding element here. It simplifies understanding for frontline workers and for marketing communication to gamblers. Over the long-run, I suspect its more helpful to have a simple message and execution strategy with the program and treat the old system as deprecated. Particularly when we're already adding a layer of complexity in going multi-site, its better to execute well on that strategy than to worry too much about this decision on the margins.

Subject: State-wide Self-Exclusion

Greetings,

In working through the rules development process we are looking for feedback from the clinical and research communities on a specific area of concern.

The current state of self-exclusion in the House-Banked Card Rooms in Washington consists of individual lists that are not shared. Currently an individual enters into an agreement with a house-banked card room to self-exclude themselves from that place of business. This creates a less than ideal situation in assisting individuals in dealing with their gambling problem or gambling disorder. Once the state-wide system is operational licensees will be required to notify individuals on their self-exclusion lists of the state-wide system and provide a means of taking advantage the new system. Not all will respond so the licensees will be required to maintain both their individual lists as well as the state-wide list.

Our question, should the licensees be prohibited from adding individuals to their proprietary self-exclusion list instead of the state-wide system? From an operational perspective the simple answer is yes, but this doesn't take in to consideration the clinical perspective. We would like your feedback on the merits of requiring only using the state-wide system going forward and not adding new names to the individual site-specific lists.

I would appreciate your feedback by July 9, 2021. If you have any questions please contact me at john.chinn@wsgc.wa.gov<<mailto:john.chinn@wsgc.wa.gov>>

Good afternoon!

John, thank you so much for including ECPG in this email. While we agree wholeheartedly that providing individuals with a state-wide system where they can choose to register for a voluntary self-exclusion program once and be successfully barred from multiple gaming locations across the state is fantastic (kudos to WSGC for moving forward on this important initiative), I would like to address the concerns you listed below. I am also attaching a copy of our Council's new briefing paper on Best Practices and Broad Perspectives for Voluntary Self-Exclusion Program Development. I hope you will find it helpful as you continue the rules development process.

Because Voluntary Self-Exclusion programs are, first and foremost, tools for individuals who believe that they have a problem with gambling and can voluntarily bar themselves from entering one or more gambling venues to help prevent their gambling behaviors. And, because Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs are important tools that the Gaming Industry can offer their guests to enhance customer service and corporate responsibility, support harm-minimization, and assist self-excluding individuals to get the help they need to address their problems and achieve their goals. We believe the best way to accomplish this is to ensure that registration in voluntary self-exclusion programs in Washington State is available at multiple access points (casino/card room, TGA, Health Care services location; through WSGC, via Internet, and more). If that means that more than one list must be kept at different locations, while not optimal, it should be offered.

The key here is to make this tool as easily accessible as possible. And so, it is crucial that all processes and procedures (wherever and however the registration takes place) are consistent. All registration points must use the same forms; take the same type and size of picture; provide training for their staff who will be interacting with registrants; and ensure that accurate and meaningful information on treatment referrals and support services are discussed with the individual when they register.

For many people, Voluntary Self-Exclusion is their first step in seeking help (and it is a difficult step to make). It is far more than an enforcement/regulatory system – it is a harm-minimization and treatment support opportunity that must be offered to the full extent possible.

Therefore, ECPG would highly recommend that WSGC and stakeholders add to the rule-making discussions ways in which to make the State-wide Voluntary Self-Exclusion Program accessible to individuals at as many locations as possible, particularly within Washington State Casinos and Card Rooms.

Happy to discuss further and/or help support your efforts.

Warmly,

BEST PRACTICES AND BROAD PERSPECTIVES FOR VOLUNTARY SELF-EXCLUSION PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

The Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling (ECPG) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization committed to providing services and programs for those with a gambling or gaming problem/Gambling Disorder, their families, employers, students, treatment professionals, and the greater community through gambling addiction treatment support, information and education, advocacy, research, and prevention efforts. Founded in 1991, ECPG maintains a position of neutrality on gambling and gaming, recognizing that most people who gamble do so for recreation and suffer no serious problems. However, for some, gambling becomes a serious addiction, devastating to the individual and family. ECPG is the Washington State Affiliate of the National Council on Problem Gambling.

ECPG MISSION

The Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling is dedicated to increasing awareness of public health issues around problem gambling and gaming, expanding the availability and integration of services, and supporting advocacy, research, and programs for education, prevention, treatment, recovery, and responsible gambling and gaming.

Supporting the Gaming Industry's efforts to provide information and tools to reduce harms by offering Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs is an important part of ECPG's work. INTRODUCTION

Self-exclusion is, first and foremost, a tool for individuals who believe that they have a problem with gambling and can voluntarily bar themselves from entering one or more gambling venues to help prevent their gambling behaviors. Most people report that they decided to self-exclude themselves, although family and friends may also play a role in the decision to self-exclude. Financial problems often constitute the main reason for self-exclusion and most people report that they are unable to stop gambling of their own accord. Severe financial hardship, stress caused by their gambling problems that affect their physical and mental health, desperation, and suicidal thoughts are all among the feelings shared by individuals as they contemplate signing up for Self-Exclusion Programs.

When people are considering self-exclusion, they are looking for help. Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs are important tools that the Gaming Industry can offer their guests to enhance customer service and corporate responsibility, support harm-minimization, and assist self-excluding individuals to get the help they need to address their problems and achieve their goals. Self-Exclusion programs should help and empower people, not make them feel like criminals. Here is some of the information gleaned from research that may be helpful when considering development of Self-Exclusion Programs.

Despite evidence for effectiveness, only a small proportion of individuals with gambling-related problems or Gambling Disorder ever seek treatment and support resources for their problem. Voluntary self-exclusion (VSE) programs are an ideal circumstance to engage individuals who are reluctant or have not yet sought formal treatment, given that individuals are already electing to prevent themselves from gambling through self-exclusion. (Yakovenko, I., & Hodgins, D. (2021). Effectiveness of a voluntary casino self-exclusion online self-management program. Internet Interventions 23 (2021) 100354 Elsevier B.V.)

This self-directed intervention is often the first serious attempt a person makes to control their gambling (Blaszczynski et al. 2004).

Participants in self-exclusion programs state that the program had been very helpful in regaining control of their financial affairs and overcoming relationship problems. Furthermore, many participants found the process of enrolling into the program empowering and saw it as the start of their recovery. (Croucher et al. 2006)

Benefits include participants reporting decreases in gambling expenditure and improved financial circumstances; decreases in gambling frequency and time spent gambling; reduction in problem gambling severity and negative consequences of gambling; reduction in related psychological difficulties including depression and anxiety; and feeling they have more control of their circumstances. (Gainsbury 2014)

EXPECTATIONS AND PURPOSE

For Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs to be effective, clear information about the self-exclusion program and wide promotion of the program are both important. Casino staff and Tribal Gaming Authority/Regulators should have an effective training program for all staff who have a role in enforcing the self-exclusion program, including refresher training.

“The features and principles of a self-exclusion program should be fully understood by individuals who wish to self-exclude, employees of gaming venues, gaming venue operations, and regulatory bodies. This is essential in order to clarify expectations regarding the role and limits of all parties including legal and governmental authorities and avoid unrealistic expectations and unfair criticisms.” (Gainsbury 2014)

Some of the areas that must be covered with the guest at the time of Self-Exclusion Registration (pursuant to the Gaming Venue’s Policies and Procedures):

- Agreement not to enter gaming areas, not to play gaming machines, or not to enter the venue at all
- Authorizing Casino/Regulatory staff to stop them from entering or remaining in a gaming area or venue from which they are excluded
- Accept their personal responsibility to stay away from the venue
- Clear roles and expectations, including how compliance breaches will be managed; and how Self-Exclusion Extensions or Reinstatements are handled
- Clear description of Self-Exclusion term options – let the individual choose, do NOT lead them into any particular option
- Clear information on player cards and loyalty points (does individual have more than one player card or is registered under more than one name?)
- Cessation of promotional materials
- Winnings forfeiture policies
- Share options for support resources (treatment and recovery resources; financial management counseling; community resources)

GUEST INTERACTION AND REGISTRATION

Registration in a Voluntary Self-Exclusion Program should not be cumbersome or stigmatizing to the guest. Staff training at multiple access points is key to ensuring consistency and a professional process.

- Make registration available at multiple access points (casino, TGA and/or Corporate offices; Health Care services location; casino hotel guest services...)
- Registration should take place in a comfortable, private, friendly setting that ensures confidentiality and respects the individual (don't make them feel like a criminal or engage in stigmatizing behaviors and verbal communications – encourage the guest in making healthy gaming choices that can include self-exclusion as an individual tool to support those choices.)
- Ensure all processes and procedures are consistent regardless of where registration takes place (use the same forms; take the same type and size of picture; same staff training...)
- Staff interacting with guests during the Self-Exclusion Registration should be specially selected and trained to provide a responsive, respectful, and professional process. Trained “Ambassadors/Supervisors” should conduct meeting, explanations, and registration.
 - Do not offer the guest an opportunity to engage in “one last bet” or to “finish spending their free-play money.”
 - Self-Exclusion Registration should be handled discreetly and in a timely fashion. It is best to offer the guest a seat in a comfortable, quiet, private area. If, for any reason, the guest is asked to wait for assistance with Self-Exclusion Registration, do not offer or ask the guest to wait at a gaming machine or gaming table, or within or near the gaming floor.

SUPPORT SERVICES AND RESOURCES

Ensure that information on resources and/or actual resources are available to assist players.

- Share options for support resources (treatment and recovery resources; financial management counseling; community resources)

People using self-exclusion programs noted the following items that should be stronger: Many gamblers felt that the programs did not provide them with sufficient resources on problem gambling treatment and support during the ban period; that the detection process was not strong enough; the program was not well advertised; and they should be able to renew a self-exclusion agreement without going back to the casino (Ladouceur et al. 2000).

All self-exclusion participants' names must be removed from marketing lists and participants should be made aware that any winnings during the self-exclusion period (indicating the individual has breached the self-exclusion agreement) will be forfeited and made available to a Tribal or nonprofit organization that supports prevention/awareness, treatment, and recovery support for those affected by problem gambling.

SELF-EXCLUSION PERIOD/TERM OPTIONS

(No Early Reinstatement Options)

Periods of self-exclusion in gaming venues across the world vary substantially. But most often options range from 6 months to irrevocable lifetime bans.

Almost all research indicates that it is best to offer a range of exclusion time periods. ECPG recommends a minimum of 1 year to allow individuals sufficient time to enter treatment if desired. Longer bans may be more effective, and ECPG recommends offering the Lifetime (irrevocable) option for those who might choose it. Offer one or two other interim options (2 years and/or 3 years) that are not Lifetime so that individuals have choices that do not deter them from registering for the self-exclusion program when only a Lifetime exclusion is offered. “In general, most participants felt that longer bans were better because they felt that most gamblers with problems do not realize how serious their problems are at the time of self-exclusion. Most participants recommended a minimum ban length of one year because they felt that shorter bans were easy to wait-out and did not provide enough time for people who had self-excluded to stabilize and develop healthier behaviours.” (Responsible Gambling Council, 2008)

1 year

2 year

3 year

Lifetime (irrevocable)

SELF-EXCLUSION EXTENSION AND/OR ACTIVE REINSTATEMENT

A reinstatement process should be put in place before the self-excluded individual is permitted re-entry into casino/gaming facilities. Prior to the end of the self-exclusion term, individuals should be contacted with appropriate information and clear details regarding reinstatement requirements. Individuals should be able to extend the Self-Exclusion period.

ECPG recommends an Active Reinstatement Process, whereby the individual must apply to be reinstated (preferably in writing). This allows, yet again, an opportunity to provide the individual with support and information regarding treatment and support resources, rather than a Passive Reinstatement where the individual can automatically re-enter the casino after the end of the exclusion period. If the individual does not initiate reinstatement prior to the initial term end, then the ban, as well as any consequences for breaches, would continue in force. (NOTE: This needs to be clearly stated on Self-Exclusion forms and materials and explained carefully to the individual – suggest signing/initially next to this provision).

Even if reinstatement is granted, suggest a 30-day waiting period after approval and resend a package with information on problem and responsible gambling, treatment and recovery resources, and financial management counseling options.

Determine how many times you want to offer an extension before the ban should be permanent. Suggestion: Initial Self-Exclusion; Second (Extension); with Third Request – consider initiating Lifetime Self-Exclusion as permanent/irrevocable ban.

COMPLIANCE AND BREACHES OF AGREEMENT; CONSEQUENCES

(Enforcement and Support)

Be clear upfront on what the consequences are and make sure you use any breach as another opportunity to share treatment and support resources with respect and confidentiality. Potential consequences might include:

- Verbal warning and/or warning letter – in discreet and respectful meeting with a trained Ambassador/Supervisor
- Escorted off premises
- Trespass charge
- Fines (not recommended by ECPG)
- Forfeiture of any winnings while Self-Excluded (winnings to go to Tribal or nonprofit program for problem gambling prevention/awareness, treatment, and recovery supports.)

PROMOTING AWARENESS OF SELF-EXCLUSION PROGRAM

Most gaming venues have great opportunities to advertise self-exclusion programs on their websites and through print materials and displays throughout the casino, including in “discreet locations” such as restrooms; on ATM machines; potential for information kiosk/Responsible Gaming Center within casino.

Promotion of the self-exclusion program as well as support services and resources should be available at the casino as well as information provided in the general community and through health and mental health centers and other relevant support services. Relevant professionals (treatment professionals, financial counselors, court systems) should all be informed about the program so that they may refer clients as appropriate.

A major aspect of promoting self-exclusion programs is educating casino/gaming staff, Tribal Gaming Authority and other regulatory staff at every level on the program. Anyone interacting with a guest should be aware of the program and how to access it in a timely manner. Create a Culture of Responsible Gaming throughout your venue and at all levels – from the top down.

BREAKING DOWN BARRIERS

Individuals who have experienced the self-exclusion process report mixed feelings in a wide variety of studies and reports. When the staff is supportive and compassionate, the guest felt comfortable. Often, however, reports that staff were rude, uncaring, and disrespectful, or staff and situations (isolated dark rooms behind the security office; noisy areas that didn't offer privacy) that made the guest feel "like a criminal" were barriers.

It is important to remove any unnecessary complexities in the application and registration process, including for those who have limited proficiencies in English, and unnecessary legal jargon....Individuals should have the ability to enact agreements away from gaming venues, such as at a central administrative office, with a health or mental health treatment provider or legal professional, or via the Internet or mail. (Gainsbury 2014)

During the process of enrollment, privacy and confidentiality were an important concern. Venue staffs' attitude was also frequently criticized: staff members were perceived as not sufficiently briefed on the process and did not provide reasonable sensitivity, encouragement, or support. (Hing, Nuske, et al, 2015; Hing et al, 2014).

Hi John,
Thanks for including me in this email.

From my point of view, we always want to be lowering barriers for individuals to self-exclude. I'm in the camp of continuing to let sites maintain their own lists if they wish, while also notifying the individual that they can sign up for the statewide self-exclusion.

Just my two cents—I'm not a clinician as you know.

Subject: State-wide Self-Exclusion

Greetings,

In working through the rules development process we are looking for feedback from the clinical and research communities on a specific area of concern.

The current state of self-exclusion in the House-Banked Card Rooms in Washington consists of individual lists that are not shared. Currently an individual enters into an agreement with a house-banked card room to self-exclude themselves from that place of business. This creates a less than ideal situation in assisting individuals in dealing with their gambling problem or gambling disorder. Once the state-wide system is operational licensees will be required to notify individuals on their self-exclusion lists of the state-wide system and provide a means of taking advantage the new system. Not all will respond so the licensees will be required to maintain both their individual lists as well as the state-wide list.

Our question, should the licensees be prohibited from adding individuals to their proprietary self-exclusion list instead of the state-wide system? From an operational perspective the simple answer is yes, but this doesn't take in to consideration the clinical perspective. We would like your feedback on the merits of requiring only using the state-wide system going forward and not adding new names to the individual site-specific lists.

I would appreciate your feedback by July 9, 2021. If you have any questions please contact me at john.chinn@wsgc.wa.gov

Hi John,

Apologies for the delay as I've been away on vacation.

The best practice is that the fair value of the promotional points are paid out when enrolling (i.e. free play, not tier status-related points). This best practice is indeed based on the findings from the RGC study in 2013 that Ty forwarded (pg 45), which is not empirical but reflected a forum "consensus" from "experts".

If paying the fair value is not an option, I would suggest that the account is frozen rather than deleting the balance. I believe it is better to provide a strong incentive upfront when gambling behavior is at a more harmful level. Presumably when the individual is at the end of their period and is faced with the decision of returning for unfrozen points, they are in a better headspace.

Subject: Self-Exclusion Question

Good morning,

We have been having an internal discussion about players cards and self-exclusion. We would appreciate your opinion on this topic.

What happens to an individuals players card (account) when they sign up for self-exclusion?

Current Draft Rules – When an individual signs up for self-exclusion their player card account is closed and any outstanding points balance is deleted. This is in addition to loss of other privileges such as check cashing, promotional activities, mailings, etc.

Possible alternative - When an individual signs up for self-exclusion their players card account is frozen/inactive for the duration of the exclusion period. Once the term expires the account is made active with no lose of benefits. The loss of other benefits such as check cashing, promotional activities, mailings etc. would still be effect during the self-exclusion term.

Our discussion has centered around the loss of player points, could be a disincentive for committing to self-exclusion. Obviously an individual could use their points prior to self-exclusion. Would the existence of a remaining balance in the player card account act as an incentive to resume going to HBCRs after the self-exclusion term expires.

We are quickly approaching our deadline for presenting the final rules draft to the commissioners and would appreciate a quick response. Please reply by August 6th.

John, I'm supporting Ty's position, that the points should not remain in the account until a future date.

One thing we learned today in our Research & Data Workgroup from Kristi Weeks at the Lottery is that the 'Points for Prizes' program points expire every year. Since the smallest amount of time that an individual can self-exclude for also for one (1) year, their points will be gone when/if they come back after self-exclusion. The points will not continue past self-exclusion.

Lottery's 'Points for Prizes' is a program where individuals can register and log 'non-winning tickets' for points that they can then redeem for prizes.

Hope that helps—I'll be away from 8/2-8/9, returning to work on 8/10.

Thanks, John.

Dear John,

I can not find any research data that empirically compares suspending versus forfeiting players points in terms of behavioral outcomes. The research I have found on best practices by other jurisdictions suggest that forfeiting players points at the time of self-exclusion as the recommendation. Behaviorally that makes sense in the idea that the gambler might think about those frozen points which could be incentive to return to gambling to use those points. Therefore, I suggest implementing a forfeiting players points and closing the account at the time of self-exclusion makes the most sense from a clinical and behavioral psychology perspective.

I've attached the Responsible Gambling Council's (RGC) Centre for the Advancement of Best Practices in which they suggest that forfeiting players points is the recommendation.

I hope this is helpful and thank you for asking.

PREAMBLE

The Responsible Gambling Council's (RGC) Centre for the Advancement of Best Practices is pleased to present its findings from Insight 2013—a research project designed to investigate and identify best practices for player incentives in land-based venues. The research included:

- An in-depth literature review
- An examination of the policies and practices for player incentives in Canada and elsewhere
- A focus group with individuals in treatment for gambling-related problems
- A two-day forum with gaming providers, regulators, treatment counselors, researchers, marketing experts, and others

RGC wishes to thank the Atlantic Lottery Corporation, the British Columbia Lottery Corporation, Loto-Québec, the Manitoba Lotteries Corporation, the Nova Scotia Provincial Lotteries & Casino Corporation, the Ontario Lottery and Gaming Corporation and the Saskatchewan Liquor and Gaming Authority for the financial support that made this project possible.

RGC also thanks the many individuals who contributed to the project. These include the gamblers who participated in the focus groups and the individuals who attended the Expert Forum.

While this project results from the contributions of many, the work is a product of RGC's analysis and RGC assumes responsibility for its content.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Similar to other industries, the gaming industry uses a range of incentives to attract and reward its customers. Despite the widespread use of these incentives, however, little attention has been given to the potential impact they may have on problem gambling, and the implications they have for responsible gambling. Yet people with gambling problems—or who are developing gambling problems—can be impacted by incentives in a negative way. With this in mind, the RGC Centre for the Advancement of Best Practices has undertaken a research project designed to better understand the nature of player incentives, their potential impact on problem gambling risk, and how they might be made safer for players. The project focuses on player incentives at land-based venues and gathers information from Canadian and international jurisdictions. Literature and policy reviews, a focus group, and a two-day forum are all used to obtain data.

Overall, the findings of this report reveal that although the specific details of how they operate may vary, player incentives generally work in similar ways across jurisdictions and individual gaming venues. Rewards come in the form of cash, free play, accommodation, entertainment, free or discounted services, merchandise, food/beverage and travel. Some rewards are available to all patrons, but most are exclusive to members of the venue's loyalty program and so are the focus of this report. While there is no direct evidence that incentives and loyalty programs create gambling problems, there is evidence that they can heighten problem gambling behaviours and that they have a strong appeal for some people who are at risk of, or have already developed, a gambling problem.

Concern about the appeal of incentives to gamblers with problems has led some to call for the prohibition of loyalty programs. Others point to the opportunities presented by loyalty programs to communicate safety information to patrons, to track behaviours, to identify potential and emerging problems ("red flag" behaviours), and to initiate actions to mitigate potential problems.

On balance, player loyalty programs—as long as they are not seen exclusively as a marketing tool—have some potential benefits from a player protection perspective. That assumes, however, that loyalty programs and other incentives actively build in tools and analytics that enable increased player information and safeguard, some of which are presented below.

Promoting Informed Decision Making

There are many opportunities to use player data to assist patrons in making informed decisions. These include:

- Beginning with the registration process itself, taking regular opportunities to provide players with information about the realistic chances of winning and losing, where to get help, and the benefits of setting limits. Also providing some of the many other safety messages associated with well-designed responsible gambling programs. Such information might be provided in any number of ways using the communication tools available to gaming providers. It would likely mean incorporating RG information in regular circulations, as well as distributing some information that is exclusively focused on RG topics.
- Providing players with accurate and easy-to-access information about the links between the amounts they spend and the rewards they earn.

- Informing players that greater rewards are related to greater spending and that it is risky to view rewards, reaching a higher tier, or receiving greater staff attention as a status symbol or a measure of greater self-worth.
- Providing loyalty members with activity reports that let them know their play history over a period of time of their choosing, such as the past month or year. Making the receiving of reports the default option with the capability to choose their frequency or to turn them off.
- Providing members with normative feedback on their play history, using the entire database of loyalty members to calculate percentages and averages.

Ensuring Marketing Incorporates an RG Perspective

- Beyond the provision of good consumer information, there are also ways that loyalty programs and incentives can be managed in a way which reduces the risk of gambling problems. These include:
- Ensuring that any information contained in promotional communications and materials complies with existing RG guidelines for advertising and marketing, and does not imply that participating in loyalty programs or other incentives increases the player's chances of winning.
- Permitting players to have only one card for the same loyalty program membership.
- Incorporating RG information in promotional communications and materials with adequate prominence relative to other messaging.
- Having an annual renewal for loyalty program membership that gives players an opportunity to review their past-year gambling activity with gaming venue staff.
- When players register for a loyalty program, requiring them to opt in explicitly to each form of marketing communication (e.g., mail, email, phone, texts) they wish to receive.
- Once they become loyalty members, allowing players to easily opt out of some, or all, forms of marketing communication at any time.

Optimizing RG in the Earning and Redemption of Rewards

- Allowing players to earn points and rewards not just for the time and money they spend gambling, but for participating in non-gambling activities as well, both inside and outside of the gaming venue.
- Encouraging players to set personal gambling limits on their loyalty card. If players reach one of the limits they have set, have a message tell them that they have reached a limit. If players still continue to gamble, don't allow them to accrue any additional loyalty points.
- Rewarding players with (non-gambling) incentives for using the self-limiting tools.

- Allowing players to redeem their loyalty points for non-gaming rewards both inside and outside of the gaming venue (e.g., merchandise, food).
- Allowing players to participate in contests without having to be at the gaming venue when prizes are announced.
- Allowing a cooling-off period after players have lost a large sum of money before offering any incentive to gamble further. Once such a player has left the premises, allow a reasonable amount of time to pass before offering that player an incentive to return to the venue.
- Ensuring that alcohol is not used as an inducement or reward for gambling. [Note that in most Canadian provinces, complimentary alcohol service is prohibited.

Supporting At-Risk Players

Some players will gamble in a manner that exhibits “red flag” behaviours which suggest a potential problem and which trigger observations and responses from venue staff. These at-risk players warrant special attention from the perspective of rewards and incentives. Self-excluded players also warrant special attention in this regard. Both groups of players would benefit from the following provisions:

AT-RISK PLAYERS

- Using loyalty card data, in combination with staff observations and other documentation, to identify red flag behaviours that may indicate a potential gambling problem.
- Putting a customer service protocol in place to identify when and how staff will take action when a loyalty member exceeds red flag thresholds for frequency of gambling, duration of sessions, average bet size, and cumulative losses.
- Having an escalating process in place to offer red-flagged players assistance, education, as well as the option of easily removing themselves from future incentives or marketing communications. (The same system would also be used for those players exhibiting red flag behaviours who are not loyalty club members.)
- Discontinuing rewards that, in order to be redeemed, require the player to be in the venue for extended periods of time—particularly if it means the player can access more cash (because, for instance, a new banking day has begun).
- Discontinuing discretionary rewards designed to promote longer stays.

SELF-EXCLUDED PLAYERS

- When players signs up for self-exclusion, immediately removing their name from all marketing contact lists.
- Paying out any unredeemed points and canceling the loyalty program membership immediately when a player self-excludes.

- Once their self-exclusion period has ended, requiring reinstated players to reapply for loyalty club membership and to opt in explicitly to each form of marketing communication they want to receive from the venue.

In summary, there is great opportunity to use loyalty cards to promote informed decision making, as well as to reduce risk by ensuring marketing incorporates an RG perspective; optimizing RG in the earning and redemption of rewards; and having special exemptions and protocols for those identified as at-risk or who have self-excluded. Future developments in the use of loyalty cards to inform and assist those at risk will further inform best practices in the promotion of safer gambling and the prevention of problem gambling.

INTRODUCTION

Similar to other industries, the gaming industry has adopted a range of initiatives to attract and reward their customers. Player loyalty programs, promotions, and other incentives are commonly used to attract new patrons, retain existing ones, and increase long-term profits.

Despite the widespread use of player incentives, however, little attention has been given to the potential impact they may have on problem gambling, and the implications they have for responsible gambling. While the gaming industry has made great strides in recent years in developing measures to help reduce problem gambling risk among players, few responsible gambling measures have been developed specifically for player incentives. Yet people with gambling problems—or who are developing gambling problems—can be impacted by incentives in a negative way.

With this in mind, the RGC Centre for the Advancement of Best Practices has undertaken a research project designed to better understand the nature of player incentives and their potential impact on problem gambling risk, and to identify opportunities to make them safer for players. The project focuses on player incentives at land-based venues, gathers information from Canadian and international jurisdictions, and brings together perspectives from a range of stakeholder groups. Literature and policy reviews, a focus group, and a two-day forum are all used to obtain data to identify a set of responsible gambling best practices for the provision of player incentives at land-based venues.

The report is divided into four chapters. Chapter 1 provides an overview of player incentives, reviews the literature relevant to player incentives and problem gambling risk, and examines the different policies and practices that are in place for player incentives across Canada and some international jurisdictions. Chapter 2 discusses the results of a focus group that was conducted with individuals in treatment for gambling-related problems in order to explore their experience with incentives and any suggestions they may have for making them safer for players. Chapter 3 presents the results of the Responsible Gambling Council (RGC)'s two-day forum that brought together gaming providers, regulators, treatment counselors, researchers, marketing experts, and others to discuss player incentives, their impacts, and current—as well as possible future—incentive safeguards. Chapter 4 synthesizes all of the information learned from previous chapters and provides a framework of player incentive best practices.

CHAPTER 1: LITERATURE AND POLICY REVIEW

With a focus on increasing repeat visits, customer spending, and brand loyalty, most gaming venues offer players some type of incentive in order to reward them for past gambling and to encourage them to engage in future gambling (Palmer & Mahoney, 2004). The purpose of this chapter is to provide an overview of how player incentives work; their potential impact on gambling behaviour and problem gambling risk; and measures to alleviate risks associated with them.

Some of the content of the chapter is based on the available literature on player incentives. Other content is based on information that was available publically, combined with documents that were sent directly to RGC from several Canadian gaming providers upon request.

Overview of Player Incentives

While the details of how player incentives work vary across jurisdictions and individual gaming venues, they operate in relatively similar ways. What follows below is a general description of the different types of rewards players can earn; how players can earn them; and the various ways the rewards are marketed to players.

DIFFERENT TYPES OF REWARDS PLAYERS CAN EARN

Some rewards are given to players as a reward for their past behaviour while others may be given to influence their future behaviour.

- Cashback and Cash – Cashback is literally cash given back to the player, often after they have spent a certain amount of money gambling. Players may also win cash prizes for participating in various promotions.
- Free play – Free play is a reward given to players in the form of gambling credits that are worth a certain amount of money. Often, the player needs to spend a certain amount gambling before being eligible to earn a free play offer.
- Accommodation – Free hotel rooms may be given to players, usually after they have spent a certain amount of time and money at the gaming venue. The quality of the accommodation usually depends on the particular patron's level of play.
- Entertainment – Gaming venues will sometimes offer players free tickets to concerts, live shows, movies, sporting events, and other activities.
- Free or discounted services – Examples of services that may be provided for free or at a discounted rate can include spa services, valet parking, and limousine service to and from the gaming venue.
- Merchandise – Gaming venues often give away merchandise to players such as logo items (e.g., key chains, drink bottles, hats), gift shop items, luggage, wine glasses, gift cards to retail stores and/or the gaming venue gift shop, as well as larger items such as cars.

- Food and beverage – Often, gaming venues give players vouchers for free or discounted meals at restaurants on- and off-site and, where permitted, free drinks to players on the gaming floor. Gaming venues tend to be fairly generous with food and beverage rewards, and often give them to any patron regardless of gambling activity. Free (and often, unlimited) meals for exclusive, high-end restaurants are often based on the amount gambled.
- Air fare – For some players, most often high spenders, gaming operators may offer free flights to and from the gaming venue.

DIFFERENT WAYS OF OBTAINING REWARDS

There are several different ways that players can earn rewards. While some are exclusive to members of the venue's loyalty program only, others are available to all patrons.

a. Loyalty Program Point Accrual and Redemption

In general, loyalty programs have two main goals: 1) to increase revenues by increasing purchase levels; and 2) to maintain the current customer base by strengthening the bond between the customer and the brand (Uncles, Dowling & Hammond, 2003; Matilla, 2006; Sui & Baloglu, 2003). Ultimately, these programs seek to build a long-term relationship with the customer through understanding and rewarding purchase behaviour (Meyer-Waarden, 2008).

In the gaming industry, both repeat patronage and brand attachment are important for player loyalty (Lucas, Dunn & Singh, 2005). One of the main ways that gaming venues try to earn loyalty from players is by offering a loyalty program that they can sign up for voluntarily and allows them to earn various rewards. The most common way that players can earn rewards is through the accumulation and redemption of points, which are usually earned by gambling. Many gaming venues also allow players to earn points for participating in non-gambling activities at the venue, such as shopping, dining, and other activities.¹

In order for players to accumulate points on their loyalty card for the gambling activities they participate in, they usually need to either insert their card into a slot (or other electronic) gaming machine before playing, or present their card to the dealer at a gaming table where their play can be tracked and rated.² Play frequency and betting amounts are recorded via the loyalty card, and the information helps the venue know what games the player prefers. It also helps the venue determine which rewards to offer the player (Greenstein, 2012). The amount of money that players must spend on gambling to earn a single point usually varies across programs. In some, for example, players may need to spend $10 on slot machines to earn a single point, while in others, they may only need to spend $1 on slot machines to earn a single point. In addition to the baseline number of points that loyalty program members can earn for their gambling expenditures, they can sometimes also earn extra “bonus” points for spending beyond a certain level.

In most jurisdictions, loyalty programs operate on a tier-based system, such that a player’s tier level is determined by point accumulation, and greater rewards are offered as players move up to higher levels. The number of levels and types of rewards that players can earn at each level may vary across programs, but the underlying idea is the same: As play activity increases and more points are earned, higher tier levels are reached and greater rewards can be given. In most cases, not only are players required to obtain a certain number of points within a specified period of time to move up from the first tier level to higher levels, they must continue to earn a minimum number of points within a specified time period to remain at higher levels. If the minimum number of points is not earned within the designated time frame (e.g., 12 months), the player will be moved down to the level that aligns with their accumulated points. In some programs, players will be notified when they are approaching the end of their “tier year,” and will be informed of how many points they need to move up to the next tier, and the associated benefits of that tier.

The actual amount of money that players must spend on gambling (including bets and rebets) to move up to higher tier levels varies considerably across programs, and depends on a variety of factors—including how many points are required for each level and how much it costs to earn a single point. In Canada, a player may have to bet anywhere from $5,000 to $35,000 a year on slot machines to earn second tier level status, while they may have to bet anywhere from $25,000 to $400,000 for higher tier levels. In some programs, the highest (“VIP”) tier level requires a personal invitation to join in addition to a requisite number of points and gambling expenditures.³

Once earned, most loyalty programs allow players to redeem their points online, at the loyalty counter in a gaming venue, at a player kiosk, directly at a slot machine (if the reward is free play), or at other locations depending on the venue. Most programs require that a minimum number of points be redeemed at any given time (e.g., a minimum of 1,500 points, or the equivalent of $5 in cash back). The type of rewards that loyalty program members can obtain by redeeming their points depends on the jurisdiction: Some allow players to redeem their points for cashback and/or free slot play only; some restrict rewards to discounts or vouchers for services or merchandise; and some allow players to receive the full range of rewards.

In Canada, the terms and conditions for loyalty programs state that the inactivity of a player’s account for a particular period of time will result in membership cancellation and forfeiture of any points accumulated that have not been redeemed. The duration of the period of inactivity varies with the program, but is typically either 12 or 18 months. When players are approaching the limit for a period of inactivity, some gaming venues will send them a notice letting them know that their account has been inactive and will expire soon. The notice might also offer the player an incentive to return to the gaming venue, such as a free play voucher.

b. Promotions

Besides earning rewards through points and tiers, loyalty members can also receive rewards through exclusive, members-only promotions. An example might be a “Ladies Night” event, whereby female loyalty members can enter a draw from 8 PM until midnight on a Friday evening for a chance to win prizes such as jewellery or spa services. Other examples include swipe-to-enter contests that allow members to swipe their loyalty card—sometimes daily—for a chance to win various prizes, and birthday club promotions that allow members to enter a draw once during their birthday month for a chance to win a prize. Those who use their loyalty card can also be automatically entered into random draws for cash, food and beverage, free play, and even large prizes such as cars and trips. While some promotions are exclusive to loyalty program members only, others may be available to all players, including those with loyalty cards. A few examples include:

- Draws – Players can enter ballots into draws for a chance to win cash and other prizes. Ballots can be earned by winning jackpots and/or by purchasing them at the gaming venue. In Canada, the rules for participating in promotions such as draws vary, with some requiring the player to be present when prizes are announced to be eligible to win, even when the draws take place over a number of hours.
- Slot Tournaments – Players can enter slot machine tournaments by paying a fee (e.g., $10) or by using their loyalty reward points. During a slot tournament, players are given a certain number of credits to gamble with for a specified period of time, and the player who ends up with the most credits at the end wins a jackpot prize.
- Seniors Days – On certain days of the week, seniors may be eligible to participate in random draws and/or be entitled to receive discounts on food, beverage, and venue amenities.

In general, promotions are meant to enhance patron experience at the gaming venue, and increase visit frequency as well as gaming revenue (Lucas, 2004). They provide players with an opportunity to win a wide range of prizes, and to participate in events that provide the players with particular perks.

c. Comping

- Most gaming venues—particularly casinos—have hosts whose job it is to create a relationship with players, a large part of which includes providing them with complimentary goods and services, commonly referred to as “comps.” In most jurisdictions, comps are a large part of what gaming operators spend each year on player rewards (Baynes, 2011).
- Generally, hosts offer comps to all patrons, from the penny slot players (“low rollers”) to those spending thousands of dollars or more per hand (“high rollers”). Exactly what players need to do to earn a comp varies across jurisdictions and individual gaming venues, but they typically receive comps based on their loyalty point accumulation, “theoretical loss,” and other variables. While hosts can offer comps to players at their own discretion, known as “discretionary comps,” most gaming venues have clear guidelines for how comps can be given out, and they usually need to be justified by the player’s gambling activity (Liu, 2005). In general, the more money bet and the more time spent gambling, the higher the level of comp allowed (Tamburini, 2013). Low-level comps such as free food and beverage may sometimes be offered independent of gambling activity, and are often handed out randomly to players on the gaming floor. More valuable comps, such as free flights and luxury hotel suites, are usually restricted to high rollers who spend large sums of money at the venue. In Canada, at least one jurisdiction's policy states that comps are issued at the discretion of customer service staff, who are encouraged to review players' gambling history and the value of each player's average earned comp per visit, in order to make an educated decision about what type of comp to offer. Besides being issued by hosts and customer service staff, comps are also frequently offered to players through the mail—and, in some cases—via email, text messages, and telephone.

MARKETING OF INCENTIVES

When gaming venues want to notify players about the different type of incentives they offer and the different type of rewards players may be eligible for, the information is communicated to them in several different ways. The main ones are through signage on the gaming floor, email, regular mail, and gaming venue hosts. The latter three forms of communication tend to be more personalized in nature and are more often based on past gambling activity than the former. Floor signage is typically used to advertise loyalty programs, or to let players know about general promotions such as discounts on meals, enter-in gambling tournaments, etc. Some other ways that gaming venues may let players know about incentives include social networking sites, billboards, and text messages.

In order for a Canadian gaming venue to be able to contact loyalty program members for marketing purposes—whether by regular mail, email, phone, or text message—the venue must first obtain the player's consent. This is generally done on the application form as part of the registration process. Most jurisdictions ask players to check mark each method of communication they explicitly consent to receiving; other jurisdictions, however, simply ask players to provide all of their contact information on the form, and then state, in smaller print, that by providing this information, they are giving consent to receiving all methods of promotional communication from the venue. Once players become loyalty program members, they can usually opt out of receiving some or all forms of promotional communication at any time, although exactly how they must do this varies by jurisdiction and communication method. For example, in at least one province, if players no longer want to receive promotional material through regular mail, they must mail in the request; if they no longer want to receive emails, they must email the request.

Impact of Player Incentives

Player incentives work to influence visit frequency and spending behaviour, and to garner a positive attitude towards the gaming brand.

LOYALTY AND VISIT FREQUENCY

In today's competitive marketplace, gaming operators offer players not just rewards, but highly personalized service and attention. It is hoped that in addition to the rewards themselves, this will increase perceived value by the players and make them more loyal customers who visit the venue more often (Crofts, 2011; Chen McCain, Jang, & Hu, 2005). Surveys with loyalty members show that special treatment, positive employee interaction, and rewards such as cashback and free meals/ accommodation are indeed linked to player loyalty (e.g., frequency of visits) to the gaming venue (Huang, Chen McCain, & Tie, 2008; Yi & Busser, 2008). Recognition for visiting and spending at the venue is also important for player loyalty (Huang et al., 2008), as is superior customer service. Chen McCain et al. (2005), for example, found that when Las Vegas casinos trained their employees to respond to customers' needs and wants—as well as earn their trust—player loyalty was greatest, and it made a significant difference to whether or not the customer continued to visit the gaming venue.

SPENDING BEHAVIOUR

Research shows that, in addition to visit frequency, player incentives can impact spending behaviour, resulting in more money being spent gambling at the venue than might otherwise occur. Min (2012), for instance, examined how the introduction of a new loyalty program affects slot machine and table game betting amounts. The loyalty program studied by Min in Las Vegas included more opportunity for earning comps, greater tier-level benefits, and the ability to earn points through non-gaming spending. Overall, the program resulted in an increase in the amount of money that players bet on slots—such that collectively, they bet an additional $302,000 per day. (The incentives, however, had no effect on table game spending.) Other research shows that when incentives are offered to players during a gaming venue visit, they can increase betting amounts once gambling has already begun (Narayanan & Manchanda, 2011).

IMPACT OF INCENTIVES ON PROBLEM GAMBLING RISK

While player incentives are common practice in the gaming industry, there has been some concern among researchers that they may encourage problem gambling behaviour, particularly for those who are at risk of—or who have already developed—gambling problems (Hing, 2005; Narayanan & Manchanda, 2011; Southwell, Boreham, & Laffan, 2008). For example, players may be tempted to gamble more than they would otherwise in order to receive certain offers or to reach the next tier level in their loyalty program, making it more difficult to control gambling activity (Greenstein, 2012; Hing, 2005; Narayanan & Manchanda, 2011; Southwell et al., 2008). Indeed, many individuals with gambling problems have admitted to feeling tempted to revisit the casino after losing large sums of money and subsequently receiving a comp (Greenstein, 2012). And a live-play study commissioned by Gambling Research Australia found that obtaining loyalty program points and rewards was an important predictor of the self-reported urge to continue playing past one's limit. For some players, getting program rewards was also associated with increased excitement and a loss of judgment over spending (Schottler, 2010).

The notion that player incentives may be particularly risky for those with gambling problems is supported by a study conducted with older adults who play electronic gaming machines (EGM) in Australia (Southwell et al., 2008). The study found that compared to players classified as low risk/non-problem gamblers, those classified as moderate risk/problem gamblers spent more time (33% vs. 14%) and money (27% vs. 11%) gambling when they participated in gaming venue promotions. In another study, player data taken over a two-year period from a U.S. gaming venue showed that over the course of the study, players defined as “addicted” gambled significantly more than those defined as “non-addicted” in response to marketing efforts such as comps. Moreover, while incentives offered to players during a gambling session increased betting amounts during that session for both addicted and non-addicted players, it also led to increased betting amounts in the next session for addicted gamblers only (Narayanan & Manchanda, 2011). Taken together, the findings of the latter study led the authors to conclude that comps may increase gambling involvement; may make it more difficult to control gambling behaviour; and could potentially create problems for some players over the long term (Narayanan & Manchanda, 2011).

These conclusions are supported by surveys measuring attitudes towards incentives among players themselves. An Australian Clubs player survey, for instance, found that a significant number of gamblers feel that promotions encourage gambling—with approximately half of those surveyed believing that players have to be in the venue when prizes are announced in order to win contests, which could encourage players to stay there for longer and gamble more. Overall, many participants in the study viewed promotions as being against the “spirit” of responsible gambling, even if the gaming venue had implemented other responsible gambling measures (Hing, 2004). A subsequent study by the same author examined previously conducted interviews with Club players, and once again gaming venue promotions were a cause of concern: The excessive advertising of promotions, for example, was viewed as enticing players to gamble for longer (Hing, 2005). Other incentives—such as free weekly bus trips to and from the gaming venue—have also been viewed as inducements to gamble and potential contributors to problem gambling, especially among vulnerable populations such as seniors (Leaman, 2012).

Some researchers argue that offering inducements to gamble should be prohibited, as in New South Wales where hotels and clubs cannot offer free credits to current players, or as a means to encourage persons to become players (Hing, 2004; Gaming Machines Regulation, 2010). Others argue that loyalty programs should be eliminated entirely, particularly when a gambling provider has a monopoly, as these rewards only serve to encourage people to gamble more and are therefore not conducive to responsible gambling (Williams et al., 2012).

Player Incentive Safeguards

As researchers have recognized that player incentives can increase problem gambling risk, it has been suggested that in order to reduce that risk, incentives should be made safer for players (Independent Gambling Authority, 2012; Simpson, 2012). Some proposed ways to do this include conducting a risk analysis of players based on their loyalty card data, using loyalty card data to provide players with play history reports, and linking loyalty cards to pre-commitment. These are each described in more detail below.

USING LOYALTY CARD DATA TO ASSESS RISK

As already mentioned, loyalty programs allow gambling behaviour to be tracked when players insert their loyalty card into an EGM or present it at a gaming table. This allows the player to earn points and be eligible for certain rewards and other benefits. Some researchers have suggested that as a responsible gambling measure, players’ loyalty card data could be used to identify those at-risk of—or who have already developed—gambling problems. To increase the accuracy of this type of risk assessment, it has further been suggested that loyalty card data could be compared to “on the floor observations” (Independent Gambling Authority, 2012; Schellinck & Schrans, 2011). Potential drawbacks to risk assessments based on loyalty card data are: the difficulty in identifying the underlying reason for a player’s observed gambling behaviour; the inability to track gambling behaviour at other venues that do not use the same loyalty card; and the sharing of cards among players (Independent Gambling Authority, 2012; Schellinck & Schrans, 2011).

USING LOYALTY CARD DATA FOR PLAY HISTORY REPORTS

Another recommended RG safeguard for player incentives is to send past-month and past-12 month statements to all loyalty members that would inform them of their monthly gambling expenditures. Players could also be given normative feedback on the frequency and duration of their gambling, using the entire database of loyalty members to calculate percentages, averages, etc. (Simpson, 2012). This safeguard has already been implemented, to some extent, in Manitoba. In this province, Club Card members may request to receive Gaming Activity Reports which let them know how much they have spent on electronic gaming for a period of time of their choosing. Players can ask to receive one-time or ongoing reports by mail (at 3-, 6-, or 12-month intervals), or they can view reports immediately on-site at the Responsible Gaming Information Centre (RGIC). The reports are promoted to players through newsletters, the Internet, and at RGIC events. However, normative data is not provided to players in Manitoba at the present time. OLG's Winner's Circle Rewards members can access their play activity for January to December of the previous calendar year, online at any time. Full player history reports can be accessed via a freedom of information request.

LINKING LOYALTY CARDS TO PRE-COMMITMENT

Player incentives, as we have already seen, may be harmful to some players because they may gamble more than intended in order to obtain certain rewards or reach higher tier levels (Henley & Brading, 2009; Responsible Gambling Advocacy Centre, 2011; Williams, West, & Simpson, 2012). Thus, some researchers have suggested that loyalty programs should be linked to pre-commitment tools such as limit setting, so that once a player's limit has been reached, the ability to earn additional points could substantially be reduced or prohibited altogether. Players could also be rewarded for responsible play, rather than for the amount of play, and could receive rewards for using limit setting and other responsible gambling tools (Simpson, 2012; Williams et al., 2012). The main concern with linking pre-commitment to loyalty cards is that asking players to set limits on a card that also rewards them for gambling more seems counterintuitive. However, if implemented appropriately with the proper safeguards, some still view linking pre-commitment to loyalty cards as a potential way to reduce problem gambling risk (Simpson, 2012; Responsible Gambling Advocacy Centre, 2011).

Again, the above safeguard is already implemented in Manitoba. Specifically, members of Manitoba Liquor & Lotteries' loyalty program (Club Card) have the option of setting personal daily limits on their loyalty card for electronic gaming, such as the amount of money spent and lost, and the amount of time played. If a particular limit has been reached during play, players will get a message letting them know that the limit has been reached. If players continue to gamble, they will not accumulate any additional points for the remainder of the gaming day. The limits that the players set are site-specific due to the technology being used, meaning that players must set separate limits for each Manitoba Liquor & Lotteries venue (2 casinos and 1 gaming centre) in the province. The separate limits for each of the three venues require a separate enrolment and change process, which has limited the uptake of this feature. The limit-setting option is promoted to players on the loyalty program application form.

OTHER SUGGESTED SAFEGUARDS

In addition to these safeguards, people have suggested that in order to make loyalty programs safer, players should be able to earn points and rewards not just for the time and money they spend gambling, but for participating in non-gambling activities as well, such as shopping at the gaming venue, eating at its restaurants or purchasing tickets for shows. (Responsible Gambling Advocacy Centre, 2011). As mentioned earlier on in this chapter, many loyalty programs allow this already, and some allow players to earn points for non-gambling activities done outside of the gaming venue.

Simpson (2012) also suggests that gaming staff be required to intervene when a loyalty member exceeds certain thresholds for frequency of gambling, duration of sessions, average bet size, and cumulative losses—arguing that loyalty programs currently track these measures to calculate player incentives anyway.

Specific RG Guidelines for Player Incentives

CANADA

No Canadian jurisdiction has developed RG guidelines specifically for player incentives. All jurisdictions do, though, have restrictions on advertising and marketing, which may include the advertising and marketing of loyalty programs and other player incentives. The most common advertising and marketing restrictions are: encouraging excessive or irresponsible play; encouraging people to play beyond their means; exaggerating the chances of winning; implying the certainty of financial reward; and depicting or appealing to minors.

The only other Canadian guidelines for player incentives found by RGC that could be interpreted as related to RG were the few included in the Alberta Gaming and Liquor Commission's (AGLC) Casino Terms & Conditions and Operating Guidelines for casino licensees. The guidelines contain a section entitled "Promotions," which stipulates the following:

- Casino facility licensees may not provide any promotional activity which offers increased payouts to reward frequent play;
- Free draws, contests, giveaways or similar promotions are allowed, provided that a person is not required to play table games or electronic games, or to remain in the facility, in order to receive a prize as a condition of participating in, or entering, the draw or other promotion;
- A casino facility licensee may require a person to be present at the time of a draw to receive a prize, but the time, date and place of the draw must be prominently posted within the casino facility;
- Player tracking and reward programs are allowed, but these programs must be submitted to the AGLC for approval prior to their implementation. The program submissions must include the following conditions:
 - The casino facility licensee must maintain a current record of players who are Voluntary Self-Exclusion (VSE) participants and exclude such participants from any casino marketing; and
 - The casino facility licensee must include a statement indicating that a patron may be removed from the player reward mailing list at the player's request.

Availability of Responsible Gambling Information

All Canadian jurisdictions have a policy commitment to ensure that players have access to RG information, though the availability and distribution of this information for loyalty program members varies from province to province. Some loyalty program application forms include RG information such as the provincial problem gambling helpline number and the gaming operator's RG tagline. Some RG information may also be embedded in the loyalty program's terms and conditions, such as the fact that players who are self-excluded cannot register for—or participate in—the program, and (where offered) play history reports are available for members upon request. In addition, gaming operators in several jurisdictions have branding standards and/or marketing policies that require the name and logo of their RG program, as well as the provincial problem gambling helpline number, to be included on all promotional materials.

Self-Exclusion

In Canada, all jurisdictions prohibit self-excluded players from registering for a loyalty program. They also prohibit current loyalty program members from continuing to participate in the program if they self-exclude from the venue. Exactly what happens to players' loyalty program membership when they sign up for self-exclusion varies across jurisdictions. In most provinces, their membership is cancelled, while in others, it is suspended until they reinstate. Any unredeemed loyalty points may be forfeited, paid out to players in cash, converted to gift certificates (e.g., for groceries), or given to players to redeem.

INTERNATIONAL

While RG guidelines for player incentives outside of Canada are few, some have been developed specifically for loyalty programs in Queensland, Australia. Tasmania has also developed some RG guidelines as part of its broad restrictions on player incentives. The guidelines of Queensland and Tasmania are presented in turn below.

Queensland

In 2007, the Queensland Treasury published the document, Queensland Responsible Gambling Guidelines for Player Loyalty Programs. The guidelines were developed jointly by representatives of the gaming industry, the community, and government, and were intended to be used in conjunction with the State's Advertising and Promotions Guideline to support the Queensland Responsible Gambling Code of Practice. In general, the guidelines state that loyalty programs should be advertised and promoted similarly to other gambling products and services. Thus, they should promote gambling as a form of leisure and entertainment, which can be enjoyable if engaged in responsibly. More specific components of the guidelines include:

- Advertising and promotion of loyalty programs within the community must comply with the Queensland Responsible Gambling Advertising and Promotions Guideline;
- Direct marketing of loyalty programs must comply with the Direct Marketing Code of Practice of the Australian Direct Marketing Association (ADMA);
- Loyalty program registration must include relevant information for players to make an informed decision about their participation in the program;

- Program features and functions must not offend prevailing community standards; must not target minors, disadvantaged, or vulnerable groups; and must not involve irresponsible trading practices by the gaming provider;
- Where practical, mechanisms to earn and redeem points must not focus exclusively on gambling activities where other activities are available at the gaming venue;
- Positive RG messages, where appropriate and possible, are to be incorporated into loyalty program features and functions; and
- Loyalty programs must comply with the Exclusions Framework (program material must not intentionally be sent to excluded players or to those who have requested such material not be sent; players can opt out of receiving program material by mail, etc.).

Tasmania

In 2012, the Tasmanian Gaming Commission developed new guidelines for player incentives such as promotions and loyalty programs (Tasmanian Gaming Commission, 2012). The guidelines include the following restrictions:

- Any inducement, regardless of the amount, must be redeemable for services other than just gambling;
- Players must not be offered free or discounted alcohol for consumption on the premises, or vouchers for the purchase of alcohol as an inducement or reward for gambling;
- Players must not be required to be at a prize draw, or on the premises at the time of a prize draw, in order to be eligible to win any prize that is greater than $1,000 in value;
- Loyalty program members must be provided with a player activity statement annually, which lets them know the points or the equivalent, that have been accrued as a result of gambling;
- At least once per year, loyalty program members must be sent self-exclusion and RG information that states the name and telephone number of the Gambling Helpline; and
- Loyalty program members must not be offered rewards greater than $10 which can be used for gambling purposes.

In 2013, the Tasmanian Gaming Commission developed additional guidelines, specifically for “Premium Player Programs”—a more exclusive loyalty program that requires an invitation to join and a certain level of gambling to remain in the program. RG components of the guidelines include:

- Prior to being admitted to the loyalty program, potential members must state in writing that they are not currently excluded from gambling anywhere in Australia and that they have control over their gambling. If players do not meet either of these requirements, they cannot be admitted to the program;

- If a player has previously self-excluded from gambling anywhere in Australia, a Responsible Gambling Manager must provide evidence showing that the player is currently in control of their gambling before membership to the program is granted;
- Each player's loyalty program membership must be reviewed every six months. If a player is identified as not being in control of their gambling, their membership must not be renewed;
- Members must be provided with a play activity statement every six months showing, in dollars, the amount of all expenditures on gambling during the statement period;
- The operator must conduct information sessions on gambling, harm minimization, and problem gambling for staff and program members at least every six months;
- There must be a system in place to monitor members for signs of a potential gambling problem and to report any findings to the Responsible Gambling Manager. The system must include a range of indicators and measures of gambling-related behaviour, such as play activity levels, session length, visit frequency, and ATM usage. The system must also include a framework for appropriate response and intervention;
- RG messages must be included on promotional material, such as discounts and cash rebate offers; and
- Direct marketing to members that encourages them to increase their typical level of gambling expenditure in order to receive additional rewards/benefits is prohibited.

Summary

In summary, the following key points emerged from the literature and policy reviews:

- There are many categories of rewards that a player may receive, such as: cash/cashback, free play, accommodations, entertainment, free or discounted services, merchandise, food and beverage, and air fare.
- Rewards can be obtained by participating in a loyalty program, via promotions, or through comps.
- Loyalty programs are voluntary, and are designed to attract new players as well as maintain the current player base. As loyalty program members, players are able to collect points and redeem them for particular rewards. Point accrual is generally tracked through the use of a loyalty card.
- Loyalty programs often operate on a tier-based system. A player's tier is generally determined through point accumulation, with higher tiers equating to greater rewards for the player. The amount that a player must spend to obtain enough points to move up a tier varies across jurisdictions. Generally, players must collect a particular amount of points annually to remain in a specific tier.
- Incentives are marketed via venue signage, mail, email, gaming venue hosts, social networking sites, billboards, and text messages. In Canada, players must provide consent for the venue to contact them for marketing purposes.

- Player incentives are designed to impact the player's loyalty and thus increase visit frequency to the venue. Players generally respond positively to special treatment, positive employee interactions, rewards, recognition, and superior customer service. Player incentives have also been shown to increase player expenditure at the gaming venue.
- There is concern regarding the impact of player incentives on problem gambling risk. There is some evidence suggesting that players, particularly at-risk players or players with a gambling problem, may be tempted to continue to gamble because of player incentives.
- Researchers have proposed implementing player incentive safeguards to help mitigate the risk of problem gambling. Examples included: using loyalty card data to assess risk; using loyalty card data to provide play history reports; linking loyalty cards to pre-commitment tools; allowing players to earn points for participating in non-gambling activities; and requiring staff to intervene when a player exceeds particular thresholds for gambling frequency or duration, bet size, or cumulative losses.
- Currently, RG-specific guidelines for player incentives are scarce. Some guidelines currently in place in Canada involve the provision of RG information via the application forms and on marketing materials, and prohibiting self-excluded persons from participating in the loyalty program.
- Internationally, Queensland and Tasmania have developed RG guidelines specifically for player incentives.

CHAPTER 2: PLAYER FOCUS GROUP RESULTS

A focus group with individuals in treatment for gambling problems was conducted in order to explore their experiences with player incentives and any suggestions they have for making incentives safer for players. The group was led by a treatment provider, and consisted of 8 participants (5 males and 3 females). The entire discussion was recorded and subsequently transcribed.

The main findings of the focus group, organized by topic, are presented below.

History of Gambling Problems

The focus group began by asking participants, in a general way, what forms of gambling were associated with the development of their gambling problems. Almost all participants said that slot machines were—although a few said table games—and all said they associated the frequency of their gambling with the development of problems. For the most part, participants said they gambled at gaming venues in Ontario, with the exception of two who said they also gambled out of province.

Introduction to Player Incentives

When asked about their experience with player incentives, all focus group participants said they had been members of a loyalty program, but had developed problems with gambling before they signed up for it. Generally, participants said they became aware of the program by seeing others with loyalty cards or by word of mouth. A few said they were approached by gaming venue staff who offered them information about the program while they were at gaming tables or after they had won a large prize playing slots. Participants said that at first, they were hesitant to sign up for the loyalty program, and only considered it seriously when they became more involved with gambling and felt that it was a way to recoup money they had lost. Some comments were:

“I started playing without the card and eventually as I became more involved in gambling, I signed up for the card. I thought, ‘Well, since I’m putting in so much money, this is a way to get some of my money back’.”

“I noticed people with cards, and it was after my first year that I thought ‘Gee, I should sign up’.”

“At first, I didn’t want any information about it. Then by the time you blow the amount of money that I did, it was like, ‘Wait a second, I think I could start getting something from this’.”

“My first year was just a social thing; my second year was half-social; and in my third year, I was there to beat the machines, so I participated in incentive programs.”

“I saw people with all these rewards and kept hearing about meals and other types of things they were getting [with the card], so I thought I would sign up for it.”

Understanding How Rewards Are Earned

When participants were asked how they earned the rewards they received, they said the rewards were based on the amount of money they spent gambling at a particular venue and the specific tier level they had reached in their loyalty program. One participant summed it up by saying, “The more you spend, the more you get, and the better you are rated.” All participants reported that over time, they moved up to higher tier levels that offered greater rewards. Examples of some of the rewards that participants received were:

- Cashback
- Vouchers for free play and meals
- Free valet parking, hotel rooms, and tickets to concerts or sporting events
- Free entries into slot tournaments and draws (e.g., for trips, cars)
- Invitations to participate in sporting events (e.g., golf)
- Gifts for themselves and family members (e.g., luggage, wine glasses, watches, leather jackets)

Appeal of Rewards

When asked what it felt like to earn rewards, participants responded with, “You feel like a big shot” and “It makes you feel important.” Generally, receiving rewards seemed to affect participants’ sense of self in a positive way, with many saying it was an ego boost which encouraged them to gamble more in order to reach higher tier levels. One participant said, “It became an internal contest.” Another one added, “If I get to this level, I get more free meals, more free rooms, more free shows and someone greets me and treats me nice.”

While participants generally felt proud to earn rewards, once family and friends started to become concerned about their gambling, many felt embarrassed about receiving some rewards—especially gifts. Thus, they reported hiding them because “...they had the gaming venue’s logo on them and there was no hiding where the gifts came from.” One participant added, “I would go get the gift and when you brought it home it would identify that you were there that day...it would show you are getting something for free and let’s face it, you don’t get much for free these days without doing something to get it.”

Marketing of Incentives

When focus group participants were asked how the gaming venue let them know about the rewards they could earn, they most often said via regular mail, email and on-site at the venue. Depending on the tier level they had reached in their loyalty program, some participants also said they received more personalized attention and were notified about incentives by phone.

In terms of the frequency of marketing communications they received, participants said they received more after they won a large jackpot, and there was a marked increase in communications when they moved to higher tier levels in their loyalty program. As one participant said, “I definitely got more correspondence when I went from the lower level to the middle level—by email, mail and phone calls.”

When participants decided to reduce their gambling or stop it altogether, many said they contacted the gaming venue and asked them to stop sending promotional material. While some participants subsequently stopped receiving the material, a few continued to—despite numerous requests to have them stopped. For at least one participant, this caused a relapse: “My relapse occurred as a result of an offer that was sent to me. I thought I would just go in, redeem it, and leave. But once you are there, they don't just give it to you, you need to put it in the machine and after that it all goes back to where I started."

For participants who had self-excluded from the gaming venue, all promotional materials were discontinued and any unredeemed loyalty points they had accrued were forfeited. Once their self-exclusion period ended, however, they automatically began receiving promotional material again, even though they had not specifically requested it. One participant stated, "It was exactly a year after my self-exclusion date that I started receiving emails again." For another participant who had self-excluded, promotional mailings were discontinued, but they received phone calls offering them incentives to return back to the gaming venue.

Impact of Incentives on Gambling Behaviour

When focus group participants were asked whether they felt their gambling had changed as a result of participating in player incentives, all participants answered "yes." For the majority, it was the frequency of their gambling that had changed. As one participant said, "For me, the frequency dramatically increased with the cards and offers. It got you in there more often because now there was an added incentive. I was guaranteed something." In addition to impacting frequency of play, many participants said that some of the conditions placed on rewards encouraged them to not only stay longer at the gaming venue, but to spend more money gambling than intended while there. Some examples of these conditions were:

- Free play vouchers given to players while they were at the venue could only be redeemed several hours later (e.g., 1 AM – 6 AM);
- Free play vouchers given to players could only be redeemed after players first bet a certain amount of their own money gambling; and
- Multiple free play vouchers could only be redeemed within a single, 24-hour period.

As well, some participants said that the conditions placed on rewards affected their intention to go home after suffering a significant loss. As one participant commented, "Even if I was planning to go home, if I had lost my money at 11:00 but I had a voucher that was only valid after midnight, I'm still staying there until after midnight." Another participant added, "If you have a voucher like that, not only will you stay and eat, but you're going to gamble again because at midnight you can access more cash on your card—it's a new banking day."

Participants noted that some of the marketing communications they received also fueled them to gamble more, such as: "You only have 80 more points to become a Gold member, and you have to do that by December 1st." Participants felt that these types of communications encouraged them to gamble more because they wanted to attain the rewards offered at the higher tier levels.

Overall, many participants felt that incentives made it more difficult for them to manage their gambling, both by enticing them to go to the gaming venue to receive or redeem the rewards, and by encouraging them to gamble once they were there. As noted by the participants:

- "Had those promotions not been given to me, I would not have had any reason to go to the casino."

- “I was getting pretty high incentives to go there. Even if I had no money to go, I would go just for that incentive but I would basically clean out my account while I was there.”
- “For us, it’s like waving a bottle of alcohol in front of the nose of a person who is trying to stop drinking. That’s the way I saw it and it’s almost irresistible to say no to it.”
- “It drove me back up there to get the money. I thought, ‘OK, go get the money and I’ll have a little to live on for 3 days’.”

Many focus group participants also said that receiving financial incentives in particular made it seem like they had less of a problem. Some participants also felt that they could win back their losses with the gaming venues’ money. Participants said:

“It softens the blow.”

“Makes you feel like you’re getting something back. Maybe I gave X amount of dollars, but I got a percentage that they gave back to me.”

“Maybe I’ll get lucky and if I go back there, I can chase that loss with their money now as opposed to putting in more money of my own.”

Other participants felt that financial incentives gave them a sense of hope. As one participant said, “It made me feel better because I could go. I knew I shouldn’t go—I had bills to pay—but I was thinking, ‘I’m going to go and just play with that bonus and hope that it keeps me going’.”

When Incentives Cross the Line

When participants were asked, “What is crossing the line in terms of gaming venues going too far with their promotions?,” many said that sending promotional materials to players who have self-excluded was crossing the line, especially when the players had yet to reinstate after their self-exclusion term was up. As one participant said, “It brings it back to mind, when you are trying to stop.” Other ways promotions were considered to cross the line was when—as mentioned earlier—they included certain conditions that encouraged the player to gamble more, such as the promotion could only be redeemed several hours after the player had received it (e.g., from 1 AM – 6 AM). A few participants felt gaming venues crossed the line simply by not balancing the promotion of incentives with making players aware of the risks involved and that help is available if needed.

Ways to Make Incentives Safer

Near the end of the focus group, participants were asked whether they had any recommendations for making incentives safer for players. In addition to saying that some of the conditions placed on incentives discussed above should be changed, participants said that the venue should educate and inform players. When asked what type of information players should be given, some participants felt that it would be good for players to know exactly how much money is required to be spent on gambling in order to earn a certain number of points. For example, “They should tell you up front that for every $20 you spend, you get X amount of points.” Participants said that this would allow players to make an informed decision about participating in loyalty programs. Other suggestions included:

- Give players information on the risks involved when they sign up for a loyalty program;

- Offer players an optional responsible gambling course as part of the loyalty program;
- Provide players with monthly statements that break down their expenditures;
- Use loyalty card data to identify players who may have a gambling problem, offer them help and/or reduce the number of incentives offered to them; and
- Send players communications with focused RG information, such as the signs of a gambling problem, the type of help that is available, etc.

In addition to the above, participants said that when gaming venues send out promotional material that also contains the provincial problem gambling helpline number, the information should be made more prominent, so that it does not get overlooked by someone who may need assistance. Participants made this recommendation because one of them had said that when they were looking for the helpline number in a promotional mailing they received, they could not find it easily—it was buried deep within the communication in a smaller-sized font than other text. Other participants said they never even noticed the helpline number on any promotional material they received. In general, participants felt that they would have benefitted from education about available help resources, as well as the signs of a gambling problem.

Summary

In summary, the following key points emerged from the focus group:

- Participants may have had concerns with their gambling prior to signing up for a loyalty card. All participants associated the frequency of gambling with the development of their gambling-related problems.
- All participants had participated in a loyalty program only after they became more involved in gambling and for some they felt it was a way to recoup losses.
- For many participants receiving promotions and comps was an ego boost that encouraged them to play more in order to reach higher levels.
- The majority of participants felt that their gambling frequency increased as a result of receiving promotions or comps.
- Participants felt that the monetary promotions would distort their perception of their gambling problems. Many felt that they could win back their losses with the gaming venue's money.
- Many participants requested to unsubscribe from promotional mailing lists once they began to have concerns about their gambling. While the majority of participants no longer received mailings, others continued to do so. Those who self-excluded noticed an immediate stop to promotional materials, until their self-exclusion period had ended.
- Participants felt that promotional materials cross the line when they are sent to self-excluded people during their ban or immediately upon ending their ban without their consent. For others, crossing the line was as simple as not having a balance between promotions and information that makes players aware that help is available if needed.

- Participants felt it is important to know the actual value of the points earned for a certain amount spent gambling. Other recommendations included: providing information on risk as part of the loyalty program sign-up; focused mailings (i.e., help availability, signs of a gambling problem); and using the loyalty card to identify gamblers who may have a potential gambling problem and offer them help or reduce promotions they receive.

CHAPTER 3: EXPERT FORUM RESULTS

The expert forum was held December 8 to 10, 2013 in Toronto, Ontario. Attendees came from across North America and Australia and included gaming providers, regulators, treatment counselors, researchers, marketing experts, and individuals who have sought help for a gambling problem. The forum was moderated by a professional facilitator and consisted of presentations, panel discussions, participant polling, and large group conversations.

The main purpose of the forum was to provide attendees with a good understanding of how player incentives work; what makes them so appealing to players; how they might impact gambling behaviour and problem gambling risk; when they “cross the line;” and what opportunities exist to make them safer for players. The findings of the forum as they pertain to each of these areas are presented in sequence below.

How Player Incentives Work

The forum opened with the presentation, Player Incentives: What Exactly Are They?, which provided a thorough background of the different types of incentives as well as the rationale, from a marketing perspective, for tailoring incentives to players. Much of the material presented in this session has already been discussed in Chapter 2 of this report and will not be repeated here. There was, however, some new information. For instance, during the presentation the distinction was made between two categories of incentives: rewards—which are a direct result of past gambling behaviour, and offers—which aim to change future gambling behaviour. Rewards are proportionate to the amount spent and players are made aware of what is required (i.e., how many points are needed) in order to receive them. In contrast, players are not made aware of how offers are distributed, and—unlike rewards—offers are not necessarily given to the player that gambles the most. Rather, they are often given to the least loyal player in an attempt to increase patronage. Therefore, from the venue’s perspective, offers are the most important type of incentive. The presentation also highlighted that offers of cash and free play are particularly popular among players.

The presentation provided insight into the extent of marketing initiatives, from the venue’s perspective. The average casino spends approximately $0.25 of every dollar on marketing efforts, and the vast majority of its marketing is through direct mail, with the average loyalty program member receiving approximately 100 pieces of mail per year. The presenter also explained that though social media is a common marketing tool among other industries, casinos still tend to send incentives via mail as the majority of casino patrons do not use social media, and the benefits of sending mail-outs outweigh their costs.

When tailoring incentives to players, the venue will consider several factors, including how much players spends per visit, the frequency of their visits, and their distance from the venue, to name a few.

Three Canadian Examples

In the session, Player Incentives: A Canadian Perspective, three presentations provided an overview of how gaming incentive programs operate in Manitoba, Ontario, and Quebec. Highlights of each presentation are provided below.

Manitoba

The first presentation described Manitoba Liquor & Lotteries' Club Card rewards program, which allows players to earn points through electronic games, table games, and bingo. The program offers both play-based, as well as non-play based, promotions. Members are also offered discounts on food and beverage, entertainment, parking, and the gift shop. Points cannot be redeemed for free play, however, free play is offered on occasion (e.g., upon loyalty program sign-up, on birthdays, and when members have not visited the venue recently). The loyalty program does not work on a tier-based system—increased spend does not lead to additional benefits for players. However, players are tiered internally to help target incentives and offers. Additionally, a small percentage of members receive personal attention from a venue host on-site, and they receive invitations to special events and dinners.

Ontario

The second presentation in this session described Caesars Windsor's Total Rewards loyalty program. The program has four tiers, and a player's tier level is determined by the number of points accumulated within a calendar year. Membership to the fourth tier is quite selective, as it requires an invitation. Reward points can be earned through slot machines and table games, and also through non-gaming means such as dining, entertainment, and accommodation. Points can be redeemed for both gaming and non-gaming rewards. The Total Rewards marketing strategy has three branches, through which players can earn the following categories of incentives:

1. Loyalty/Brand: These are tier-based incentives that are communicated and guaranteed to members when they sign up for the Total Rewards program.
2. Database marketing: These are incentives that are communicated but not promised to members. They are offers tailored to the individual—based on their loyalty card data—and are designed to increase “profitable behaviour.”
3. Discretionary comps: These are incentives that are neither widely communicated nor promised to members. They are administered individually at the discretion of Caesars Windsor. For example, a casino host might offer a member free play, accommodation, dining or show tickets.

Quebec

The final presentation in this session described Loto-Quebec's Casino Privilèges Club loyalty program. It is a tier-based program with three status levels plus a “VIP Select” level that requires an invitation to join. Benefits of the loyalty program vary depending on tier level, and players can earn points through slot machines, table games, and keno. Points earned through slot machines can be redeemed for cashback, while points earned through table games and keno can be redeemed for cashable comps or services. Major promotions take place roughly three to four times per year, through which a player can usually earn additional entries to contests with more play, up to a particular limit. Offers are determined by a player's visit frequency and expenditures.

Psychological Appeal of Player Incentives

During the forum, a few presenters and panelists discussed what it is about player incentives that might make them so appealing—both to players in general as well as to those who have experienced gambling-related problems. In the session, Do Player Incentives Work?, some of the factors that make incentives appealing include:

1. Psychological: A player could be made to feel important by the incentive and the personal attention that often comes with it, thus feeding the person's ego;
2. Economic: The value of the incentive might make the player believe it is helping to offset the cost of gambling losses, travel, accommodation, etc.; and
3. Convenience: Having the host arrange logistics of the trip (e.g., travel, accommodation, food, and entertainment) saves players from having to make these arrangements themselves.

During the panel discussion, Do Player Incentives Increase Risk? What Players and Treatment Providers Say, treatment providers said that their clients have told them that loyalty programs and incentives make them feel special, like they are being recognized. Their clients have also said that there is a sense of security knowing that they will be taken care of at the venue.

According to the former players on the panel, offers for free hotel stays used to make them feel like a "big shot." To describe incentives, they used words and phrases such as "recognition," "anticipation," and "fuel," and described their feelings towards the casino as "a companion" and "an escape."⁴ One panelist said that different things pull different people in; it is the "offer" piece that is enticing.

Player Incentive Impacts

During the forum, several presenters discussed some of the possible impacts of player incentives on gambling revenue, behaviour, and problem gambling risk.

GAMING REVENUE

The session, Do Player Incentives Work?, looked at the impact of incentives on gaming revenue. The presenter noted that it is often difficult to measure revenue impact as many factors can influence it. Nevertheless, there is some research that shows many incentives are expensive to execute and often do not cover the costs to operate them. Research has also shown that more valuable players ("high rollers") expect more valuable incentives, and thus while these players may bring in higher revenue for the casino, the cost of incentives for them is greater and, as a result, the profit margins are often narrower compared to incentives for regular players.

GAMBLING BEHAVIOUR AND PROBLEM GAMBLING RISK

The session, Do Player Incentives Increase Risk? What the Evidence Says, presented a study that examined the effect of comps on gambling behaviour and whether they differentially affect players who display "addictive" behaviour.⁵ For the purposes of the study, an "addiction" was considered present when a player's play/bet amount increased over time. Using a casino's loyalty card data, the study looked at the relationship between the value of comps awarded to players and their sequence of decisions (such as the decision to play given previous play and bet amounts). The findings suggested that comps do affect gambling behaviour, such that when there was an increase in comps, there was a small increase in both short-term and long-term betting. Moreover, when players were given comps, there was a reduction in the number of days between their trips to the casino. For players who displayed addictive behaviour, the response to the comps (i.e., bet amount and number of plays during a trip) was twice that of the average player. Based on the data, it appears that comps do have an effect; while small for the average player, it is larger for those who meet the above definition of addiction. It should be kept in mind, however, that while the study suggests that comps can get players to spend more, it does not necessarily show that comps cause them to engage in addictive behaviour.

During the panel discussion, Do Player Incentives Increase Risk? What Players and Treatment Providers Say, treatment providers and former players who have sought help for a gambling problem said that in their opinion, incentives can influence gambling behaviour because they bring players back to the casino repeatedly under the guise of “free things.” Former players said they used to think that they could just visit the casino, redeem their comp, and leave, but this was not the case. Vouchers that had two parts—such as a meal that could be redeemed at one time and then another meal that could only be redeemed several hours later (e.g., in the morning)—had players waiting for hours so that they could redeem the second portion of the comp. Cash rebates were also particularly enticing for those with a gambling problem, because when the player was low on funds, they would wait for the rebates so they could go back and play, to “keep them in action.”

One panelist commented that to someone who has nothing, even a $20 rebate is a big deal and can drive behaviour. Indeed, another panelist said they used to go as far as to re-arrange their weekly or monthly schedules based on when they knew they would be receiving comps. Former players also said they sometimes felt that when they received a comp, it was as if they were being told “it’s okay” they were spending so much. A few members of the audience added that comps could entice players to go back to the casino and chase losses, and that it is not necessarily the biggest rewards that are the most powerful. There was some agreement among panelists that for an at-risk player who has not self-excluded, receiving incentives could “tip the scales.”

IMPACT OF INCENTIVES IN GENERAL ON FORUM PARTICIPANTS

When forum participants were asked how any reward programs they participate in (e.g., grocery, drugstore, etc.) influence their own behaviour—the majority said that the programs affect their behaviour either “a little” or “somewhat,” depending on the particular product involved and how frequently they use it. Additionally, participants said that incentive programs in general likely influence a consumer’s decision about which competitor to do business with.

In discussing some possible similarities and differences between gaming and other incentive programs, a large majority of participants felt that gaming loyalty programs probably affect behaviour the same way as other programs. Some participants, however, pointed out that gaming loyalty programs may have more of an effect because they carry the potential for immediate rewards and because cashback and free play offers can lead to a cycle where gambling leads to more gambling. Participants also mentioned that with most other incentive programs, members purchase products they were likely to buy anyway (e.g., groceries, flights for business).

When Incentives Cross the Line

Throughout the forum, there was much discussion among participants about whether—and under what circumstances—incentives “cross the line.” In one of the polling and large group discussions, an overwhelming majority of participants said that there are definitely situations where incentives cross the line and provided the following examples: when incentives encourage players to over-extend themselves; when they target vulnerable players; when hosts are encouraged to offer incentives to players who they know or suspect have a problem; when a player opts out from receiving incentives but still receives them; and when the casino personally calls the player to offer incentives.

During the panel discussion, Do Player Incentives Increase Risk? What Players and Treatment Providers Say, panelists said that crossing the line would be offering incentives that require players to stay until after midnight to redeem a portion of their comp—partly because the player would have cleared the daily ATM limit (since it is a new day), which could lead to over-spending. When panelists were asked where to draw the line between who should and should not receive incentives, some suggested that incentives should not be given to players with a gambling problem. Others, however, said that it is too difficult to identify these individuals, while some said it was obvious when walking around the casino.

A few participants said that gaming operators should be able to use the technology they have and the wealth of data they collect on players to identify those at risk, as well as to limit and/or track the impact of incentives on high-risk players and perhaps use the information to help them. Some operators and marketing experts in the room, however, noted that gaming operators, at least in the U.S., are usually hesitant to use player data from loyalty programs for this purpose because the data set is incomplete and cannot be used to make assumptions about players. For example, without information on the player’s income and assets they cannot assume that the player is playing beyond their means. They feel it is not their right to pass judgment, and are concerned they may be sued if they identify a player as being “at risk.” As well, even if they are 95% confident that a player has a problem, there is still the chance that they could be wrong. A participant commented that a player who plays $5 one day, $10 the next, and continues to increase their bets, could just be a player that “bought a product and liked it”; the operator cannot make the assumption that the player is chasing losses.

Incentive Safeguards

A large part of the forum focused on safeguards for player incentives—which ones currently exist, what their limitations are, how they might be improved, and what opportunities there are for new safeguards. These topics are each discussed in turn below.

NON-GAMING

The presentation, Incentive Safeguards in Gaming and Non-Gaming Industries, began with some discussion of incentive safeguards in a few risk-inherent industries other than gaming (i.e., tobacco, alcohol, pharmaceutical). The purpose was to see what, if any, lessons could be learned from these industries for the gaming industry. In the case of tobacco, there is federal legislation in Canada forbidding the marketing of tobacco products. Offering gifts, bonuses, premiums, or cash rebates on tobacco purchases is also banned. In the case of alcohol and prescription drugs, consumers (depending on the jurisdiction) are able to earn loyalty points for these purchases. However, the points earned are part of a much larger loyalty program (e.g., Air Miles, Shoppers Optimum) and, as such, points can be earned not just for alcohol and prescription drugs at liquor outlets and drugstores, respectively, but for other products at a wide number of retailers. Additionally, the points earned through these programs usually cannot be redeemed to purchase more alcohol or prescription drugs.

GAMING

In the session discussed earlier on in this chapter, Player Incentives: A Canadian Perspective, the three individuals who presented some details of their player incentive programs also shared with the audience some information about the responsible gambling (RG) components of these programs. In Manitoba, their player loyalty program offers RG features such as gaming activity reports and limit setting tools, and the marketing department works to ensure communications are not sent to self-excluded players. A Loyalty Program Governance Committee also guides the program and its incentives,⁶ and all promotions must be approved by the marketing, corporate communications & social responsibility, and internal audit departments. For the loyalty program at Caesars Windsor in Ontario, marketing materials sent to players must include two standard disclaimers: one with the company's RG tagline and the provincial problem gambling helpline number; the other stating that self-excluded players cannot participate in any promotions or offers. Caesars Windsor also removes self-excluded players from marketing lists so that they no longer receive promotional materials. In Quebec, when players self-exclude from casinos, they are automatically removed from the promotional mailing list. Once players complete their self-exclusion term, a year must pass before they can request to be added back to the list. In addition, all marketing initiatives must be approved by the legal department.

The presentation, Queensland Responsible Gambling Guidelines for Player Loyalty Programs, provided an overview of the loyalty program guidelines currently in place in Queensland, Australia. As discussed earlier in this report, the guidelines were developed collectively by representatives from the gaming industry, the community and government. Examples of some of the guidelines include:

- § When players register for a loyalty program, they must be provided with relevant information to make informed decisions about participating in the program;
- § Reward point accrual and redemption systems must not focus solely on gambling activities where there are other activities to promote;
- § RG messages must be incorporated into advertising and promotions, where appropriate and possible;
- § Player loyalty programs must comply with the Exclusions Framework. For example, promotional materials should not be sent to excluded players, and the terms of the loyalty program should restrict excluded players from participating in any gambling-related components of the program;
- § Player loyalty programs cannot offend prevailing community standards. Nor can they be directed at minors or at vulnerable or disadvantaged groups.

In addition to the above guidelines, gaming operators in Queensland have been educated on “acceptable” and “unacceptable” loyalty program practices. Examples of some acceptable practices would be allowing players to earn points for meal and drink purchases, and allowing points to be redeemed for non-gaming amenities such as restaurants, hotels, and shows. Examples of practices that are considered unacceptable are: allowing points to be earned through gambling only; allowing points to be redeemed for gambling only; and allowing marketing materials to depict unlikely winning scenarios.

CARD-BASED INITIATIVES

The session, Emerging Approaches to Responsible Gambling Incentives, consisted of two presentations that discussed card-based RG initiatives tied to incentives. The first presentation, Nova Scotia's Experience with Responsible Gaming Based Incentives, described the mandatory card-play system of the Nova Scotia Provincial Lotteries and Casino Corporation, called My-Play. Used for their Video Lottery Terminals (VLTs), the system offers players self-monitoring tools such as the ability to set limits and access play history. Research on the system following implementation showed that uptake of the tools was minimal and many players reduced their play or stopped playing entirely, as evidenced by a 17% decline in revenue. While five dollar gift cards were offered to players as an incentive to use the system, this amount was apparently not enough to mitigate players' hesitation in using the system. Player feedback indicated that players felt the system was tracking their play and that it was meant for individuals with gambling problems; they did not see value in the tools for themselves. Achieving retailer buy-in also proved to be difficult, as retailers viewed the system as the cause of the 17% revenue decline. While retailers were also offered incentives—a bi-annual payment for administering the system and $10 for every full enrollment at their site—the incentives were insufficient to secure buy-in. In September 2014, the government of Nova Scotia decided to terminate the My-Play program.

The second presentation in this session looked at the PlaySmart system currently being used on gaming machines in parts of Australia. It is a voluntary pre-commitment system available to users of the J Card, associated with the loyalty program offered at Jackpot Club venues. The system offers breaks in play and provides on-screen warnings when players reach their self-selected time and money limits. Also, when a limit is reached, it is communicated to all other participating venues (70 in South Australia and 4 in Queensland). Research conducted on the system found that among J Card holders who used their card in the last three months, 6% enacted the PlaySmart tools. However, the system used to require players to opt in or activate the tools. When this was changed to require players to opt out or deactivate the tools instead, there was a spike in usage. While players saw the ability to set expenditure limits as the main benefit of the PlaySmart system, they identified the following limitations: Many players were unaware of the full range of tools available; many players could not recall receiving reminder messages about their limits; and there was confusion due to the wide range of choices. Because the Jackpot Club does not offer comps, direct mailings, or tiers, it does not have the same level of uptake of loyalty programs in other jurisdictions. It is thought that this might have contributed to the relatively low uptake of PlaySmart tools.

Forum Participant Opinion about Player Incentive RG

Forum participants were asked throughout the event to give their opinions on a variety of topics via polling and discussion, though the discussions were mainly centered on RG initiatives for player incentives. The participants' opinions on this topic are presented below.

LINKING LOYALTY CARDS TO RG FEATURES

During one of the participant polling and discussion sessions, when asked, "Should loyalty cards be linked to RG features (e.g., limit setting)?," an overwhelming majority of participants answered "yes" or “yes, with conditions.” Some conditions mentioned were that there should be appropriate rewards for using RG features; players should be advised upfront what their information is being used for; and players should be allowed to opt in to the features if they want to use them.

Participants were also asked, “Since gamblers have to ask for an incentive card, would it be a good thing to have an active prevention tool (e.g., a video explaining the risks) before they get their card?” Responses to this question were split fairly evenly, with just over half the respondents answering “yes,” and the remainder answering “no.” Those who answered no said it was because there were already many ways for players to be informed about RG. They also said that players just want to finish the transaction and it may be more effective if the risks were brought up at a different time.

Participants were also asked, “Since setting limits are the key features used by gamblers, would it be simpler to make these options available without having to own a card?” In response, two-thirds of participants answered, “yes.” During the following discussion, however, it was pointed out that without a card, the limit-setting options would only apply to one machine at a time and, as such, players would just go to another machine if they reached the limits set at their current machine. In response, some participants commented that having limit setting at one machine, while not ideal, is still better than nothing. Others questioned whether limit setting is in fact the most important tool for players—or if it is instead the ability to review one’s spend, which encourages budgeting and money management.

INCREASING USE OF RG FEATURES

When forum participants were asked for possible ways to increase player motivation to access and use any RG features that might be associated with loyalty cards, participants provided the following suggestions:

- Address the motivators and de-motivators for both players and retailers, as retailers can also be a barrier to the uptake of RG tools;
- Change the language from a negative “problem gambling” focus to a more positive “taking control” focus;
- Use the term “player tools” rather than “RG tools;”
- Create value for players so they want to use the tools;
- Provide an active prevention message after a win, because players will be more receptive when they are in a good mood; and
- Have a renewal system for loyalty program membership that includes a review of the player’s gaming history, which would give players an opportunity to evaluate their spend. A survey at the time of renewal asking players to guess how much they think they are spending and comparing that to their actual spend might also be helpful.

When asked how the industry can responsibly incentivize the use of RG tools, participants suggested:

- Give incentives for things that are not on the gaming floor;
- Normalize the use of RG tools; and

- Look at what has been done for other high-risk products.

RESTRICTING INCENTIVES

In discussing whether restrictions should be placed on incentives for some players or in certain situations, the majority of participants said that restrictions should be imposed on players who were previously self-excluded. When asked whether restrictions should be placed on players who gaming staff suspect might have a gambling problem, there was a fairly even split among participants in their responses. There was also some debate as to whether staff can reliably identify such players. When participants were asked, “Should marketing/advertising exclude high-risk gamblers from some forms of promotion?,” approximately half of the participants answered “yes,” while the remainder gave mixed responses such as “no,” “needs more research,” “it depends,” and “don’t know.” When asked, “What would most likely lead to a change in casino marketing practices in your jurisdiction?,” just over one third of respondents said “legislated change to marketing regulations,” while the remainder said “public media pressure,” “research indicating that current practices harm some customers,” “marketing research that suggests a change in strategy,” and “casino RG guidelines.”

Because operators often say that they offer incentives to keep up with the competition—especially when one gaming venue is in close proximity to another—forum participants were asked whether operators that have a monopoly should offer loyalty programs. Some responses were that “monopolies don’t really exist”—both because of the availability of online gaming, and because the gaming industry is in competition with other entertainment options. Additionally, some participants said that having a loyalty program allows the operator to better understand its customer.

OTHER INITIATIVES THAT MIGHT HELP PLAYERS

When asked what other types of initiatives might help players, audience members suggested:

- Provide players with an account of their spending, something akin to a bank statement;
- Space out rebates so that they are monthly (rather than weekly). This would give players more time away from the venue between rebates and thus more time to consider whether they may have a problem with gambling; and
- Increase messaging on just how much spend is required to acquire a particular number of points/to move up to the next tier level, etc.

Responsible Gambling Best Practices

Near the end of the forum, participants were asked to list—with others at their table—what they thought might be some RG best practices for player incentives. Some of the suggestions given were already mentioned throughout the forum, while others were new:

- Have the loyalty program apply to all business channels (e.g., casino, lottery, VLTs, etc.);
- Make player cards mandatory;
- Offer non-gaming incentives both inside and outside the venue (e.g., food, beverage, merchandise);

- Be more clear about the true cost of earning incentives;
- Provide players with their play history and offer incentives for accessing it;
- Provide options for setting limits and reward players for sticking to them;
- Prohibit the redemption of points for cashback or free play;
- Offer some incentives that do not require players to go back to the gaming venue to redeem them;
- Offer rewards for using loyalty card RG tools;
- Do not call RG tools, “RG tools;”
- Use the loyalty program to deliver player education (e.g., helpline number);
- Link rewards to messaging about responsible play;
- Have players watch a video when they apply for a loyalty card that explains the risks associated with earning incentives;
- Allow players to opt in and out of communications, and allow them to determine how much contact they want from the venue;
- Require more demographic information when players apply for their loyalty card so that the data can be used to help identify high-risk players;
- Implement player identification algorithms. Identify high-risk players and do not offer them incentives;
- Conduct customer surveys on gambling behaviour;
- Develop an expert-reviewed framework to assess incentives and objectively determine if they pose a risk to vulnerable players.

Summary

In summary, the following key points emerged from the forum:

- Various factors may make incentives appealing to players, such as: they make the player feel important and recognized; they may appear to offset the cost of gambling (e.g., losses, travel costs); and the convenience of a host arranging the details of the trip to the venue.
- Research suggests that comps do have an effect on gambling behaviour, with possibly a more pronounced effect for players who display addictive behaviour.
- Participants felt that some incentives “cross the line” particularly: when they encourage players to over-extend themselves or stay past midnight; when hosts offer incentives to players they suspect may have a problem; when incentives target vulnerable players; when a player receives incentives after choosing to opt out; and when the casino makes personal calls to offer incentives.

- Safeguards currently in place for loyalty programs include: offering play history reports and limit setting tools; ensuring marketing materials are not sent to self-excluded players; requiring RG and/or problem gambling help information (e.g., helpline number) to be on marketing materials; providing players with RG information at the time of loyalty program registration; and reward point accrual and redemption not being exclusive to gambling activities.
- When implementing a card-based initiative, operators need to demonstrate the value to players in utilizing the RG tools, tools should be introduced gradually to facilitate player understanding, and retailer buy-in is essential. Other features of card-based initiatives mentioned were: having limit-setting tools that apply to all participating venues; and not requiring players to opt in, but rather, having the option to opt out if they so choose.
- Participants agreed that limit setting tools should be made available. Suggestions as to what extent and with which conditions varied among participants.
- Some suggestions to increase utilization of RG features were: address retailer concerns; use more positive language; create value for the players; and implement a membership renewal system for loyalty programs that includes a review of the player's play history.

CHAPTER 4: RESPONSIBLE GAMBLING BEST PRACTICES FOR PLAYER INCENTIVES

While the details vary, player incentives operate in similar ways across jurisdictions and individual gaming venues. Rewards come in the form of cash, free play, accommodation, entertainment, free or discounted services, merchandise, food and beverage and travel. Though some incentives are available to all patrons, most rewards are exclusive to members of the venue's loyalty program. For this reason, the best practices for player incentives identified in this report focus on loyalty programs.

While there is no direct evidence that incentives and loyalty programs create gambling problems, there is evidence that they can heighten problem gambling behaviours and that they have a strong appeal for some people who are at risk of, or have already developed, a gambling problem.

Concern about the appeal of incentives to people with gambling related problems has led some to call for the prohibition of loyalty programs. These observers argue that incentives, bonuses and loyalty rewards act as powerful drivers for vulnerable patrons by encouraging them to increase their gambling when they should be cutting back or stopping altogether.

Others point to the opportunities presented by loyalty programs to be used for non-marketing purposes, such as to communicate safety information to patrons, to track behaviours, to identify potential and emerging problems ("red flag" behaviours), and to initiate actions to mitigate potential problems. Because registering for a loyalty program gives the venue the ability to communicate with the player (e.g., by email or direct mail), and provides both players and venue staff access to the player's analytics (e.g., play history including time and money spent), venues can provide better information to members than is available to players who are not members.

On balance, player loyalty programs—as long as they are not seen exclusively as a marketing tool—have some potential benefits from a player protection perspective. That assumes, however, that loyalty programs and other incentives actively build in the tools and analytics that enable increased player information and safeguards. Some opportunities identified in this project for building in these tools and analytics are presented below.

Promote Informed Decision Making

There are many opportunities to use player data to assist patrons in making informed decisions. These include:

- Beginning with the registration process itself, taking regular opportunities to provide players with information about the realistic chances of winning and losing, where to get help, and the benefits of limits setting. Also providing some of the many other safety messages associated with well-designed responsible gambling programs. Such information might be provided in any number of ways using the communication tools available to gaming providers. It would likely mean incorporating RG information in regular circulations, as well as creating some information distributions exclusively focused on RG topics.
- Providing players with accurate and easy-to-access information about the links between the amounts they spend and the rewards they earn.

- Informing players that greater rewards are related to greater spending and that it is risky to view rewards, reaching a higher tier, or receiving greater staff attention as a status symbol or a measure of greater self-worth.
- Providing loyalty program members with activity reports that let them know their play history over a period of time of their choosing, such as the past month or year. Make the receiving of reports the default option with the capability to choose frequency or turn off the activity.
- Providing normative feedback on their play history, using the entire database of loyalty members to calculate percentages and averages.

Ensuring Marketing Incorporates an RG Perspective

- Beyond the provision of good consumer information, there are also ways that loyalty programs and incentives can be managed in a way which reduces the risk of gambling problems. These include:
- Ensuring that any information contained in promotional communications and materials complies with existing RG guidelines for advertising and marketing, and does not imply that participating in loyalty programs or other incentives increases the player's chances of winning.
- Permitting players to have only one card for the same loyalty program membership.
- Incorporating RG information in promotional communications and materials with adequate prominence relative to other messaging.
- Having an annual renewal for loyalty program membership that gives players an opportunity to review their past-year gambling activity with gaming venue staff.
- When players register for a loyalty program, requiring them to opt in explicitly to each form of marketing communication (e.g., mail, email, phone, texts) they wish to receive.
- Once they become loyalty members, allowing players to opt out easily of some, or all, forms of marketing communication at any time.

Optimizing RG in the Earning and Redemption of Rewards

- Allowing players to earn points and rewards not just for the time and money they spend gambling, but for participating in non-gambling activities as well, both inside and outside of the gaming venue.
- Encouraging players to set personal gambling limits on their loyalty card. If players reach one of the limits they have set, have a message tell them that they have reached a limit. If players still continue to gamble, don't allow them to accrue any additional loyalty points.
- Rewarding players with (non-gambling) incentives for using the self-limiting tools.

- Allowing players to redeem their loyalty points for non-gambling rewards both inside and outside of the gaming venue (e.g., merchandise, food).
- Allowing players to participate in contests without having to be at the gaming venue when prizes are announced.
- Allowing a cooling off period after players have lost a large sum of money before offering any incentive to gamble further. Once they have left the premises, allow a reasonable amount of time to pass before offering players an incentive to return to the venue.
- Ensuring that alcohol is not used as an inducement or reward for gambling. [Note that in most Canadian provinces, complimentary alcohol service is prohibited.]

Supporting At-Risk Players and Self-Excluded People

Some players will gamble in a manner that exhibits “red flag” behaviours which suggest a potential problem and which trigger observations and responses from venue staff. These at-risk players warrant special attention from the perspective of rewards and incentives, as do self-excluded people.

Both groups would benefit from the following provisions:

AT-RISK PLAYERS

- Using loyalty card data, in combination with staff observations and other documentation, to identify red flag behaviours that may indicate a potential gambling problem.
- Putting a customer service protocol in place to identify when and how staff will take action when a loyalty member exceeds red flag thresholds for frequency of gambling, duration of sessions, average bet size, and cumulative losses.
- Having an escalating process in place to offer red-flagged players assistance, education, as well as the option of easily removing themselves from future incentives or marketing communications. (The same system would also be used for those players exhibiting red flag behaviours who are not loyalty club members.)
- Discontinuing rewards that, in order to be redeemed, require the player to be in the venue for extended periods of time—particularly if it means the player can access more cash (because, for instance, a new banking day has begun).
- Discontinuing discretionary rewards designed to promote longer stays.

SELF-EXCLUDED PEOPLE

- When players signs up for self-exclusion, immediately removing their name from all marketing contact lists.
- Paying out any unredeemed points and canceling the loyalty program membership immediately when a player self-excludes.

- Once players' self-exclusion period has ended, requiring reinstated players to reapply for loyalty club membership and to opt in explicitly to each form of marketing communication they want to receive from the venue.

In summary, there is great opportunity to use loyalty cards to promote informed decision making, as well as to reduce risk by ensuring marketing incorporates an RG perspective; optimizing RG in the earning and redemption of rewards; and having special exemptions and protocols for those identified as at-risk or who have self-excluded. Future developments in the use of loyalty cards to inform and assist those at risk will further inform best practices in the promotion of safer gambling and the prevention of problem gambling.

Subject: Proposed Self-Exclusion Rules for Review.

Dear Michelle Rancour:

On behalf of the Confederated Tribes of the Yakama Nation, we request the following sentence to be the last sentence, and added to the final page 13 of "Chapter 230-23 WAC Self-Exclusion"

(Add new last sentence to the last paragraph):

If a federally recognized Indian Tribe or tribal enterprise that own gambling operations or facilities with class III gaming compacts do voluntarily participate in the self-exclusion program, the tribal-state compacts may allow for the mutual sharing of self-exclusion lists.

The original wording currently reads as follows:

WAC 230-23-035 Sharing the self-exclusion list. We may enter into tribal-state compacts with federally recognized Indian tribes or tribal enterprises that own gambling operations or facilities with Class III gaming compacts to voluntarily participate in the self-exclusion program. The tribal-state compacts may allow for the mutual sharing of self-exclusion lists.

We do not have any further comments at this time. Thank you.

Hi Pat,

Thank you for your feedback on the self-exclusion rules.

Like most minicasinos, we only offer food and cigarettes for points. Some guests have thousands of points. It isn't feasible to give a self excluding guest $1000 in food and/or cigarettes. Can we have a written internal policy that all points are null and void the moment a player chooses to self exclude?

A statement in your internal policies and player club membership or account rules or restrictions that all points are null and void upon self-excluding is allowed.

2. WAC 230-23-030(8)(b) "... All accumulated points MAY be immediately redeemed by the participant for nongaming items as the licensee's policy allows at the licensed location..."

This section includes the key word MAY as opposed to the first case where it seems we are required to redeem all points. We prefer this wording as it allows us to limit the redemption to a maximum amount, or none at all if that is our policy.

So in both cases, can we have an internal policy limiting the amount that may be redeemed should a guest elect to self exclude?

Yes, addressing the limitations for redeeming accumulated player membership or account points can be done in your policies and your player membership or account rules and restrictions.

3. WAC 230-23-030 (8)(h) in the same rule: "All money and things of value, such as gaming chips, obtained by or owed to the participant as a result of prohibited wagers or the purchase of chips and/or participating in authorized gambling activities are confiscated under RCW 9.46.071.

Should a player gamble and not give their id or join a player's club play for several days before their identity is discovered, does the casino then have to try to discover how much the player lost during their combined visits and all of that forwarded to problem gambling, or is it just the play on the day in which the the identity was discovered that is subject to this rule? I think it's a given that some persons will attempt to play somewhere they are not known after self excluding at a different casino. Many persons are already hesitant to give their ID when gambling at all casinos. How can we know whether random guests are on the self-exclusion list? It doesn't seem right that we should be punished for the knowingly evasive actions of someone intentionally violating their own agreement.

The intent is for the HBCR licensee to confiscate all chips and/or winnings due to the self-excluded individual immediately upon discovering their identity while at the facility. If you discover their identity after they have left, there is nothing to confiscate.

4. WAC 230-23-025(3) The licensee MAY release the names and identifying information participants on the self-exclusion list to contracted service providers that provide check cashing, cash advances, marketing, automated teller machines, and other financial services.

From this wording I assume that this is not a requirement?

You are correct. It is not a requirement that you provide the list of self-excluded participants to your contractual providers that provide check cashing, cash advances, marketing, automated teller machines or other financial services. The HBCR licensee will be responsible for services accessed during their self-exclusion period if they are not notified.

Please let me know if you have further questions.

Tina Griffin

Subject: Self exclusion

External Email

Hi Ashlie,

I did not receive this email until one of my GMs sent it to me. I've completed a review and I hope I'm not submitting this too late. I'm listing my concerns below.

WAC 230-23-020

"(4) Player club memberships and accounts will be closed and all accumulated points immediately redeemed for nongaming items as the licensee's policy allows at the licensed location the participant initially enrolls for self-exclusion."

Like most minicasinos, we only offer food and cigarettes for points. Some guests have thousands of points. It isn't feasible to give a self excluding guest $1000 in food and/or cigarettes. Can we have a written internal policy that all points are null and void the moment a player chooses to self exclude?

Also and on the same topic, later under WAC 230-23-030:

(8)(b) "... All accumulated points MAY be immediately redeemed by the participant for nongaming items as the licensee's policy allows at the licensed location..."

This section includes the key word MAY as opposed to the first case where it seems we are required to redeem all points. We prefer this wording as it allows us to limit the redemption to a maximum amount, or none at all if that is our policy.

So in both cases, can we have an internal policy limiting the amount that may be redeemed should a guest elect to self exclude?

(8)(h) in the same rule: "All money and things of value, such as gaming chips, obtained by or owed to the participant as a result of prohibited wagers or the purchase of chips and/or participating in authorized gambling activities are confiscated under RCW 9.46.071.

Should a player gamble and not give their id or join a player's club play for several days before their identity is discovered, does the casino then have to try to discover how much the player lost during their combined visits and all of that forwarded to problem gambling, or is it just the play on the day in which the the identity was discovered that is subject to this rule? I think it's a given that some persons will attempt to play somewhere they are not known after self excluding at a different casino. Many persons are already hesitant to give their ID when gambling at all casinos. How can we know whether random guests are on the self-exclusion list? It doesn't seem right that we should be punished for the knowingly evasive actions of someone intentionally violating their own agreement.

Finally,

WAC 230-23-025

(3) The licensee MAY release the names and identifying information participants on the self-exclusion list to contracted service providers that provide check cashing, cash advances, marketing, automated teller machines, and other financial services.

From this wording I assume that this is not a requirement?

Thank you, and I apologize for being late. Could you please include me in all such future notices relating to gaming rules and I will try to be more timely with my input?

Regards,

Hi Ashlie,

Thanks for the opportunity to give comment on the draft self-exclusion rules for the Gambling Commission.

As the State Problem Gambling Program Mgr., I plan to raise my concerns as part of the discussion with the Gambling Commission at the meeting this Fall where these rules will be introduced for approval.

Please note: In 'cc,' I'm including Tina Griffin (Interim Director, Gambling Commission), Keri Waterland (Director, Division of Behavioral Health and Recovery/HCA) and my supervisor, Kara Panek (Manager, Adult Program and Involuntary Treatment Team) so they are also aware of my concerns.

My concerns:

A. Forfeited monies should be coming to the State PG Program only (WAC 230-23-030)—

Issue: Current language reads that forfeited funds should be sent by vendors to:

- 1) the problem gambling account created in RCW 41.05.751 (note error in draft—says 42, not 41); OR
- 2) A charitable or nonprofit organization that provides problem gambling and gambling disorder services or increases awareness about problem gambling and gambling disorder.

Recommendation: Consider changing wording to require that all forfeited funds from commercial (non-Tribal) vendors be directed to the State Problem Gambling Program.

Here my suggested wording as an example (items in red added or struck out)—submitted in comments for an earlier draft:

- a. All money and things of value, such as gaming chips, obtained by or owed to the participant as a result of prohibited wagers or the purchase of chips and/or participating in authorized gambling activities outlined in this Chapter are forfeited under RCW 9.46.071, in which the licensee will:
 1. Issue a check for the same monetary value within three business days after collecting or refusing to pay any winnings from gambling or chips in the possession of a participant on the self-exclusion list as follows

- A. For licensees subject to the state business and occupation tax for problem gambling, forfeited funds must be transferred to the problem gambling account created in RCW 41.05.751 RCW42.05.751 , and/or
- B. For Tribal venues, forfeited funds can be used for that Tribe's problem gambling program, and/or donated to a charitable or nonprofit organization that provides problem gambling services or increases awareness about problem gambling, and/or ; the state problem gambling account created by RCW 41.05.751; and

Q--Why should this change be made?

- As a unit within a state agency (Health Care Authority), the State PG Program already has contract monitoring and financial auditing as part of the established oversight for both revenue and expenditures. This way, the public can have confidence that the people's money is being used appropriately and there is a paper trail in case of concerns. There's no required auditing for funds sent to non-profits or charitable organizations.
- Leaving it open for commercial vendors to decide where they're sending the funding means that the State Problem Gambling Program will be essentially be 'vying' for this additional funding as a state agency with other non-state organizations (such as the Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling and Recovery Café). It wouldn't be appropriate for the State Program Manager to reach out and 'lobby' commercial vendors for forfeited funds, whereas non-profit organizations don't have that restriction. This creates an inequitable situation.
- Due to WAC 230-15-710, which covers a progressive jackpot game will be removed from play (due to business closure for example), licensees have several options for dispersal of any remaining jackpot prizes, including 'Donate the money to a nonprofit gambling organization in Washington State.' As a result, WSGC confirms that funds have been distributed to the Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling as recently as Fall 2020. However, the State Problem Gambling Program is not a possible recipient, so has received none of the forfeited progressive jackpot game prizes, leaving the State PG Program in a disadvantaged position. Having the State PG Program as the recipient for the self-exclusion forfeited funds would make this a more level playing field, given that the State Program provides the majority of funding for treatment not covered by private insurance or self-pay.
- With the rise of sports wagering at Tribal casinos and all the illegal (unregulated and untaxed) online gambling in our State, the State PG Program is projected to need more treatment funding—already this biennium the program has an anticipated gap in funding of $150,000 for treatment. While some argue that the Tribal casinos operating legal sports wagering will have additional funding for problem gambling services, please note that none of that funding is required to be contributed to the State PG Program. This matters because not all individuals who gamble at Tribal casinos choose to seek treatment for problem gambling at Tribal BH programs (despite being eligible for services at most), either due to geography or personal preference. As a low-barrier program, the State PG Program seeks to provide services to all eligible residents of WA State, regardless of where individuals seek treatment, and needs to be fully funded to meet these needs, especially for populations that are known to be at higher risk for problem gambling (Black/African American, Asian, Older Adults, Veterans, Youth, College-Aged, etc.).

B. Online registration for self-exclusion isn't available (WAC 230-23-010)--

Recommendation: Consider providing an online sign-up option so people can do register from the comfort of their homes (especially given the pandemic). In the draft rules, completing the process online for self-exclusion is not currently an option. An individual will be able to get the form but will then have to either 1) come in to the office in Lacey, WA or 2) download the form, print it out, get it notarized, then mail in their notarized form (any of those steps can be a barrier to completing the process). By contrast, the Pennsylvania process for registering for the state self-exclusion program can be completed entirely online by creating a log in and then uploading identifying documents.

C. In the draft rules, there appear to be NO consequences for WA State commercial vendors if they don't adhere to Licensee responsibilities per the new rules (WAC 230-23-030)—

Issue: Unlike some other states with self-exclusion programs, there are no explicitly-stated consequences to incentivize commercial vendors to follow the new self-exclusion rules (instead based on the 'honor system'). For example, if it's discovered that a commercial card room has allowed an individual to gamble at their facility despite that person being on the State self-exclusion list, will there be a fine? Or if an employee disburses the self-exclusion list to an unauthorized party? In order for vendors to recognize that they need to train staff and hold them to these rules, I believe that Recommendation: The Gambling Commission should consider including language about how non-Tribal venues will be held responsible, such as a fine and/or additional consequences when they are re-licensed. (example: '\$5,000 Fine Levied Against PA Casino for Self-Exclusion Violation')

Thanks for considering my recommendations.

Subject: Draft self-exclusion rules

Good afternoon,

Attached you will find draft self-exclusion rules for your review. Please provide feedback to me at ashlie.laydon@wsgc.wa.gov by noon on Monday, August 16, 2021.

Along with the draft rules, you will find a draft small business economic impact statement (SBEIS). To comply with the Regulatory Fairness Act, a state agency must determine whether proposed rules will impose more than “minor” costs. “Minor cost” is defined in RCW 19.85.020\(2\). A minimum of $100 of costs triggers the completion of an SBEIS. Feedback on the draft SBEIS would also be appreciated by noon on Monday, August 16, 2021.

Please contact me via email if you have any questions.

Subject: Suquamish Tribe Comment on proposed Self-Exclusion Regulations WAC-230-23
Date: Wednesday, August 11, 2021 3:20:02 PM

External Email

Dear WSGC:

On behalf of the Suquamish Tribe of the Port Madison Indian Reservation, I submit the following comment on the proposed WAC-230-23 Self Exclusion.

In proposed section WAC-230-23-035, we suggest the removal of all references to the word 'compact' and instead use the word 'agreement'. The word compact unnecessarily will likely trigger IGRA and corresponding federal regulations and BIA approval. It also may unnecessarily require a long, tedious compact negotiation for a relatively minor cooperative information sharing. This could discourage tribes from engaging in the state system.

Instead, allowing for "agreements" with tribes for participation in the state system will be more straightforward and not implicate IGRA. WSGC and tribal gaming regulatory agencies regularly enter into MOUs covering relatively minor matters. Self-exclusion information sharing seems to meet this low threshold for MOU-type agreements.

Moreover, if an individual tribe did want to use the compacting process to negotiate that tribe's engagement in the state system, nothing would prohibit that tribe and the State from doing so. As the section is currently written, however, WSGC would only be permitted to engage tribes in the system through compacting.

The Suquamish Tribe takes problem gambling very seriously, and Chairman Forsman has been actively engaged in problem gambling with WSGC for some time. The Suquamish Tribe, therefore, seeks a statewide self-exclusion program that easily facilitates the Tribes' engagement.

Mr. Laydon,

I would not be in favor of the self-exclusion rules unless they applied equally to commercial cardrooms and Tribal Casinos.

Small Business Economic Impact Statement

Chapter 230-23 WAC

Rules Concerning
Implementation of a Statewide Self-
Exclusion Program

August 6, 2021

SECTION 1:

Describe the proposed rule, including: a brief history of the issue; an explanation of why the proposed rule is needed; and a brief description of the probable compliance requirements and the kinds of professional services that a small business is likely to need in order to comply with the proposed rule.

The legislature recognizes that some individuals in this state have a gambling problem or gambling disorder. Because the state promotes and regulates gambling through the activities of the state lottery commission, the Washington horse racing commission, and the Washington state gambling commission, the state has the responsibility to continue to provide resources for the support of services for gambling disorders (RCW 9.46.071).

Currently, each house-banked card room licensee is required by RCW 9.46.071(1)(b) to post informational gambling disorder signs including a toll-free hotline number for individuals with a gambling disorder. Additionally, several house-banked card room licensees operate their own in-house self-exclusion programs.

On April 30, 2020, Governor Inslee signed HB 1302, which charges the Gambling Commission with developing rules for a centralized, statewide self-exclusion program. HB 1302 also requires a process for all federally recognized Indian tribes or tribal enterprises that own gambling operations or facilities with Class III gaming compacts to voluntarily participate in the self-exclusion program.

Research suggests that self-exclusion programs allowing individuals to exclude themselves from multiple gambling locations using a single process have a higher rate of success. A centralized, statewide program administered by the Commission, rather than the existing individual operator-level approach, will be more accessible to individuals with gambling disorders and allow them to exclude themselves from multiple facilities without having to enter multiple facilities.

The proposed chapter, Chapter 230-23 WAC, Self-exclusion, creates a program that will allow an individual to voluntarily request to be self-excluded from each house-banked card room licensee and participating tribal gaming facility at a single location rather than having to go to each location to enroll in an individual program like they are currently doing.

In order to comply with the new chapter, house-banked card room game licensees will need to transition from their individual operator-level programs to the centralized, statewide program administered by the Gambling Commission. This will entail:

- (1) Making the Self-Exclusion Request Form, developed and provided by the Gambling Commission, available to all patrons.
- (2) Accepting forms from individuals interested in enrolling in the program, including:
 - (a) Reviewing forms for completeness,
 - (b) Verifying the individual's identity either with a driver's license or other acceptable valid form of identification,
 - (c) Verifying the individual has selected a period of time of enrollment for the self-exclusion program, and

- (d) Verifying the individual has signed the form, and
 - (e) Taking a photograph of the individual, showing only their head and shoulders, to submit with the Self-Exclusion Request Form.
- (3) Forwarding the completed form to the Gambling Commission within 72 hours of receiving it either by email, regular mail, or fax.
- (4) Providing the individual with information and resources for treatment of gambling disorders upon enrollment.
- (5) Designating an employee(s) to be the contact person for the purposes of the self-exclusion program, including:
- (a) Receipt and maintenance of the self-exclusion list. This includes retrieving an updated list from Secure Access Washington (SAW) within 48 hours of receiving notification from us that an updated list exists;
 - (b) Submitting self-exclusion procedures to the Gambling Commission, and
 - (c) Communicating with the Gambling Commission in regard to the self-exclusion program.
- (6) Taking steps to remove individuals who breach their enrollment in the self-exclusion program by entering a house-banked card room upon discovery, including:
- (a) Immediately removing the individual from the premises,
 - (b) Confiscating all money and things of value, such as gaming chips, obtained or owed to the individual as a result of prohibited wagers, and
 - (c) Notifying the Gambling Commission of the breach within 72 hours.
- (7) Training all new employees within 3 days of hire, and annually retraining all employees who directly interact with gaming patrons on:
- (a) Information concerning the nature of problem gambling,
 - (b) Procedures for requesting self-exclusion, and
 - (c) How to assist patrons in obtaining information about gambling disorder treatment programs.
- (8) Notifying individuals already participating in existing operator-level programs that the centralized, statewide self-exclusion program exists within 3 days of the effective date of Chapter 230-23 WAC, including:
- (a) Making the Self-Exclusion Request Form available to them, and
 - (b) Providing information on how they can participate.
- (9) Establishing procedures for our review and approval, including:
- (a) Utilizing player tracking systems and all other electronic means, including checking all taxable patron winnings against the self-exclusion list, to assist in determining whether or not an individual who is enrolled in the program has engaged in gambling activities,
 - (b) Closing player club memberships and/or accounts for individuals enrolled in the program,

(c) Denying check cashing privileges, player club memberships, complementary goods and services, and similar privileges and/or benefits to individuals enrolled in the program,

(d) Ensuring individuals enrolled in the program do not receive targeted mailings, telemarketing promotions, player club materials, or any other promotional materials related to gaming,

(e) Verifying patrons who win jackpot prizes are not individuals enrolled in the program before paying out prizes,

(f) Ensuring individuals enrolled in the program are not gambling at their establishment,

(g) Ensuring the confidentiality of individuals enrolled in the program, and

(h) Collecting moneys or things of value obtained or owed to individuals enrolled in the program as a result of participating in a gambling activity, including:

(i) Issuing a check for the same monetary value obtained or owed within 3 business days to either the problem gambling account created in RCW 41.05.751 and/or a charitable or nonprofit organization that provides services or increases awareness about gambling disorders, and

(ii) Documenting and retaining for one year:

(A) Any surveillance evidence identifying the date, time, and amount of money or things of value confiscated, the name and identity verification of the individual enrolled in the program, and

(B) A copy of the canceled check remitting the confiscated funds.

Licensees will likely make the transition to the statewide self-exclusion program using existing staff and resources and are unlikely to contract with any professional services in order to comply with the proposed rules.

SECTION 2:

Identify which businesses are required to comply with the proposed rule using the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) codes and what the minor cost thresholds are.

Table A: Calculation of Minor Cost Thresholds.

NAICS Code	NAICS Business Description	# of businesses in WA*	Minor Cost Threshold = 1% of Average Annual Payroll	Minor Cost Threshold = .3% of Average Annual Receipts
713210	Casinos; except casino hotels	4	$51,811.19	$29,565.63
713290	Other gambling industries	39	$33,690.22	$10,126.91

*Number taken from 2018 Washington State Employment Security Department

(<https://esd.wa.gov/labormarketinfo/report-library>)

NAICS Code Descriptions:

713210- Casinos; except casino hotels: This industry comprises establishments primarily engaged in operating gambling facilities that offer table wagering games along with other gambling activities, such as slot machines, sports betting, and off-track betting. These establishments often provide food and beverage services.

713290- Other gambling industries: This industry comprises establishments primarily engaged in operating gambling facilities (except casinos or casino hotels) or providing gambling services. This industry includes card rooms.

NAICS Code Descriptions were obtained from the NAICS Association. NAICS Code 713210 includes house-banked card rooms that offer off-track betting, which explains why average annual payroll and average annual receipts are higher than NAICS Code 713290 which includes all the other house-banked card rooms in the state, which do not offer off-track betting.

This new chapter, chapter 230-23 WAC, will apply to all house-banked card rooms licensed in the state of Washington, to conduct gambling activities. Currently, there are 43 house-banked card rooms licensed with the Gambling Commission. "Minor cost" is defined in RCW 19.85.020(2) as a cost per business that is less than one percent of annual payroll or the greater of either 0.3 percent of annual revenue or $100. For the purposes of this small business economic impact statement, the NAICS code 713290 data will be used as this code represents the majority of house-banked card rooms in the state (those that do not offer off-track betting). Therefore, the minor cost threshold to be used will be between $10,126.91 and $33,690.22.

Analyze the probable cost of compliance. Identify the probable costs to comply with the proposed rule, including: cost of equipment, supplies, labor, professional services and increased administrative costs; and whether compliance with the proposed rule will cause businesses to lose sales or revenue.

This new chapter, chapter 230-23 WAC, will allow an individual to voluntarily request to be self-excluded from each house-banked card room licensee and participating tribal gaming facility at a single location. Outlined below is the probable cost incurred by house-banked card room licensees to comply with the requirements of the new chapter.

An individual interested in enrolling in the program can do so by completing a Self-Exclusion Request Form and submitting it to either a house-banked card room licensee or to the Gambling Commission. The Self-Exclusion Request Form will be made available on the Gambling Commission's website. House-banked card room licensees will be responsible for printing off forms for individuals interested in enrolling the program. It is assumed that each licensee has a computer, printer, and internet access available to them as this is a common business practice. The cost of paper has been estimated at $10.69 per ream.

Each licensee will be responsible for mailing a copy of the Self-Exclusion Request Form to individuals already enrolled in operator-level self-exclusion programs. As of December 2019, there were 1,118 individuals enrolled in self-exclusion programs around the state. Self-Exclusion Request Forms can be sent via regular mail. The cost of a stamp to mail an envelope via regular mail is $0.55. The cost of envelopes has been estimated at $9.19 per box of 100 and paper at $10.69 per ream. It can be assumed that each licensee will have to purchase paper, envelopes, and stamps. As of July 2021, there were 43 house-banked card room licensees. The total cost to comply with this section of the chapter will cost at least $1,469.74. This cost will be shared amongst licensees, but disproportionately, as some licensees may have more individuals enrolled in operator-level programs than others.

Individuals interested in enrolling in the self-exclusion program may submit Self-Exclusion Request Forms to any house-banked card room. Licensees will be responsible for reviewing forms submitted to their establishment for completeness, verifying proof of identity, verifying the period of enrollment, and verifying the signature of the individual wishing to enroll in the program. Licensees will also be required to take a photograph of the individual, showing only their head and shoulders, to submit with the Self-Exclusion Request Form. Exceptions will be made if the individual submits a photograph with their Self-Exclusion Request Form, similar to that of a passport headshot. Licensees will have 72 hours to forward completed forms to the Gambling Commission. This can be done by way of regular mail, email, or fax. It is estimated that reviewing the Self-Exclusion Request Form for completeness, verifying the identity of the individual, and taking their photograph will take one employee 10-15 minutes to complete. An hourly wage of $16.69 was used to account for the highest minimum wage in the state, therefore, the estimated cost of one employee to process a Self-Exclusion Request Form will cost a minimum of $4.18 per form. It is assumed that every licensee has access to a camera to take a photograph of the individual, showing only their head and shoulders, as this may be done using a camera on a cellular phone, a digital camera, or a webcam. A cost of a stamp and envelope will be incurred if the form needs to be mailed, but the licensee may also scan and email a copy of the form, or fax it.

Licensees will be required to provide information and resources to individuals on treatment of gambling disorders, however, they are already doing this, so there is no anticipated cost associated with this requirement.

Each house-banked card room licensee will be responsible for developing procedures on how they plan to implement the self-exclusion program at their establishment and designating at least one employee to be the contact person for purposes of the self-exclusion program. The designated contact person will be responsible for receiving information regarding and maintaining the self-exclusion list, submitting the licensee's self-exclusion procedures to the Gambling Commission, and being the point-person for all communication with the Gambling Commission regarding the program. The Gambling Commission will develop a template for licensees to reference when developing procedures on implementing the self-exclusion program at their establishment. This will keep costs low and procedures consistent amongst licensees. Staff time to develop procedures consistent with the provided template is estimated to take 4-8 hours and will likely be developed by a higher-level position at the house-banked card room, such as a General Manager, so a rate of $48 per hour was used, resulting in a maximum amount of $384.00. It is assumed that the designated contact person will not be a full-time position, rather these duties will likely be incorporated into an existing position, and are estimated to require 1-2 hours per week, and cost a minimum of $33.38.

Costs associated with implementing the procedures themselves are expected to be relatively low. Licensees will be responsible for ensuring the confidentiality of individuals enrolled in the self-exclusion program, ensuring that those individuals are not gambling at their establishments, and finally, ensuring that they are not marketing to individuals enrolled in the self-exclusion program.

It is not anticipated that ensuring confidentiality of individuals on the self-exclusion list will impose any costs to licensees. Once the Self-Exclusion Request Form is submitted to the Gambling Commission, individuals will be placed on the list for the period of enrollment they've selected, and it will be the responsibility of the designated contact person to maintain the list for each licensee. The manner in which the list is maintained will be determined by each licensee.

Ensuring individuals enrolled in the self-exclusion program do not gamble at licensed establishments will be accomplished in a number of ways including checking I.D.'s at the door, utilizing player tracking systems and other electronic means, comparing all taxable patron winnings with the self-exclusion list, and verifying identification prior to paying out jackpot prizes. Many licensees are already checking I.D.'s at the door to verify age, as this is common business practice. There may be a minimal cost associated with cross-referencing the name on an I.D. with the self-exclusion list. It is estimated this verification would take one employee less than 5 minutes to complete and therefore would have minimal costs associated with it. A majority of licensees (71%) use ABS Business Data, LLC's Sonoma player-tracking system. This system allows licensees to maintain customer information and create loyalty rewards programs, including sending emails and SMS messaging. For those licensees using Sonoma, or a similar system, it should be relatively easy to flag any individual with a player-tracking card who enrolls in the self-exclusion program by updating their customer information. If an individual comes into the establishment and participates in gambling using their player-tracking card, the licensee will be aware. It is estimated that updating player-tracking information in a system such as Sonoma will take one employee 10-15 minutes, or $4.18 per individual.

Taxable patron winnings, or at least $600 and three hundred times the amount of the wager, are required to be reported to the IRS. Before these winnings can be claimed, patrons must fill out tax documents. It is estimated that it will require one employee less than 5 minutes to check the patrons name against the self-exclusion list while they complete the tax documents to claim their winnings, and therefore will have minimal costs associated with it.

Employees who work in the cage, or depending on the amount of prize, employees who work on the floor, will be responsible for confirming that patrons who win jackpot prizes are not enrolled in the program. This can be achieved by comparing the identification of all jackpot prize winners with those on the self-exclusion list prior to paying out prizes. This verification method is estimated to add less than 5 minutes on to an employee's time, and therefore will have minimal costs associated with it.

If an individual enrolled in the program breaches their enrollment, the licensee must immediately remove the individual from the premises upon discovery, confiscate all money and things of value obtained or owed to the individual as a result of prohibited wagers, and notify the Gambling Commission within 72 hours of the breach. There is no anticipated cost associated with removing individuals from the premises as this is already a practice that licensees have in place, however confiscating winnings is a new practice and will require training appropriate staff. This will require licensees to develop training materials which is estimated to take 2-4 hours and will likely be developed by a higher-level position at the house-banked card room, such as a General Manager, so a rate of $48 per hour was used, resulting in a maximum of $192. Training of appropriate staff can be incorporated into the overall training of the self-exclusion program which is calculated later in this document.

Upon confiscating all money and things of value obtained or owed to the enrolled individual, the licensee must issue a check for the same monetary value within 3 business days to either the problem gambling account created in RCW 41.05.751 and/or a charitable or nonprofit organization that provides services or increases awareness about gambling disorders. There are no anticipated costs for issuing confiscated winnings as required by statute.

Surveillance evidence of the breach identifying the date, time, amount of money or things of value confiscated, the name and identity verification of the individual enrolled in the program, and a copy of the canceled check remitting the confiscated funds must be retained for one year. This information may be stored electronically or via hard copy therefore the anticipated costs may vary.

Licensees will be required to deny check cashing privileges, close player club memberships and/or other accounts for individuals enrolled in the self-exclusion program, and remove these individuals from mailing lists to ensure they no longer receive targeted mailings. Employees who work in the cage will be responsible for denying check cashing privileges to individuals enrolled in the self-exclusion program. This can be achieved by comparing the identification of those wishing to cash checks with those on the self-exclusion list. This verification method is estimated to add less than 5 minutes on to an employee's time, and therefore will have minimal costs associated with it.

According to ABS Business Data, LLC, most licensees (71%) are using Sonoma player-tracking system software. This system allows the licensee to update customer information and communicate directly with customers through email and SMS messaging, therefore it should be relatively easy to update the customer information to include that the individual is enrolled in the self-exclusion program and to disable email and SMS messaging. It is estimated this will take one employee 10-15 minutes to complete, or $4.18 per individual. There is no cost associated with denying individuals enrolled in the self-exclusion program player club memberships, complimentary good and/or services, or any other privileges or benefits. If anything, denying complimentary goods and services may save licensees money.

House-banked card room licensees will be responsible for training all new employees within 3 days of hire and annually retraining all employees who directly interact with individuals who are gambling on information concerning the nature of gambling disorders, the procedures for individuals to request to be enrolled in the self-exclusion program, and on how to assist individuals in obtaining information about gambling disorder treatment programs. There are currently 4,096 persons employed at licensed house-banked card rooms. It is unlikely that all of these persons directly interact with individuals who are gambling, however, if all were to participate in a 4-hour training, it is estimated to cost a minimum of $273,448.96. This cost would be divided amongst 43 licensed house-banked card rooms, disproportionately, as some have more employees than others. The cost to train each employee would cost a minimum of $66.76. Averaging the amount of card room employees who were licensed between January and July 2021, it is estimated that 42 card room employees are hired every month, or just under 1 per licensed house-banked card room, therefore the cost of training new employees would be a minimum of $66.76.

The proposed rules may result in a reduction of sales and/or revenue to house-banked card room licensees as individuals with gambling disorders will no longer be participating in gambling activities once enrolled in the self-exclusion program, however that is the purpose of the program and meets the intent of the law.

TOTAL MONTHLY COST:	~ $1,693.49/licensee*

*Calculated based on 100 individuals enrolling per month

SECTION 4:

Analyze whether the proposed rule may impose more than minor costs on businesses in the industry.

The minor cost threshold was found to be between $10,126.91 and $33,690.22. The cost for house-banked card room licensees to comply with the new chapter, chapter 230-23 WAC, is initially $6,969.46 with a monthly implementation of $1,693.49, based on 100 individuals enrolling every month, therefore compliance with the new chapter will not impose more than minor costs.

Initial costs are much higher than implementing the program thereafter. Initial costs will be dependent upon how many individuals on existing operator-level programs a licensee is required to notify and how many employees a licensee must train. Implementation thereafter will be dependent upon how many individuals enroll at a licensee's establishment. The implementation costs were calculated upon 100 individuals enrolling per month; however, it is unlikely that 100 individuals will enroll at every licensed house-banked card room every month. The total costs and the total implementation costs are likely to be much lower for most licensees.

Determine whether the proposed rule may have a disproportionate impact on small businesses as compared to the 10 percent of businesses that are the largest businesses required to comply with the proposed rule.

There are currently 43 house-banked card room licensees that will be required to comply with this new chapter, chapter 230-23 WAC. The Self-Exclusion Request Form will be made available on the Gambling Commission's website. Individuals interested in enrolling in the program have the option to return it directly to the Gambling Commission. However, they also have the opportunity to submit it to any house-banked card room licensee, therefore, costs may vary between licensees as some licensees may receive more forms than others and therefore accrue more costs than others.

Licensees are responsible for mailing the Self-Exclusion Request Form to individuals enrolled in operator-level programs. This will have a disproportionate impact as some licensees may have a larger number of individuals enrolled in an existing program than others, while some may not be operating a self-exclusion program at all and therefore not be required to notify anyone.

Over a third of the house-banked card room licensees (41%) are under the same ownership, which depending on how they choose to develop and implement procedures, could vastly reduce costs for the licensees under that ownership. This would disproportionately impact those licensees not included under this ownership as they would have to independently develop their own procedures for implementation of the program. For this reason, the Gambling Commission will be providing all licensees with a template for implementation of the self-exclusion program in an effort to reduce costs and maintain consistency across the state.

A majority of house-banked card room licensees (71%) utilize the Sonoma player-tracking system which may reduce implementation costs and help identify breaches, however it may be unlikely that an individual enrolled in the self-exclusion program would utilize their player-tracking card if choosing to participate in gambling activities while enrolled in the program. This could disproportionately impact those licensees who do not have a player-tracking system; however, a system is not necessary to implement the program.

Labor costs also vary between licensees so implementation of the program on the westside of the state may cost more than on the eastside of the state, for example.

SECTION 6:

If the proposed rule has a disproportionate impact on small businesses, identify the steps taken to reduce the costs of the rule on small businesses. If the costs can not be reduced provide a clear explanation of why.

The Self-Exclusion Request Form will be made available on the Gambling Commission's website and may be submitted directly to the Gambling Commission by any individual that is interested in enrolling the program. If an individual does submit a form to a licensee, the licensee has several options available to them for forwarding that information to the Gambling Commission, who is ultimately responsible for maintaining the database and distributing information to all licensees.

As stated in Section 5, over a third of house-banked card room licensees (41%) are under the same ownership, which depending on how they choose to develop and implement procedures, could vastly reduce costs for the licensees under that ownership. This could disproportionately impact those licensees not included under this ownership as they would have to independently develop their own procedures for implementation of the program. For this reason, the Gambling Commission will be providing all licensees with a template for implementation of the self-exclusion program in an effort to reduce costs and maintain consistency across the state.

SECTION 7:

Describe how small businesses were involved in the development of the proposed rule.

A representative from the house-banked card room industry was involved in the initial drafting of this chapter. Additionally, licensees with existing operator-level self-exclusion programs submitted those programs to the Gambling Commission to provide examples of what already exists in order to create an easy transition to the implementation of a centralized, statewide self-exclusion program.

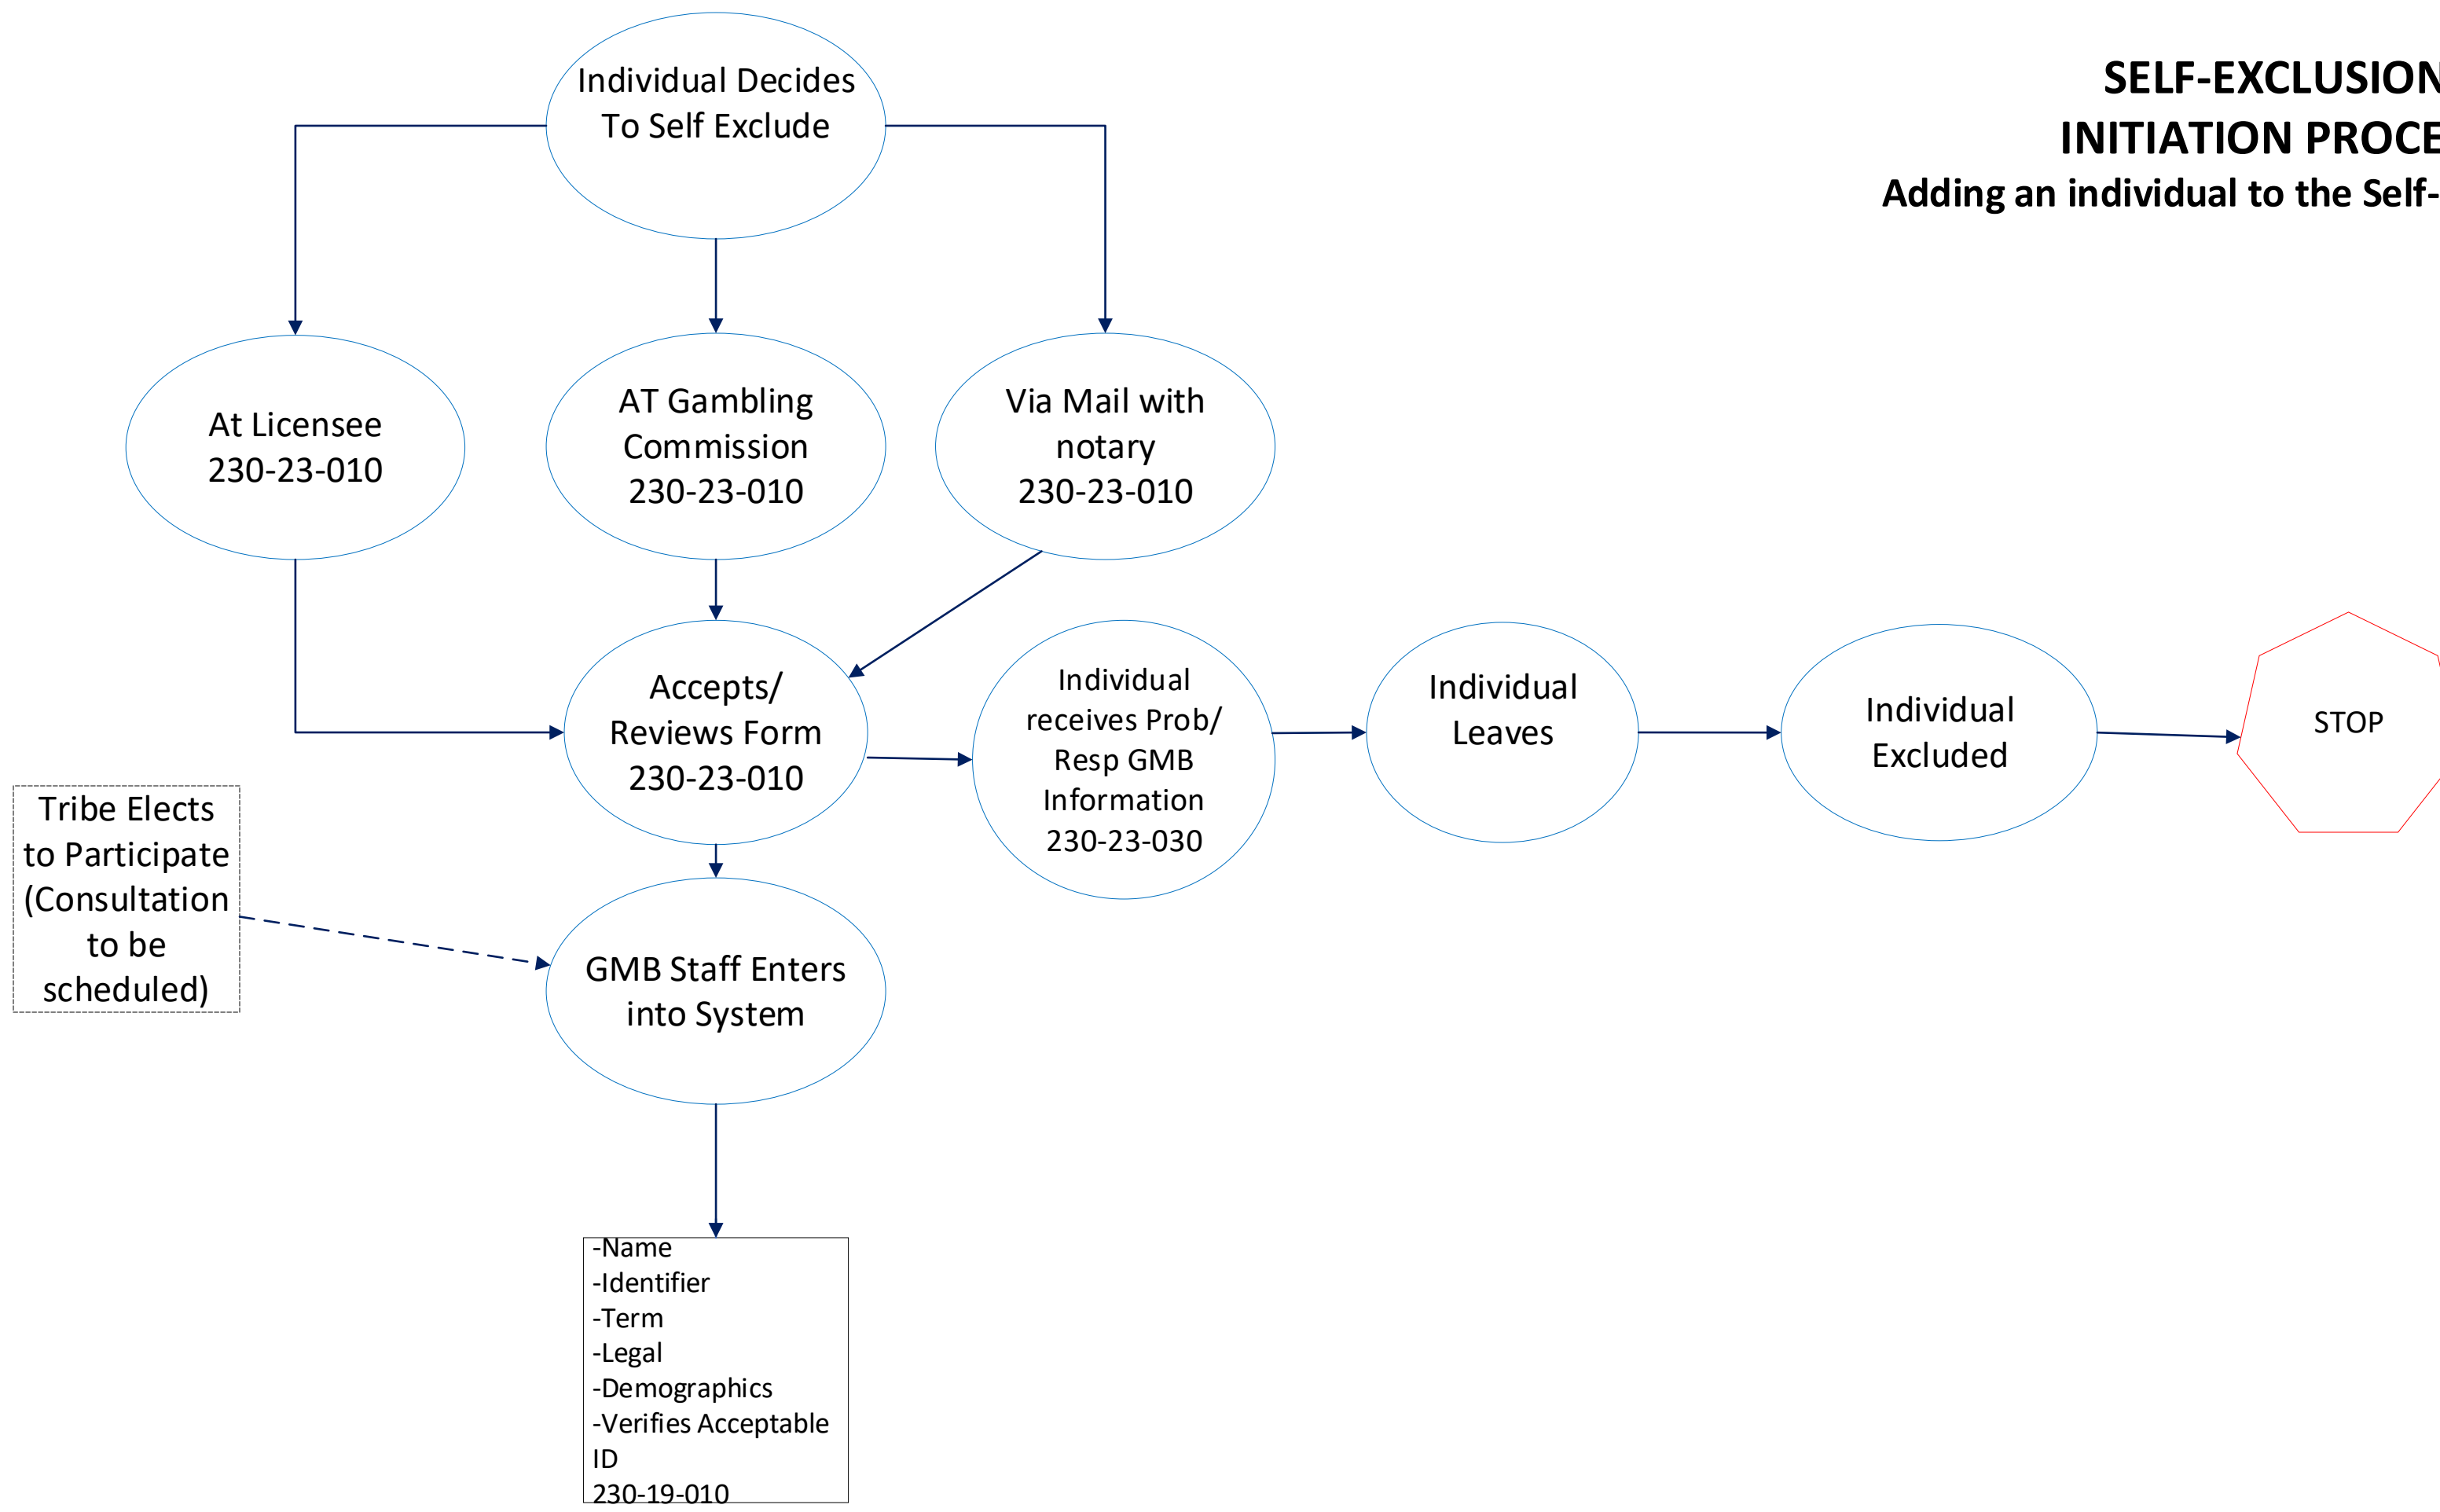

Draft rules were sent out to all house-banked card room licensees for review and feedback on May 3, 2021. Feedback received was reviewed by staff and incorporated accordingly.

SECTION 8:

Identify the estimated number of jobs that will be created or lost as the result of compliance with the proposed rule.

It is unlikely that any jobs will be created as a result of the adoption of this new chapter, chapter 230-23 WAC. The role of a "designated contact person" to maintain the self-exclusion list for each house-banked card room licensee is likely to be incorporated into an existing position. No jobs will be lost as a result of the adoption of this new chapter.

Hello Mr. Chaney and Ms. Tomaro,

The Washington State Gambling Commission is in the process of finalizing rules to implement a state-wide self-exclusion program as required by RCW 9.46.071. This program will allow an individual to voluntarily exclude themselves from licensed establishments in the state of Washington with a single application. We are seeking your input on two aspects of the proposed rules and process, which will involve Certified Gambling Counselors and treatment facilities.

It is my understanding that Certified Gambling Counselors are regulated by each of your respective departments - Ms. Tomaro under the facilities licensed by DOH as outlined WAC 246-341-0754 and WAC 246-341-0515 and Mr. Chaney for the underlying credentials they hold. All problem gambling and gambling disorder treatment services are provided by Certified Gambling Counselors as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754 and WAC 246-341-0515. In addition, the Certified Gambling Counselors must also be credentialed by DOH, usually as mental health counselors, substance abuse counselors and social workers.

Given your expertise with the licensed facilities and credentialed individuals, we would appreciate your feedback on the following:

- Any concerns in having a Certified Gambling Counselor attest to the identity of an individual seeking to be placed on the self-exclusion list by signing the registration form? This attestation would be in place of a notary. The Certified Gambling Counselor would be required to provide their name, the name of the treatment facility they are associated with, their credential number, and date of expiration.
- Any concerns regarding a Certified Gambling Counselor testifying at an administrative hearing to verify their signature, in which they verified the identity of the individual, on the enrollment form if the individual contests the self-exclusion?

Enclosed is a copy of draft rule language for your review. WAC 230-23-010 identifies the application process.

We would appreciate your feedback as soon as possible. Thank you for your time and assistance.

Sincerely,

Tina Griffin

Overall, this is very well-written. I applaud your effort. I have had a chance to review the attached documents. Here are some of my thoughts:

- I would suggest no automatic reinstatement after self-exclusion and that only lifetime bans be offered, however with the option of seeking reinstatement after 1 year.
- I would be open to supporting my clients to ban themselves so that they don't have to mail in an application or do so at the gambling commission office.
- I would also support making it possible for someone to ban themselves online.
- I am also curious as to whether it's possible for someone to ban themselves from sports gambling now that it is becoming legal in the state.

This proposal sounds very good to me. I believe that counselors would provide a reliable source of recommendation/verification. And I like the tiered approach to self-exclusion. Beyond this, I don't have further suggestions.

Hi Tina,

I think this definition looks good but I do think that the Evergreen Council should also look at it briefly (Maureen Greeley and/or Tana Russell).

Sometimes they catch things I don't in defining the work that the CGC's do, as they administer the training & certification program and staff the Certification Committee.

Would you like me to pass it along to them? Or do you want to reach out directly? If you do, please say I looked at it and said it's fine from my point of view.

One question—is the next public meeting on 10/14 going to include a revised version of the self-exclusion rules for the Commissioners to review and for the public to give feedback on? I just want to make sure I'm there if that's being covered.

Finally, thank you so very much for presenting yesterday at the PGTF meeting—sorry your time was a bit truncated, but I certainly appreciated the info.

And thanks for including me in this process, Tina.

Hello Roxanne,

We are drafting a definition of Certified Gambling Counselor to include in our self-exclusion rules package. I drafted it based on the information you provided us last month, which was very helpful.

Can you please take a look at the below draft definition and provide feedback by the end of the week? The quick turnaround is because we need to get the packet out soon for the upcoming meeting.

“Certified Gambling Counselor” means problem gambling and gambling disorder treatment providers who:

- (a) Are credentialed by the Department of Health as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754; or
- (b) Provide counseling under a Tribal Attestation in lieu of state requirements for behavior health credentials.

Hi All,

Tana, that's for jumping in to clarify—I knew ECPG would be able to clarify this language.

Apologies for the length of my replies—Tina, I know we all want to get this right for you the first time.

Tina, just to clarify—DOH does do all the BH agency & individual licensures. In order to become a Certified Gambling Counselor, you must already be a licensed mental health counselor or substance use disorder professional--THEN you can enter the certification program with Evergreen Council on PG or you can go through the International Board for certification.

Here's my suggested language:

'Certified Gambling Counselor' means a licensed mental health provider or licensed substance use disorder professional who is certified by the Washington State Gambling Certification Committee or the International Gambling Counselor Certification Board as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754.'

- In my opinion, you don't need to say anything about RCW 18.19 or the others because all the individual requirements are either in WAC 246-341 or refer back to those RCWs as needed. Also, RCW 18.19 does have some certifications, but not the Certified Gambling Counselor (CGC)—I've been in on-going discussion with DOH about this and we may be able to get this fixed in the future, but for now it's only described in WAC 246-341-0754.
- The gambling counselors aren't credentialed for problem gambling, they're certified. Small but important distinction. The CGC certification is an 'add-on' after licensure.
- Tribal attestation if for agencies, not individuals. In order to offer problem gambling treatment, all non-Tribal WA State behavioral health agencies that want to offer pg treatment have to be certified as problem gambling agencies by DOH. The agency requirements are in WAC 246-341-0754--the main requirement is that an agency must have a Certified Gambling Counselor in good standing on staff. Tribal Attestation would allow Tribal BH agencies to not have to fulfill requirements of the WAC in order to offer services.
- Since the description of 'in training' for Certified Gambling Counselor is determined by the Certification Committee and isn't in WAC, I suggest we leave that off.

I hope this helps?

(a) Are credentialed by the Department of Health as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754; or
(b) Provide counseling under a Tribal Attestation in lieu of state requirements for behavior health credentials.

On (a): DOH does provides agency licensure, but does not provide the individual provider certification. Providers in WA obtain their Gambling Counselor Certification credential either through the Washington State Gambling Counselor Certification Committee (WSGCCC) or the International Gambling Counselor Certification Board (IGCCB). The WAC 246-341-0754 language on this is rather wordy, listing several of the major certification requirements (see attachment, page 1 , (2) a-b, for reference), so for something simplified I might suggest:

If you want to include clinicians who are able to sign as 'notaries' for the forms that are 1) employed by a Tribe that's using Tribal attestation and 2) offers pg services without have a Certified Gambling Counselor, then I think you could go this way:

'Problem gambling treatment counselor' means:

- 1) a 'Certified Gambling Counselor' that is certified by the Washington State Gambling Counselor Certification Committee or the International Gambling Counselor Certification Board as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754; or
- 2) a clinician providing problem gambling treatment that is employed by a Tribal Behavioral Health Agency that has submitted a Tribal Attestation to offer problem gambling treatment in lieu of state requirements for Certified Gambling Counselor.

I think you need to leave off Tribal attestation. That is for agencies only—an individual cannot request via the Tribal attestation process.

We don't want to inadvertently say that a 'Certified Gambling Counselor' can be created via the Tribal attestation process—that's not correct.

Tribal attestation only means that a Tribe can do what it wants within the bounds of the Tribal attestation process (which includes offering treatment for problem gambling without a Certified Gambling Counselor).

Here's info on Tribal Attestation: Tribal Attestation

Overall, this is very well-written. I applaud your effort. I have had a chance to review the attached documents. Here are some of my thoughts:

- I would suggest no automatic reinstatement after self-exclusion and that only lifetime bans be offered, however with the option of seeking reinstatement after 1 year.
- I would be open to supporting my clients to ban themselves so that they don't have to mail in an application or do so at the gambling commission office.
- I would also support making it possible for someone to ban themselves online.
- I am also curious as to whether it's possible for someone to ban themselves from sports gambling now that it is becoming legal in the state.

I spoke up about this in the PGTF meeting on 9/29 (Tina Griffin was present), and my apologies that I'm just now getting this input back to you. I'm sure others have some valuable input as well.

I've also attached our Voluntary Self-Exclusion best practices guidelines, which summarizes the key research findings from across the country (globe, actually) on this very subject. I hope that may also be helpful?

Chapter 230-23 WAC

NEW SECTION

WAC 230-23-001 Purpose. The purpose of this chapter is to establish a centralized, statewide self-exclusion program, administered by the commission, allowing a person with a ~~gambling problem or gambling disorder~~ to voluntarily exclude themselves from licensed house-banked card rooms and participating tribal gaming facilities.

NEW SECTION

WAC 230-23-005 Definitions. The following definitions apply only to this chapter:

(1) "Licensee" means a house-banked card room licensee.

(2) "Participant" means a person who has enrolled in the voluntary self-exclusion program.

(3) "Self-exclusion list" means a list maintained by the commission of persons who have requested to be voluntarily excluded

Formatted: Strikethrough

Commented [TR1]: A. Recommend to not have this language here, it can just say..."allowing a person to voluntarily exclude..." Also, in the language on WAC 230-23-010 it states, "any person may request... ." Which is perfect.

B. A person's status as having any addiction disorder is protected by HIPAA 42CFR Part B, it is important for staff to be trained that the applicant should not have to disclose as having a "gambling problem" or "gambling disorder" or being in counseling, in order to self-exclude.

C. Alt. Example: A person who just got their kid's first college tuition bill may choose to cut back on their hobby-spending for a time, and that might include gambling. Self-exclusion is a GREAT program and is not limited in its usefulness to only those with PG/GD.

from house-banked card room licensees and participating tribal gaming facilities in the state of Washington.

(4) "Voluntary self-exclusion program" or "program" means the voluntary self-exclusion program authorized under RCW 9.46.071, and does not apply to gambling via horse-racing or lottery.

Commented [TR2]: Clarify that a Notary Public would be notarizing it, not a counselor

Commented [TR3]: It's great to give people options because notaries can be hard to find sometimes. However, a Certified Gambling Counselor is required by HIPPA to protect client confidentiality, so understand that asking a person to have a Certified Gambling Counselor sign it means they will face the following:

- 1. A choice of only about 40 counselors in the state
- 2. Must meet with them in-person
- 3. Will likely also be asked to fill-out/sign a written Release of Protected Health Information, for the counselor to have record/ documentation that the client is asking for the signature, and for what reason, and to whom it will be going.

So it's not just a simple signature. You can keep it on there, but you might want a 3rd option, such as signatures of two witnesses?

Commented [TR4R3]: Will there be a later phase for an electronic submission? There are many ways to confirm identity online, sign digitally, and take photo verification, that may be useful for this.

Commented [TR5]: Suggest add "Probation/Parole officer", or "EAP officer", if the applicant is already involved in either of those services, they would be able to verify their identity as well.

Commented [TR6]: Same: Suggest add "Probation/Parole officer", or "EAP officer", if the applicant is already involved in either of those services, they would be able to verify their identity as well.

WAC 230-23-025 Disclosure of self-exclusion information. (1)

Personal information submitted by a participant under the self-exclusion program is exempt from public disclosure under the Public Records Act and may not be disseminated for any purpose other than the administration of the self-exclusion program or as otherwise permitted by law.

(2) No house-banked card room licensee, employee, or agent thereof shall disclose the name of, or any information about any participant who has requested self-exclusion to anyone other than employees and agents of the house-banked card room licensee whose duties and functions require access to such information.

Commented [TR10]: I recommend that there needs to be a Release of Information form, or simply part of the self-exclusion application form, that allows a patron to grant permission for certain persons, such as a spouse/friend/family member, parole/probation officer, EAP officer, counselor (whomever they put down, ie. Name and relationship to signee) to be told that they have self-excluded, should they ASK. This does NOT mean the licensee has to notify that person, only that they are permitted to answer truthfully, should that person ask if the self-excluded individual has self-excluded.

If at any point after a person has self-excluded, they want to sign a release for someone to be able to get confirmation of their self-exclusion status from the licensee, they should be able to request that post-original-submission as well.

This section may need to include language such as:

"No house-banked card room licensee, employee, or agent thereof shall disclose . . . to anyone other than employees and agents of the house-banked card room licensee whose duties and functions require access to such information, [or as designated by the participant via signed release of information authorization.]"

(3) The licensee may release the names and identifying information of participants on the self-exclusion list to contracted service providers that provide check cashing, cash advances, marketing, automated teller machines, and other financial services.

(a) The identifying information must be limited to the address, driver's license or state-issued identification number, photograph, and physical description; and

(b) Only the name and identifying information may be disclosed to contracted service providers. The licensee must neither disclose the reasons for providing the name and identifying information nor disclose that the person is on the self-exclusion list; and

(c) The licensee must require by written contract that the contracted service provider implement measures designed to ensure the confidentiality of the names and identifying information and to prohibit the release of the names and identifying information to any other person or entity; and

The Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling (ECPG) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization committed to providing services and programs for those with a gambling or gaming problem/Gambling Disorder, their families, employers, students, treatment professionals, and the greater community through gambling addiction treatment support, information and education, advocacy, research, and prevention efforts. Founded in 1991, ECPG maintains a position of neutrality on gambling and gaming, recognizing that most people who gamble do so for recreation and suffer no serious problems. However, for some, gambling becomes a serious addiction, devastating to the individual and family. ECPG is the Washington State Affiliate of the National Council on Problem Gambling.

ECPG MISSION

The Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling is dedicated to increasing awareness of public health issues around problem gambling and gaming, expanding the availability and integration of services, and supporting advocacy, research, and programs for education, prevention, treatment, recovery, and responsible gambling and gaming.

Supporting the Gaming Industry's efforts to provide information and tools to reduce harms by offering Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs is an important part of ECPG's work. Our Council provides this brief overview of Best Practices and Broad Perspectives to assist Gaming Operators in developing Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs that are designed to help and empower people in getting the help they need to address their gambling problems and achieve their health goals.

INTRODUCTION

Self-exclusion is, first and foremost, a tool for individuals who believe that they have a problem with gambling and can voluntarily bar themselves from entering one or more gambling venues to help prevent their gambling behaviors. Most people report that they decided to self-exclude themselves, although family and friends may also play a role in the decision to self-exclude. Financial problems often constitute the main reason for self-exclusion and most people report that they are unable to stop gambling of their own accord. Severe financial hardship, stress caused by their gambling problems that affect their physical and mental health, desperation, and suicidal thoughts are all among the feelings shared by individuals as they contemplate signing up for Self-Exclusion Programs.

When people are considering self-exclusion, they are looking for help. Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs are important tools that the Gaming Industry can offer their guests to enhance customer service and corporate responsibility, support harm-minimization, and assist self-excluding individuals to get the help they need to address their problems and achieve their goals. Self-Exclusion programs should help and empower people, not make them feel like criminals. Here is some of the information gleaned from research that may be helpful when considering development of Self-Exclusion Programs.

Despite evidence for effectiveness, only a small proportion of individuals with gambling-related problems or Gambling Disorder ever seek treatment and support resources for their problem. Voluntary self-exclusion (VSE) programs are an ideal circumstance to engage individuals who are reluctant or have not yet sought formal treatment, given that individuals are already electing to prevent themselves from gambling through self-exclusion. (Yakovenko, I., & Hodgins, D. (2021). Effectiveness of a voluntary casino self-exclusion online self-management program. Internet Interventions 23 (2021) 100354 Elsevier B.V.)

This self-directed intervention is often the first serious attempt a person makes to control their gambling (Blaszczynski et al. 2004).

Participants in self-exclusion programs state that the program had been very helpful in regaining control of their financial affairs and overcoming relationship problems. Furthermore, many participants found the process of enrolling into the program empowering and saw it as the start of their recovery. (Croucher et al. 2006)

Benefits include participants reporting decreases in gambling expenditure and improved financial circumstances; decreases in gambling frequency and time spent gambling; reduction in problem gambling severity and negative consequences of gambling; reduction in related psychological difficulties including depression and anxiety; and feeling they have more control of their circumstances. (Gainsbury 2014)

EXPECTATIONS AND PURPOSE

For Voluntary Self-Exclusion Programs to be effective, clear information about the self-exclusion program and wide promotion of the program are both important. Casino staff and Tribal Gaming Authority/Regulators should have an effective training program for all staff who have a role in enforcing the self-exclusion program, including refresher training.

“The features and principles of a self-exclusion program should be fully understood by individuals who wish to self-exclude, employees of gaming venues, gaming venue operations, and regulatory bodies. This is essential in order to clarify expectations regarding the role and limits of all parties including legal and governmental authorities and avoid unrealistic expectations and unfair criticisms.” (Gainsbury 2014)

Some of the areas that must be covered with the guest at the time of Self-Exclusion Registration (pursuant to the Gaming Venue’s Policies and Procedures):

- Agreement not to enter gaming areas, not to play gaming machines, or not to enter the venue at all
- Authorizing Casino/Regulatory staff to stop them from entering or remaining in a gaming area or venue from which they are excluded
- Accept their personal responsibility to stay away from the venue
- Clear roles and expectations, including how compliance breaches will be managed; and how Self-Exclusion Extensions or Reinstatements are handled
- Clear description of Self-Exclusion term options – let the individual choose, do NOT lead them into any particular option
- Clear information on player cards and loyalty points (does individual have more than one player card or is registered under more than one name?)
- Cessation of promotional materials
- Winnings forfeiture policies
- Share options for support resources (treatment and recovery resources; financial management counseling; community resources)

GUEST INTERACTION AND REGISTRATION

Registration in a Voluntary Self-Exclusion Program should not be cumbersome or stigmatizing to the guest. Staff training at multiple access points is key to ensuring consistency and a professional process.

- Make registration available at multiple access points (casino, TGA and/or Corporate offices; Health Care services location; casino hotel guest services...)
- Registration should take place in a comfortable, private, friendly setting that ensures confidentiality and respects the individual (don't make them feel like a criminal or engage in stigmatizing behaviors and verbal communications – encourage the guest in making healthy gaming choices that can include self-exclusion as an individual tool to support those choices.)
- Ensure all processes and procedures are consistent regardless of where registration takes place (use the same forms; take the same type and size of picture; same staff training...)
- Staff interacting with guests during the Self-Exclusion Registration should be specially selected and trained to provide a responsive, respectful, and professional process. Trained “Ambassadors/Supervisors” should conduct meeting, explanations, and registration.
 - Do not offer the guest an opportunity to engage in “one last bet” or to “finish spending their free-play money.”
 - Self-Exclusion Registration should be handled discreetly and in a timely fashion. It is best to offer the guest a seat in a comfortable, quiet, private area. If, for any reason, the guest is asked to wait for assistance with Self-Exclusion Registration, do not offer or ask the guest to wait at a gaming machine or gaming table, or within or near the gaming floor.

SUPPORT SERVICES AND RESOURCES

Ensure that information on resources and/or actual resources are available to assist players.

- Share options for support resources (treatment and recovery resources; financial management counseling; community resources)

People using self-exclusion programs noted the following items that should be stronger: Many gamblers felt that the programs did not provide them with sufficient resources on problem gambling treatment and support during the ban period; that the detection process was not strong enough; the program was not well advertised; and they should be able to renew a self-exclusion agreement without going back to the casino (Ladouceur et al. 2000).

All self-exclusion participants' names must be removed from marketing lists and participants should be made aware that any winnings during the self-exclusion period (indicating the individual has breached the self-exclusion agreement) will be forfeited and made available to a Tribal or nonprofit organization that supports prevention/awareness, treatment, and recovery support for those affected by problem gambling.

SELF-EXCLUSION PERIOD/TERM OPTIONS

(No Early Reinstatement Options)

Periods of self-exclusion in gaming venues across the world vary substantially. But most often options range from 6 months to irrevocable lifetime bans.

Almost all research indicates that it is best to offer a range of exclusion time periods. ECPG recommends a minimum of 1 year to allow individuals sufficient time to enter treatment if desired. Longer bans may be more effective, and ECPG recommends offering the Lifetime (irrevocable) option for those who might choose it. Offer one or two other interim options (2 years and/or 3 years) that are not Lifetime so that individuals have choices that do not deter them from registering for the self-exclusion program when only a Lifetime exclusion is offered. “In general, most participants felt that longer bans were better because they felt that most gamblers with problems do not realize how serious their problems are at the time of self-exclusion. Most participants recommended a minimum ban length of one year because they felt that shorter bans were easy to wait-out and did not provide enough time for people who had self-excluded to stabilize and develop healthier behaviours.” (Responsible Gambling Council, 2008)

1 year

2 year

3 year

Lifetime (irrevocable)

SELF-EXCLUSION EXTENSION AND/OR ACTIVE REINSTATEMENT

A reinstatement process should be put in place before the self-excluded individual is permitted re-entry into casino/gaming facilities. Prior to the end of the self-exclusion term, individuals should be contacted with appropriate information and clear details regarding reinstatement requirements. Individuals should be able to extend the Self-Exclusion period.

ECPG recommends an Active Reinstatement Process, whereby the individual must apply to be reinstated (preferably in writing). This allows, yet again, an opportunity to provide the individual with support and information regarding treatment and support resources, rather than a Passive Reinstatement where the individual can automatically re-enter the casino after the end of the exclusion period. If the individual does not initiate reinstatement prior to the initial term end, then the ban, as well as any consequences for breaches, would continue in force. (NOTE: This needs to be clearly stated on Self-Exclusion forms and materials and explained carefully to the individual – suggest signing/initially next to this provision).

Even if reinstatement is granted, suggest a 30-day waiting period after approval and resend a package with information on problem and responsible gambling, treatment and recovery resources, and financial management counseling options.

Determine how many times you want to offer an extension before the ban should be permanent. Suggestion: Initial Self-Exclusion; Second (Extension); with Third Request – consider initiating Lifetime Self-Exclusion as permanent/irrevocable ban.

COMPLIANCE AND BREACHES OF AGREEMENT; CONSEQUENCES

(Enforcement and Support)

Be clear upfront on what the consequences are and make sure you use any breach as another opportunity to share treatment and support resources with respect and confidentiality. Potential consequences might include:

- Verbal warning and/or warning letter – in discreet and respectful meeting with a trained Ambassador/Supervisor
- Escorted off premises
- Trespass charge
- Fines (not recommended by ECPG)
- Forfeiture of any winnings while Self-Excluded (winnings to go to Tribal or nonprofit program for problem gambling prevention/awareness, treatment, and recovery supports.)

PROMOTING AWARENESS OF SELF-EXCLUSION PROGRAM

Most gaming venues have great opportunities to advertise self-exclusion programs on their websites and through print materials and displays throughout the casino, including in “discreet locations” such as restrooms; on ATM machines; potential for information kiosk/Responsible Gaming Center within casino.

Promotion of the self-exclusion program as well as support services and resources should be available at the casino as well as information provided in the general community and through health and mental health centers and other relevant support services. Relevant professionals (treatment professionals, financial counselors, court systems) should all be informed about the program so that they may refer clients as appropriate.

A major aspect of promoting self-exclusion programs is educating casino/gaming staff, Tribal Gaming Authority and other regulatory staff at every level on the program. Anyone interacting with a guest should be aware of the program and how to access it in a timely manner. Create a Culture of Responsible Gaming throughout your venue and at all levels – from the top down.

BREAKING DOWN BARRIERS

Individuals who have experienced the self-exclusion process report mixed feelings in a wide variety of studies and reports. When the staff is supportive and compassionate, the guest felt comfortable. Often, however, reports that staff were rude, uncaring, and disrespectful, or staff and situations (isolated dark rooms behind the security office; noisy areas that didn't offer privacy) that made the guest feel "like a criminal" were barriers.

It is important to remove any unnecessary complexities in the application and registration process, including for those who have limited proficiencies in English, and unnecessary legal jargon....Individuals should have the ability to enact agreements away from gaming venues, such as at a central administrative office, with a health or mental health treatment provider or legal professional, or via the Internet or mail. (Gainsbury 2014)

During the process of enrollment, privacy and confidentiality were an important concern. Venue staffs' attitude was also frequently criticized: staff members were perceived as not sufficiently briefed on the process and did not provide reasonable sensitivity, encouragement, or support. (Hing, Nuske, et al, 2015; Hing et al, 2014).

Hi Tina,

I think this definition looks good but I do think that the Evergreen Council should also look at it briefly (Maureen Greeley and/or Tana Russell).

Sometimes they catch things I don't in defining the work that the CGC's do, as they administer the training & certification program and staff the Certification Committee.

Would you like me to pass it along to them? Or do you want to reach out directly? If you do, please say I looked at it and said it's fine from my point of view.

One question—is the next public meeting on 10/14 going to include a revised version of the self-exclusion rules for the Commissioners to review and for the public to give feedback on? I just want to make sure I'm there if that's being covered.

Finally, thank you so very much for presenting yesterday at the PGTF meeting—sorry your time was a bit truncated, but I certainly appreciated the info.

And thanks for including me in this process, Tina.

Hello Roxanne,

We are drafting a definition of Certified Gambling Counselor to include in our self-exclusion rules package. I drafted it based on the information you provided us last month, which was very helpful.

Can you please take a look at the below draft definition and provide feedback by the end of the week? The quick turnaround is because we need to get the packet out soon for the upcoming meeting.

“Certified Gambling Counselor” means problem gambling and gambling disorder treatment providers who:

- (a) Are credentialed by the Department of Health as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754; or
- (b) Provide counseling under a Tribal Attestation in lieu of state requirements for behavior health credentials.

Thank you, Roxane, you're better versed in legal jargon than I am, and what she said is correct. But I can clarify any questions about the individual certification process. I am not as knowledgeable about the agency licensure process.

Gambling Counselor eligibility:

Meets education requirements &
Has DOH license as LMHC, SUDP, LCSW, MFT, etc.

Applies for and meets Gambling Counselor Certification requirements through either:
WSGCCC or IGCCB
(is about a 2-yr process)

Subject: RE: Question for you

Hi All,

Tana, that's for jumping in to clarify—I knew ECPG would be able to clarify this language.

Apologies for the length of my replies—Tina, I know we all want to get this right for you the first time.

Tina, just to clarify—DOH does do all the BH agency & individual licensures. In order to become a Certified Gambling Counselor, you must already be a licensed mental health counselor or substance use disorder professional--THEN you can enter the certification program with Evergreen Council on PG or you can go through the International Board for certification.

Here's my suggested language:

'Certified Gambling Counselor' means a licensed mental health provider or licensed substance use disorder professional who is certified by the Washington State Gambling Certification Committee or the International Gambling Counselor Certification Board as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754.'

- In my opinion, you don't need to say anything about RCW 18.19 or the others because all the individual requirements are either in WAC 246-341 or refer back to those RCWs as needed. Also, RCW 18.19 does have some certifications, but not the Certified Gambling Counselor (CGC)—I've been in on-going discussion with DOH about this and we may be able to get this fixed in the future, but for now it's only described in WAC 246-341-0754.
- The gambling counselors aren't credentialed for problem gambling, they're certified. Small but important distinction. The CGC certification is an 'add-on' after licensure.
- Tribal attestation if for agencies, not individuals. In order to offer problem gambling treatment, all non-Tribal WA State behavioral health agencies that want to offer pg treatment have to be certified as problem gambling agencies by DOH. The agency requirements are in WAC 246-341-0754--the main requirement is that an agency must have a Certified Gambling Counselor in good standing on staff. Tribal Attestation would allow Tribal BH agencies to not have to fulfill requirements of the WAC in order to offer services.
- Since the description of 'in training' for Certified Gambling Counselor is determined by the Certification Committee and isn't in WAC, I suggest we leave that off.

I hope this helps?

(a) Are credentialed by the Department of Health as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754; or
(b) Provide counseling under a Tribal Attestation in lieu of state requirements for behavior health credentials.

On (a): DOH does provides agency licensure, but does not provide the individual provider certification. Providers in WA obtain their Gambling Counselor Certification credential either through the Washington State Gambling Counselor Certification Committee (WSGCCC) or the International Gambling Counselor Certification Board (IGCCB). The WAC 246-341-0754 language on this is rather wordy, listing several of the major certification requirements (see attachment, page 1 , (2) a-b, for reference), so for something simplified I might suggest:

“(a) Are credentialed by the Washington State Gambling Counselor Certification Committee or the International Gambling Counselor Certification Board as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754; or”

On (b): Roxane knows more about the Tribal Attestation process than I do, so I’ve CC’ed her. But I believe that DOH handles the Tribal Attestations, and that that is for agencies as well? Roxane, do you know if that process applies to individual providers also, perhaps those in private practice?

If you want to include clinicians who are able to sign as 'notaries' for the forms that are 1) employed by a Tribe that's using Tribal attestation and 2) offers pg services without have a Certified Gambling Counselor, then I think you could go this way:

'Problem gambling treatment counselor' means:

- 1) a 'Certified Gambling Counselor' that is certified by the Washington State Gambling Counselor Certification Committee or the International Gambling Counselor Certification Board as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754; or
- 2) a clinician providing problem gambling treatment that is employed by a Tribal Behavioral Health Agency that has submitted a Tribal Attestation to offer problem gambling treatment in lieu of state requirements for Certified Gambling Counselor.

I think you need to leave off Tribal attestation. That is for agencies only—an individual cannot request via the Tribal attestation process.

We don't want to inadvertently say that a 'Certified Gambling Counselor' can be created via the Tribal attestation process—that's not correct.

Tribal attestation only means that a Tribe can do what it wants within the bounds of the Tribal attestation process (which includes offering treatment for problem gambling without a Certified Gambling Counselor).

Here's info on Tribal Attestation: Tribal Attestation

“Certified Gambling Counselor” means problem gambling and gambling disorder treatment providers who:

- (a) Is certified by the Washington State Gambling Counselor Certification Committee or the International Gambling Counselor Certification Board ~~Are credentialed by the Department of Health~~ as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754; or

“Certified Gambling Counselor” means problem gambling and gambling disorder treatment providers who:

- (a) Are credentialed by the Department of Health as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754; or
- (b) Provide counseling under a Tribal Attestation in lieu of state requirements for behavior health credentials.

On (a): DOH does provides agency licensure, but does not provide the individual provider certification. Providers in WA obtain their Gambling Counselor Certification credential either through the Washington State Gambling Counselor Certification Committee (WSGCCC) or the International Gambling Counselor Certification Board (IGCCB). The WAC 246-341-0754 language on this is rather wordy, listing several of the major certification requirements (see attachment, page 1 , (2) a-b, for reference), so for something simplified I might suggest:

“(a) Are credentialed by the Washington State Gambling Counselor Certification Committee or the International Gambling Counselor Certification Board as outlined in WAC 246-341-0754; or”

On (b): Roxane knows more about the Tribal Attestation process than I do, so I’ve CC’ed her. But I believe that DOH handles the Tribal Attestations, and that that is for agencies as well? Roxane, do you know if that process applies to individual providers also, perhaps those in private practice?

Who Proposed the Rule Change?

Washington State Gambling Commission Staff

Background

Bold = Changes made after July 2021 Commission Meeting.

On March 25, 2020, Governor Jay Inslee signed House Bill 2638 that authorizes sports wagering for Class III tribal facilities under terms negotiated in tribal-state compacts. It also added or amended several criminal, regulatory, and licensing statutes in the Gambling Act and gives the Gambling Commission authority to adopt or amend any rules needed for the regulation of sports wagering.

At the July 2020 meeting, Commissioners initiated rule-making to adopt new rules and amend current rules to implement the new sports wagering law, including creating a new state regulatory structure to cover all aspects of sports wagering consistent with any new tribal-state wagering compact amendments.

In April and May 2021, the Commission reached a tentative sports wagering compact amendment agreement with fifteen Tribes. Of the fifteen Tribes, there are four different, but similar, sports wagering compact amendments that address the agency’s five sports wagering pillars: (1) Licensing and Regulation; (2) Agency Funding; (3) Money Laundering and Criminal Enforcement; (4) Sport and Gambling Integrity; and (5) Responsible and Problem Gambling.

At the June 10, 2021 public meeting, Commissioners chose to file draft language for further discussion. Draft language was filed with the Office of the Code Reviser on June 23, 2021 and was published in the Washington State Register (WSR 21-13-165) on July 7, 2021 for further discussion.

At the July 8, 2021 public meeting, Commission staff was directed to provide Commissioners rule options for consideration at our July 28, 2021 special meeting. Staff provided Commissioners with two options: Option A, which included approving just the rules that pertained to licensing and regulation, and licensing fees for final action at the July 28, 2021 special meeting, or Option B, which included approving all the draft rules, including chapter 230-19 WAC. Based on comments and concerns received, especially concerns centered on proposed rules in chapter 230-19 WAC, Commissioners chose to approve Option A at the July 28, 2021 special meeting and directed staff to continue to work with stakeholders on chapter 230-19 WAC with the intent of bringing draft language back at the October 14, 2021 public meeting. This draft language is before you today for discussion and possible filing.

Stakeholder Outreach and Feedback

Proposed sports wagering rules were distributed to stakeholders and Tribal leaders and representatives on May 27, 2021. A deadline of June 7, 2021 was given for comments and suggested edits to be reviewed by staff for our June 10, 2021 public meeting. Comments received before the June 10, 2021 meeting were reviewed by staff before filing the proposed rules. Changes related to some comments to licensing provisions, contract reviews, accounting records, substantial interest holders, sports wagering integrity, integrity monitoring provider, sports wagering systems, and sports wagering accounts were incorporated in the rules filed with the Code Reviser.

However, some comments and proposed changes were significant policy changes that could not be incorporated without Commissioner approval.

As of July 27, 2021, feedback from the following stakeholders was received:

- American Wagering, Inc., dba William Hill
- DraftKings Inc. (addt'l 7/27/21 letter)
- BetMGM
- Cowlitz Tribal Gaming Authority
- FanDuel
- Rush Street Interactive
- Sightline Payments
- Spokane Tribal Business Council
- Sportradar
- Suquamish Tribe
- Tulalip Tribes
- Washington Indian Gaming Association

Revised draft language was sent out to stakeholders on September 3, 2021 for review with feedback requested by September 15, 2021. Stakeholder feedback received thus far is as follows:

- Staff met with GeoComply, at their request, on September 9, 2021 who expressed concerns that a number of the sections had been struck, the GLI requirements had been removed, and were seeking clarification on operational requirements.
- A meeting was held with Tribal leaders and representatives on September 15, 2021 to discuss the proposed rules. The general feedback received was that the proposed rules were too broad and that the tribal-state sports wagering compact amendments are the governing authority over sports wagering, and therefore rules are not necessary. Suggested that if language is necessary, then one rule would be sufficient to specify that sports wagering vendors may facilitate sports wagering only as authorized by and compliant with tribal gaming compact and/or internal controls.
- Written feedback was received from FanDuel who expressed concerns over the timeliness of unusual and suspicious reporting requirements.
- A stakeholder meeting was held on September 22, 2021 to discuss the draft rules with those stakeholders who have a vested interest in sports wagering, primarily sports wagering vendors. Feedback received at this meeting was related to the removal of GLI requirements, and clarification of the timeline for these rules.

Staff inserted language, mirroring compact, regarding the need for sports wagering systems to meet or exceed GLI-33 standards back into chapter 230-19 WAC to provide additional clarity to vendors based on feedback that was received from stakeholders. Timelines for reporting unusual and suspicious wagering activity are required by compact as well.

Staff considered the rule language suggested during the meeting with tribal leaders and representatives to amend the draft rule language to only refer to the compacts and/or the internal controls, however staff chose not to implement this language for a number of reasons. These rules are designed to work in combination with each Tribal Gaming Agency’s regulatory authority to determine suitability for continued licensing of sports wagering vendors and bridge the gaps not covered in tribal-state sports wagering compacts, such as areas where compacts don’t outline specific sports wagering vendor requirements, areas where more detail is necessary for enforcement, and also to address non-tribal vendor related activities where information sharing may be necessary. Further, internal controls are not publicly accessible standards, which are necessary for rules under the Administrative Procedure Act.

Staff Recommendation

Staff recommends filing draft language for further discussion.

Re: FanDuel Comments on “Updated WSGC Sports Wagering DRAFT Rule Changes”

Dear Coordinator Laydon:

I write to provide comments on behalf of FanDuel Group, Inc. (“FanDuel”) regarding the Washington State Gambling Commission’s (“Commission”) “Updated WSGC Sports Wagering DRAFT Rule Changes” (“Updated Rules”). We thank you for the previous opportunity to comment on the proposed rules and for your thoughtful review and response to our comments. Based on our review of the Updated Rules we have one comment to share with the Commission.

All changes will be shown as follows: proposed additional text will be bolded and underlined and all text to be deleted will be bracketed and struck through. For the sake of clarity, where we are suggesting changes to existing regulations that the Commission is also proposing changes, our additions will be shown in black, while Commission proposed changes will be shown in red.

- Issue 1 – Inconsistent Requirement to “promptly” or “immediately” notify the Commission of violations and unusual or suspicious activity.

The Proposed Rules include two new rules (WAC 230-19-030 – Sports Wagering Integrity and WAC 230-19-035 – Integrity Monitoring Provider Requirements) which include inconsistent reporting standards for sports wagering vendors and integrity monitoring providers to report suspected violations or regulations or statutes and unusual or suspicious wagering activity. Sports wagering vendors and integrity monitoring providers need to report this information in a timely manner to the Commission, and we thank the Commission for changing the reporting standard to “promptly” in 230-19-030 for sports wagering vendors. However, 230-19-030 retains an “immediate” reporting requirement for integrity monitoring providers which does not provide them the flexibility to conduct an initial investigation which would provide the Commission with useful information in the report. Additionally, such initial investigation may resolve the underlying concern (especially in relation to unusual wagering activity) and prevent the overreporting of “false alarms.” This prompt reporting standard is similar to that required in Michigan (R432.743). To address this concern, we suggest the following amendments:

WAC 230-19-035 Integrity Monitoring Provider Requirements.

Integrity Monitoring Providers must:

(1) ~~[Immediately]~~ Promptly notify us, in the format we require:

...

In the event the unusual or suspicious activity involves a tribal operator in Washington state, the integrity monitoring provider must ~~[immediately]~~ promptly notify the appropriate tribal gaming agency; and

...

(4) ~~[Integrity Monitoring Providers must immediately]~~ [Immediately] promptly notify us, and all other Integrity Monitoring Providers, sports wagering operators, and all other agencies or organizations as directed by us, on any previously reported unusual wagering activity it finds rises to the level of suspicious wagering activity.”

We appreciate your time and consideration of our comments and would be happy to discuss at your convenience.

Sincerely,

Mr. Considine:

Thank you and your team for working with American Wagering, Inc. (doing business as William Hill) and Caesars Entertainment to create regulations that will protect the public and allow the industry to meet its full potential in Washington. Please find below some suggestions for minor, yet important, changes to the existing draft regulations.

William Hill currently operates sports betting in 18 U.S. jurisdictions, the most of any company in the industry. We offer these suggestions based on our experience in these jurisdictions and in the spirit of helping Washington to implement best practices.

Rule Reference

Existing Rule Language

(5) No substantive modifications to a sports wagering system may be made after an independent test laboratory has certified a sports wagering system without the modification being certified by the independent test laboratory.

Comment

We request a definition of “substantive modifications” be included in the regulations.

Some examples of “substantive modifications” we believe should require recertification include those that have a high impact on regulated components or reporting of the platform, such as:

- 1) Implementation of a new gambling feature or a change to any logic impacting wagering or game logic;
- 2) A change impacting required regulatory reports or data used for financial reconciliation;
- 3) If applicable, a change impacting the handling or storage of personally identifiable information;
- 4) If applicable, a change implemented by the platform provider that substantially impacts geolocation services; or
- 5) A change to accommodate updated regulatory requirements

Reason for Change

Minor or technical changes outside of the ones listed below do not create a risk to the integrity of the system and are routine. Those changes should be permitted without certification by an independent testing lab.

Rule Reference

Existing Rule Language

(8) Cloud storage for sports wagering data and information may be used for duplicate or backup data. Cloud storage facilities, as specified in the applicable tribal-state sports wagering compact amendment, must be located in our state.

Comment

We suggest deleting the requirement for backup cloud storage to be located in Washington.

Reason for Change

We have not seen a requirement in other jurisdictions for back up cloud storage systems to be confined to the jurisdiction. Allowing cloud storage to be located anywhere in the U.S., but in a facility licensed as a mid-level vendor by the WSGC, would provide sufficient safeguards while lowering expenses for operators.

Rule Reference

Existing Rule Language

(9) Sports wagering systems, at a minimum, must be capable of generating reports necessary to record the adjusted gross receipts, wagering liability, ticket redemption, and such other information relating to sports wagering as required by us, a tribal gaming agency, or internal controls. These reports include, but are not limited to:

- (a) Gaming operation revenue;*
- (b) Gaming operation liability;*
- (c) Future event;*
- (d) Significant events and alterations;*
- (e) Wager record information;*
- (f) Market information;*
- (g) Contest or tournament information;*
- (h) Sports wagering account information;*
- (i) Sports wagering system information;*
- (j) Significant event information;*
- (k) User access information;*
- (l) Wagering device information;*
- (m) Promotion or bonus information;*
- (n) Event game play;*
- (o) Expired ticket; and*
- (p) Any other reports required by us or a tribal gaming agency.*

Comment

We suggest replacing the above list with the GLI-33 §2.9 list of minimum reports.

Reason for Change

The GLI list is widely used and operators are already familiar with issuing these reports. As it is written above, the WSGC would need to craft detailed criteria for each of the above reports and operators may have varying interpretations of how to comply. Using the GLI list allows for consistent reporting and less regulatory burden for the WSGC.

Rule Reference

WAC 230-19-060

Existing Rule Language

Records retention for sports wagering vendors.

Where applicable, sports wagering vendors must retain the following records:

- (1) For at least five years:
 - (a) Suspicious wagering activity; and*
 - (b) Unusual wagering activity.
- (2) For at least three years at the end of their fiscal year:
 - (a) All required accounting records;*
 - (b) Sales invoices;*
 - (c) Sales journals; and*
 - (d) Credit memos.
- (3) For at least two years:
 - (a) Data feeds;*
 - (b) Sports wagering account information;*
 - (c) Mobile wagering account information; and*
 - (d) Geofence or geolocation information.

Comment

We suggest this retention requirement be placed on licensed data providers, not the operators who use the data.

Reason for Change

Operators may archive some, but not all, of the data provided. Placing the onus on the data providers would be more appropriate as they create and send the data, and less burdensome to the end users of the data, the operators.

Thank you to you, Ms. Laydon, and the Commission for considering our comments on these draft regulations.

Regards,

s/Trevor Hayes

RE: Sports Wagering Proposed Draft Rules Filed (6/23/2021)

Dear Legal and Legislative Manager Considine and Rules Coordinator Laydon,

In response to the Proposed WSGC Sports Wagering DRAFT Rule Changes promulgated by the Washington State Gambling Commission (“Commission”) delivered to stakeholders on June 23, 2021 and the follow-up email from the Commission answering and responding to our previous comments on June 30, 2021, DraftKings Inc. (“DraftKings”) submits the following comments. As a leading sports wagering operator in the United States, DraftKings has first-hand experience with the topics addressed in the proposed rules and respectfully submits these comments based on its operational knowledge and its consumers’ experience in multiple regulated markets.

As a note of reference, when the term “Compact” is used below, it refers to the compact amendments that are substantially similar and agreed to by the Commission and the eleven tribes as described in the press release issued by the Commission on May 13, 2021.

WAC 230-03-311, 312, 313 Applying for a major/mid-level/ancillary sports wagering vendor representative license

DraftKings respectfully requests the Commission amend the persons that must apply for a major sports wagering representative license to be more consistent with the term “Gaming Employee” in Section II of the Compact. As currently drafted, the term “represent” could be interpreted broadly to encompass an almost countless number of individuals across the sports wagering industry, for example lawyers and accountants, and lead to an administrative burden for applicants and the Commission. By removing the term “represent,” the definition would better align with the term “Gaming Employee” as defined in the Compact, and focus on persons employed in the operation or management of gaming in the state. For these reasons we respectfully request the following amendment:

You must apply for a major/mid-level/ancillary sports wagering representative license if you, as an individual, are employed or contracted by a major/mid-level/ancillary sports wagering vendor to ~~represent~~, service, or work in any sports wagering activities in our state or you supervise those who do.

WAC 230-05-170 Fees for other businesses

DraftKings respectfully requests that the Commission consider lowering the base license fee for mid-level and ancillary sports wagering vendors. While we appreciate the Commission's response detailing how all regulatory funding must come from licensing fees and tribal cost reimbursements, these fees as currently outlined are very high for retail sports wagering. In working through the regulatory process in other states, charging mid-level and some ancillary vendors a fee annually, particularly fees of $10,000 and $5,000, could be limiting on those wishing to enter the market. As currently drafted, these fees are higher for vendors in similar on-premises wagering jurisdictions but also higher than many states where mobile sports wagering is offered statewide.

WAC 230-19-045 Sports wagering system requirements

DraftKings respectfully requests modifications to the types of reports that must be generated by a sports wagering system to match what is found in Section 5.3.9 of the Compact. By inserting the term "may include," it creates flexibility between the major sports wagering vendor and the tribal gaming authority to determine the best way to report "the adjusted gross receipts, wagering liability, ticket redemption, and such other information relating to sports wagering as required." This flexibility is important because some of the reports listed in the second sentence of this requirement are not industry standard and not something regularly produced by sports wagering operators. Tribal gaming authorities and major sports wagering vendors can create reports to meet the goals of the first sentence without having to configure their systems or make changes to their systems to produce all of the reports listed. Even without a requirement that a system be able to produce all of the listed reports, the Commission will have an opportunity to make sure the reporting framework adequately outlines how a sports wagering operation plans to record "adjusted gross receipts, wagering liability, ticket redemption, and such other information relating to sports wagering as required," as the Commission must review and concur initial internal controls pursuant to Section 5.9.1 of the Compact.

(9) Sports wagering systems, at a minimum, must be capable of generating reports necessary to record the adjusted gross receipts, wagering liability, ticket redemption, and such other information relating to sports wagering as required by ~~us~~, a tribal gaming agency, or internal controls. These reports may include, as specified in the applicable tribal-state sports wagering compact amendment, but are not limited to: (a) Gaming Operation Revenue reports; (b) Gaming Operation Liability reports; (c) Future Events reports; (d) Significant Events and Alterations reports; (e) Wager Record Information reports; (f) Market Information reports; (g) Contest/Tournament Information reports; (h) Player Account Information reports; (i) Sports Wagering System Information reports; (j) Significant Event Information reports; (k) User Access Information reports; and (l) any other reports required by ~~us or~~ a tribal gaming agency.

WAC 230-19-035 Sports wagering integrity

DraftKings respectfully requests the requirement for sports wagering vendors to notify the Commission for unusual wagering activity be removed to align with Sections 5.9.2.f and 7.22 of the Compact. Section 5.9.2.f requires internal controls to address procedures for identifying and reporting unusual and suspicious activity to an integrity monitoring provider. Section 7.22 sets a requirement for an integrity monitoring provider to notify different stakeholders, including the Commission, when an integrity monitoring provider identifies suspicious wagering activity. Based on those sections and the definition of an integrity monitoring provider in Section 2 of the Compact, the major sports wagering vendor should either be required to report unusual and suspicious activity to the integrity monitoring provider, which in turn will share with the Commission, or the major sports wagering vendor should be required to report suspicious activity to the Commission.

Sports wagering vendor and vendor representatives must promptly notify us, in the format we require, when ~~unusual wagering activity or~~ suspicious wagering activity is identified, including changes with the status of, or information related to, a previously reported unusual or suspicious wagering activity.

Or

Sports wagering vendor and vendor representatives must promptly notify an integrity monitoring provider ~~us, in the format we require,~~ when unusual wagering activity or suspicious wagering activity is identified, including changes with the status of, or information related to, a previously reported unusual or suspicious wagering activity.

WAC 230-19-045 Sports Wagering System Requirements

DraftKings respectfully requests the Commission include the language found in Section 5.3.4 of the Compact to provide clarity on what is a substantive modification.

(5) No substantive modifications to a sports wagering system may be made after an independent test laboratory has certified a sports wagering system without the *modification being certified by the independent test laboratory. The following modifications are not considered substantive and do not require notification to the Commission: (a) Changes to content not related to any regulated feature; (b) Installation or changes to backup software; (c) Adding or removing users; and (d) any system configuration changes that have no impact on the accuracy of report information including gaming revenue.

* * * * *

Thank you for your consideration of DraftKings' comments in connection with the Proposed WSGC Sports Wagering DRAFT Rule Changes. DraftKings looks forward to continuing its work with the Commission to ensure that the Washington sports wagering market is best positioned for success.

Sincerely,

DraftKings Inc.

RE: Proposed WSGC Sports Wagering DRAFT Rule Changes (5/28/2021)

Dear Legal and Legislative Manager Considine and Rules Coordinator Laydon,

In response to the Proposed WSGC Sports Wagering DRAFT Rule Changes promulgated by the Washington State Gambling Commission (“Commission”), DraftKings Inc. (“DraftKings”) submits the following comments. As a leading sports wagering operator in the United States, DraftKings has first-hand experience with the topics addressed in the proposed rules and respectfully submits these comments based on its operational knowledge and its consumers’ experience in multiple regulated markets.

WAC 230-03-035 Applying for a license

DraftKings respectfully requests that the Commission consider amending WAC 230-03-035(2), with respect to the timeline for an incomplete application being administratively closed. As currently constructed, the subsection is vague and leaves to question when exactly the application remediation period begins. To help provide more clarity within the rule, DraftKings respectfully requests that the notification be in specific reference to an incomplete application. The proposed amendment would read as follows:

(2) If the application is incomplete, you must provide us with the required items within thirty days of notification of an incomplete application or we may administratively close the application.

WAC 230-03-311 Applying for a major sports wagering vendor representative license

DraftKings respectfully requests that the Commission narrow the reach of WAC 230-03-311, with respect to who must apply for a major sports wagering representative license. As currently constructed, the language could require the entire workforce of a sports wagering vendor to be licensed as a major sports wagering vendor representative. If the Commission were to require all employees to be licensed as a vendor representative, this would be overly burdensome on vendors and the Commission. DraftKings respectfully suggests the language be amended in the following way:

You must apply for a major sports wagering representative license if you, as an individual, ~~sell, market, promote, represent, service, or otherwise~~ work in any sports wagering activities under employment or contract to a major sports wagering vendor in our state or you supervise those who do.

With the above changes, DraftKings believes that the Commission will still be able to license appropriate persons, including those that work in sports wagering, their managers, or those that service sports wagering kiosks, but will not reach the next wave of persons that could be wrapped into this requirement, like business development representatives or lawyers.

WAC 230-05-170 Fees for other businesses

DraftKings respectfully requests that the Commission consider lowering the base license fee for all three levels of sports wagering vendors. As currently drafted, these fees are higher for vendors in similar on-premises wagering jurisdictions but also higher than many states where mobile sports wagering is offered statewide. This is important to note as the total addressable market in jurisdictions that legalize statewide mobile sports wagering is significantly larger than those that only permit retail/on-premises wagering. DraftKings requests that these fees be lowered in the following manner to not be prohibitive for vendors entering Washington to help create a successful sports wagering market.

Major Sports Wagering Vendor	$8515,000
Mid-level Sports Wagering Vendor	$10505,000
Ancillary Sports Wagering Vendor	$5,01500

WAC 230-06-xxx Submitting sports wagering related contracts and agreements for review

DraftKings respectfully requests the requirement in WAC 230-06-xxx that any new or amended contract be submitted to the state prior to execution be stricken in its entirety. As drafted, this requirement is untenable for vendors. Sports wagering vendors are rapidly growing companies and onboard lots of vendors each year, and as written, many of these vendors could be interpreted under this requirement to “relate to [a sports wagering vendor’s] goods and/or services” in the state that in actuality have a very limited connection to the state or the sports wagering vendor’s sports wagering activity. In addition, requiring vendors to submit contracts and agreements, or changes to contracts and agreements, ahead of execution to those contracts or agreements to onboard vendors with minimal impact on our operations in Washington would be very burdensome on vendors and create a significant administrative challenge, especially when sports wagering vendors will need to onboard certain vendors in real-time to address issues that may arise. Further, requiring these contracts to be submitted as contemplated creates no benefit to the wagering public in Washington and could inhibit operators in providing the wagering services.

~~Sports wagering vendors must provide any new contracts or agreements or changes to existing contracts or agreements relating to their sports wagering goods and/or services in the state of Washington, to us, prior to execution of the contract or agreement.~~

If this requirement is not struck in its entirety, DraftKings respectfully requests the language be reduced to:

Annually with its license renewal, sports wagering vendors shall provide a list of vendors providing sports wagering goods and/or services in the state of Washington.

WAC 230-17-005 Sports Wagering Definitions

DraftKings respectfully requests the definition of “sports wagering system” be amended to better match the definition in other sports wagering jurisdictions, including Michigan. DraftKings also respectfully requests that the term “sports wagering kiosks” be removed from the definition, as it is already defined in this section. By defining a kiosk to be a sports wagering system, it could require that kiosks must be tested and certified under two different requirements, making the WAC 230-17-xxx(2) of Sports Wagering System Requirements section redundant.

~~(12) “Sports Wagering System” means all equipment, hardware, data networks, communications technology, and software used in a sports wagering operation and that directly affect the wagering and results of sports wagering, including, but limited to: (a) interactive components, including all associated equipment and software that comprise the sports wagering platform used by a sports wagering operation or for online or mobile sports wagering; (b) sports wagering kiosks; and (c) ticket or voucher redemption devices. This does not include a Mobile Device owned and used by a patron to place a Sports Wager.~~

WAC 230-17-xxx Accounting records for sports wagering vendors.

DraftKings respectfully requests that the Commission clarify the requirement that sports wagering vendors keep and maintain a complete set of records for their licensed activity to specify that it only relates to their activity in Washington. This requirement could be interpreted to mean the full extent of a sports wagering vendors’ licensed activity, even those outside of the state of Washington, which is inconsistent with any other jurisdiction currently regulating sports wagering in the United States. The proposed amendment would read as follows:

Sports wagering vendors must keep and maintain a complete set of records for their licensed activity in the state of Washington and include...

DraftKings respectfully requests that the Commission narrow the scope of expenses that sports wagering vendors must document, from all expenses to sports wagering expenses in Washington. This requirement is broad and unduly burdensome for sports wagering vendors to comply with no corresponding benefit to the wagering public. DraftKings would also request that sports wagering vendors be able to enter this annually instead of monthly to further reduce the burden this requirement creates. The proposed amendment would read as follows:

(a) Cash disbursements book (check register) - Sports wagering vendors must document all sports wagering related expenses in the state of Washington, ~~both sports wagering and non sports wagering related~~, with invoices or other appropriate supporting documents. They must enter information annually ~~monthly~~ and include, at least:

- (i) The date the check was issued or payment made;*
- (ii) The number of the check; and*
- (iii) The name of the payee; and*
- (iv) Type of expense; ~~and~~*

DraftKings respectfully requests that the Commission narrow the requirement that sports wagering vendors must record all cash sales and cash received from all sources, from all cash sales and cash received to cash sales and cash received related to sports wagering in Washington. This requirement is broad and unduly burdensome for sports wagering vendors to comply with no corresponding benefit to the wagering public. The proposed amendment would read as follows:

Sports wagering vendors must keep a record of sports wagering related cash sales and cash received from all sources in the state of Washington.

WAC 230-17-xxx Sales invoices for sports wagering vendors

Similar to the reasons stated above for accounting records, DraftKings respectfully requests the Commission narrow the requirement to document transactions and transfers of equipment or services to those that take place in connection to sports wagering operations in Washington.

Sports wagering vendors must document each sale of equipment or services, any return or refund, or any other type of transfer of sports wagering equipment in connection to sports wagering operations in the state of Washington, with a standard sales invoice.

WAC 230-17-xxx Sales journals for sports wagering vendors

Similar to the reasons stated above for accounting records, DraftKings respectfully requests the Commission narrow the requirement that sports wagering vendors only be required to keep a monthly sales journal related to sales taking place related to their sports wagering operations in Washington.

Sports wagering vendors must keep a monthly sales journal containing information about sales for the sports wagering operations in the State of Washington, containing at least:

- (1) Each date of sale; and*
- (2) Each sale invoice number; and*
- (3) The name of the person paying; and*
- (4) Sales categorized by the sports wagering goods, equipment or services sold; and*
- (5) The total amount of each invoice.*

WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering Integrity

DraftKings respectfully requests that the Commission consider amending the requirement that sports wagering vendors and vendor licensees immediately notify the Commission upon violation or suspected violation of local, state, tribal or federal ordinances, statutes, administrative rules or court order. This requirement serves a paramount policy goal, but DraftKings respectfully requests that sports wagering operators notify as soon as is practicably possible to afford sports wagering vendors and their representatives time to investigate the issue. This is especially important as it relates to “suspected violations” outlined in the draft rules.

(1) Sports wagering vendor and vendor representative licensees must ~~immediately~~ notify us as soon as practically possible upon any discovery of a violation or of a suspected violation of RCW 9.46, this Chapter, or any violation of local, state, tribal, or federal ordinances, statutes, administrative rules or court orders.

In subsection (3), DraftKings respectfully requests that licensees be required to make “commercially reasonable” efforts to detect and prevent prohibited sports wagering participants from participating in sports wagering. This is the standard traditionally used in other sports wagering jurisdictions. One example of where this is important deals with prohibited sports wagering participants. In order to correctly prevent those persons from wagering, sports wagering operators rely on lists that prevent account creation, payouts of certain winnings, etc. However, if sports wagering operators do not have accurate or up-to-date lists and a prohibited sports wagering participant creates an account or places a wager, a sports wagering operator should not be held liable.

(3) Licensees must make ~~all~~ commercially reasonable efforts to detect and prevent prohibited sports wagering participants from participating in sports wagering.

In subsection (4) there is a similar notice requirement that DraftKings respectfully requests the Commission consider amending for the same reasons stated above to subsection (1), and further requests that licensees are only required to share “suspicious activity” with the Commission. Based on our understanding of the authorizing statute, the focus for the Commission is on suspicious activity, and the role of the Integrity Monitoring Provider is to help determine whether unusual activity arises to suspicious activity. The proposed changes incorporate these changes and read as follows:

(4) Licensees must ~~immediately~~ notify us, as soon as practically possible, in the format we require, when ~~unusual wagering activity or~~ suspicious wagering activity is identified, including changes with the status of, or information related to, a previously reported unusual or suspicious wagering activity.

DraftKings respectfully requests that the requirement that licensees provide the Commission access to its sports wagering system be amended to provide access in the form of reports and documentation and limit that access to the reports and documentation related to sports wagering in Washington. While DraftKings recognizes the importance of ensuring sports wagering is conducted with integrity, it believes reports and documentation can meet the Commission’s policy intentions without having direct access.

“Licensees will provide us, or an Integrity Monitoring Provider(s) designated by us, ~~access~~ relevant information and documentation related to their sports wagering system in the state of Washington, ~~including hardware and software if needed to assist us with integrity monitoring and investigations.~~”

WAC 230-17-xxx Integrity Monitoring Provider Requirements

DraftKings respectfully requests that the Commission consider amending WAC 230-17-xxx(1), with respect to the requirement that integrity monitoring providers be capable of receiving daily sports wagering information. The requirement as drafted could blur the role of the integrity monitoring provider. While it is important that an analytical system be capable of receiving and analyzing information daily, the primary role of the integrity monitoring provider is to receive alerts deemed “unusual” by sports wagering operators and help to determine if those alerts rise to the level of “suspicious.” That is also congruent with the role specifically laid out in the definition of an “Integrity Monitoring Provider” in WAC 230-17-005(5). In order to remove the confusion that there may be required daily reporting, DraftKings respectfully suggests the following changes:

(1) Integrity monitoring providers must have ~~analytical~~ systems to receive and analyze daily unusual sports wagering information and data from a sports wagering operation to assist in identifying and be able to monitor, identify, analyze, and report on suspicious or ~~unusual~~ wagering activity.

In subsection 3, DraftKings respectfully requests that the requirement be amended to match how integrity monitoring is performed in other jurisdictions. Specifically, if an integrity monitoring provider receives reports of unusual wagering activity from a sports wagering operator or another source (ex. professional sports league), they will reach out to other sports wagering operators to investigate and try to determine if this arises to suspicious wagering activity. In contrast, when integrity monitoring providers identify suspicious wagering activity after investigating and reviewing unusual wagering activity, this triggers the integrity monitoring provider’s duty to notify the Commission. This is a process sports wagering operators are familiar with and has proven effective.

(3) Integrity Monitoring Providers must immediately notify ~~us~~ sports wagering operators when they identify unusual wagering activity and notify the Commission when they identify or suspicious wagering activity.

WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering System Requirements

DraftKings respectfully requests that the Commission amend its kiosk testing requirement to sync with subsection (2) before it. The term “approved” is redundant and potentially confusing, as a kiosk will not be certified if it has not been approved.

(3) All sports wagering kiosks must be tested, ~~approved~~, and certified by a licensed independent testing laboratory.

DraftKings respectfully requests that the requirement that no substantive modifications be made without being previously certified by an independent lab be amended to clarify what substantive modifications rise to the level of needing subsequent certification. Specifically, DraftKings respectfully requests this to align with “high impact changes” as determined by the sports wagering operator according to its internal controls.

(6) No substantive modifications, as defined in a sports wagering operation’s internal controls, to a sports wagering system may be made after an Independent Test Laboratory has certified a sports wagering system without the modification being certified by the Independent Test Laboratory.

In relation to the server location requirements, DraftKings respectfully requests that the term “primary server” be defined and that cloud storage be authorized for more than duplicate or back up data and that cloud storage facilities are not required to be located in the state. Making these changes would align with the other sports wagering jurisdictions across the country and requiring cloud storage to be in-state and only for duplicate or backup data is extremely burdensome on sports wagering operators.

(9) Cloud storage for sports wagering data and information may be used ~~for duplicate or backup data~~. Cloud storage facilities must be located in the state.

With respect to subsection (10), DraftKings respectfully requests further clarification as to what type of information is required to be included in sports wagering system reports. As an operator in numerous jurisdictions across the country, any logical uniformity that can be achieved for reporting requirements is extremely valuable and helps create a more efficient and safe process for both sports wagering operators and regulators. As currently drafted, these reporting requirements do not make it clear what type of information is required to be included, and likely create a framework where compliance is extremely difficult, as it is unclear how frequent these reports are required to be created and submitted to the Commission or a tribal gaming agency. Based upon DraftKings experience in other jurisdictions, a comprehensive report that includes information regarding Gaming Operation Revenues, Gaming Operation Liability, Future Events, Wager Record Information, and Expired tickets, has been sufficient for other regulators. DraftKings would also respectfully request the time to produce and submit these reports be a commercially reasonable time period, which is a standard that has been adopted in other sports wagering jurisdictions for certain reports, including Illinois. The proposed amendment would read as follows:

(10) Sports wagering systems, at a minimum, must be capable of generating reports necessary to record the adjusted gross receipts, wagering liability, ticket redemption, and such other information relating to sports wagering as required by us, a tribal gaming agency, or internal controls. These reports must be submitted upon request by the Commission in a commercially reasonable time period, and include, ~~but are not limited to~~: (a) Gaming Operation Revenue reports; (b) Gaming Operation Liability reports; (c) Future Events reports; ~~(d) Significant Events and Alterations reports;~~ ~~(ed)~~ Wager Record Information reports; ~~(f) Market Information reports;~~ ~~(g) Contest/Tournament Information~~ reports; (h) Sports Wagering Account Information reports; (i) Sports Wagering System Information reports; (j) Significant Event Information reports; (k) User Access Information reports; (l) Wagering Device Information reports; (m) Promotion/Bonus Information reports; (n) Event Game Play reports; and (oe) Expired tickets reports; and (p) any other reports required by us or a tribal gaming agency.

With respect to subsection (11), DraftKings respectfully requests a minor change that clarifies that patron-controlled wager and deposit limits are only guaranteed on mobile wagering systems, as wagers placed on kiosks and through cashiers may not have this functionality.

(11) Sports wagering systems and sports wagering kiosks will, at a minimum, allow for a display of commitment to responsible gaming and link to the Class III tribal sports wagering operator's responsible gaming policies. It will also have solutions for including, but not limited to: patron controlled wager and deposit limits, where permissible; and connecting players to problem gambling resources.

WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering Account Requirements

DraftKings respectfully requests that the Commission consider amending WAC 230-17-xxx(3), the requirement that sports wagering accounts must be registered and verified in-person at a tribal gaming facility. As currently constructed, this section could be interpreted to require players to verify their sports wagering accounts in-person each time they return to a tribal gaming facility, regardless of whether they have previously registered at that same tribal gaming facility or already have an existing sports wagering account with a sports wagering vendor.

Additionally, DraftKings respectfully requests that the requirement allow players to register at a tribal gaming facility without having to interact with a sports wagering employee. Other sports wagering states, including Iowa and Illinois, two states that required in-person registration at a sports wagering facility in some capacity for some period of time, but the regulations have been drafted to allow for a completely automated sign up process for an account while at the facility. DraftKings respectfully requests that Washington take the same approach.

*(3) A sports wagering account must be registered and verified ~~in-person~~ at a tribal gaming facility before the acceptance of any wager using that Sports Wagering Account. Players who have previously registered and have been verified at a tribal gaming facility will not be required to be subsequently registered or verified at that same tribal gaming facility thereafter.

DraftKings respectfully requests subsection (4) be amended to match the requirement as it exists in other sports wagering jurisdictions, including Michigan.

(4) A player's identification for a sports wagering account must be periodically reverified upon reasonable suspicion that the player's identification has been compromised.

With respect to subsection (5), DraftKings respectfully requests further clarification on our interpretation that a licensee must hold player account funds at a federally regulated financial institution that is licensed to operate and thus do business in Washington, and not be physically located in the state.

* * * * *

Thank you for your consideration of DraftKings' comments in connection with the Proposed WSGC Sports Wagering DRAFT Rule Changes. DraftKings looks forward to continuing its work with the Commission to ensure that the Washington sports wagering market is best positioned for success.

Sincerely,

DraftKings Inc.

Hi, Brian. Thank you so much for the opportunity to participate in the rulemaking process. Our regulatory team shortly will be sending our public comments. But I just wanted to flag just three substantive items in advance (overall, the rules were positive so we don't have a lot of issues).

1. Remote registration and tribal mobile: Clarification on whether verification on a mobile device at a tribal gaming facility would be permissible and the definition of tribal premises for purposes of geofencing.
2. Vendor and occupational licensing: We have a couple of comments and points of clarification on the types of vendors and employees that will require licensing.
3. Temporal requirements: We have some recommendations on some of the notification windows.

As always, please don't hesitate to let us know if you have any questions on our comments or on the rules in general. Thank you.

Washington State Gambling Commission

Dear Brian and Ashlie,

On behalf of BetMGM, LLC (“BetMGM”), we would like to express our appreciation for seeking our input during the stakeholder process to develop the state’s event wagering rules.

BetMGM is a market leading online gaming and entertainment company. Born out of a partnership between MGM Resorts International and Entain Plc, BetMGM has exclusive access to all of MGM's U.S. land-based and online sports betting, major tournament poker, and iGaming businesses. BetMGM currently offers sports betting in 12 U.S. jurisdictions (Colorado, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Mississippi, Nevada, New Jersey, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia).

BetMGM appreciates the opportunity to provide the following feedback and commends your commitment to transparency and fostering a robust event wagering market in a responsible and expeditious manner. As a premier sports betting operator in the country, BetMGM stands ready to be a resource to the Commission as it aims to establish a successful event wagering industry. Please feel free to reach out to us with any questions or if you would like to discuss any of the topics presented below in further detail.

1. Rule: WAC 230-03-060 Fingerprinting.

(1) The following persons must submit fingerprints and undergo a national criminal history background check:

- (a) Substantial interest holders of commercial businesses and charitable or nonprofit organizations who live or have lived out of the state in the last ten years; and
- (b) Card room employees, commercial and nonprofit gambling managers, and manufacturer, distributor, service supplier, call centers for enhanced raffles, and linked bingo prize provider, and sports wagering vendor representatives; and
- (c) Any other substantial interest holder when we have information they may not be qualified for licensure or to participate in a gambling activity.

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM seeks confirmation that this requirement would apply to substantial interest holders of sports wagering vendors. It is unclear is this would apply to businesses that are licensed as a sports wagering vendor

It appears that the impact of this language will be determined by the definition of "sports wagering vendor representatives." As discussed relating to 230-03-311 below, the regulation could be read expansively to apply to all BetMGM employees. Clarification is requested on that definition to analyze the impact of this fingerprinting requirement.

2. Rule: WAC 230-03-200 Defining “gambling equipment.”

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM seeks clarification of what defines “Components” of a sports wagering system.

3. Rule WAC 230-03-230

You must apply for a major sports wagering vendor license if you provide integral sports wagering goods or services in our state. This includes:

- (1) Managing a Tribe’s or Tribes’ sports wagering operations;
- (2) Being a Tribe’s or Tribes’ primary consultant who provides substantial sports wagering related services;
- (3) Being a manufacturer or distributor of a sports wagering system(s);
- (4) Providing bookmaking services; or
- (5) Providing sports wagering risk management services.

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM seeks confirmation that companies that contract with tribes to operate sports wagering will be required to hold this “major sports wagering vendor license” and seeks further clarification regarding the use of the term “sport wagering operator” and what that terms applies to as used in the draft rules.

For (5) “Providing sports wagering risk management services” BetMGM seeks clarification on the scope of risk management services that are included in this subrule. Does this include Geo-comply? PEN Testing? Other?

4. Rule WAC 230-03-231 Applying for a mid-level sports wagering vendor license

(1) Integrity monitoring

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM seeks clarification on the scope of “integrity monitoring” that is included in this subrule. Does integrity monitoring include Sports wagering testing or firms conducting PEN testing? BetMGM recommends amending to specify “Integrity monitoring provided by independent test laboratories.”

Rule (cont.)

(4) Initial or annual sports wagering system security testing or assessment;

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM recommends specifying a timeframe for this such as, “the responsible party shall perform an integrity and security assessment of the event wagering system within ninety (90) days after the commencement of operations, and annually. The assessment shall be submitted to the Commission no later than thirty (30) days after the assessment.” This will provide operators a chance to formulate a remediation plan after such security testing / assessment.

In addition, suggesting independent integrity and security assessment professionals shall obtain a license prior to conducting an assessment will create a limited pool of professionals to select from. Operators have a vested interest ensuring the most qualified security assessment professionals are selected. BetMGM recommends affording companies select security professionals based on the industry known credentials.

5. Rule WAC 230-03-311 Applying for a major sports wagering vendor representative license

You must apply for a major sports wagering representative license if you, as an individual, sell, market, promote, represent, service, or otherwise work in any sports wagering activities under employment or contract to a major sports wagering vendor in our state or you supervise those who do.

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM seeks clarification regarding the limits of this licensing requirement. Would this requirement extend to anyone that works for a Major Sports Wagering Vendor and require that all employees be licensed as a representative? Would this extend to all traders that activate markets in WA, all compliance personnel that perform work relating to WA, etc.?

BetMGM seeks further clarification that this “representative” license will not apply to “substantial interest holders” of a Major Sports Wagering Vendor.

BetMGM recommends that this “representative” license apply only to those Major Sports Wagering Vendor employees that are physically located in Washington.

6. Rule WAC 230-03-335 Representatives must not work before receiving a license.

If you are applying for a license as a representative for a manufacturer, distributor, gambling services supplier, call centers for enhanced raffles, a sports wagering vendor, or linked bingo prize provider, you must not work until you receive a license from us.

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM seeks confirmation that this rule does not prohibit a licensee from hiring and training personnel before they are licensed.

BETMGM

7. Rule WAC 230-06-030 Restrictions and conditions for gambling promotions.

(1) You must establish rules and restrictions to determine how you will give promotional prizes and items to players;

...

(7) Licensed manufacturers, distributors, and service suppliers may give cash or merchandise items to licensed operators to be used as promotional prizes as long as:

(a) The cash or merchandise is offered to all licensed operators; and

(b) The gambling promotion is approved by the director or director's designee when cash or merchandise provided to a licensed operator for a single promotion is over twenty-five thousand dollars;

BetMGM Comments:

(1) BetMGM seeks clarification as to whether these "established promotional rules" have to initially be approved by the regulator before a licensee can proceed with promotions without further review and approval.

(7) BetMGM seeks clarification as to what situations this section would apply to? Is this referring to an industry-wide promotion that a manufacturer/distributor/supplier wants to initiate? Are these requirements therefore imposed on the manufacturer/distributor/supplier and not the operator/vendor?

8. Rule WAC 230-06-082

Manufacturers, distributors, gambling service suppliers, sports wagering vendors, linked bingo prize providers and call centers for enhanced raffles licensees must:

(1) Submit an application and the required fees before allowing licensed employees or sports wagering vendor representatives to begin working.

(2) Notify us in the format we require when a licensed employee or sports wagering vendor representative no longer works for them. We must receive the notice at our Lacey office within ten days of the licensed employee's or representative's last day.

BetMGM Comment:

(1) See Comment to 230-03-335 - BetMGM seeks confirmation that it can hire and train personnel before they are licensed.

(2) See comment on representative licensing. If representative licensing extends to all or a significant portion of Vendor employees tracking and providing such notification within the proposed timeframe will be difficult and overly burdensome.

BETMGM

9. Rule (NEW) WAC 230-17-xxx Authorized Sports Wagering Menu

- (1) Sports wagering vendor licensees may only offer, facilitate, or promote wagering that is approved on the Authorized Sports Wagering Menu.
- (2) The Authorized Sports Wagering Menu will be updated as leagues, organizations, or types of wagers are approved or removed.
- (3) The Authorized Sports Wagering Menu will be published on the commission's website.

BetMGM Comment:

What, if any, process will exist for operators to request additional events or wager-types?

10. Rule (New) WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering Integrity

(1) Sports wagering vendor and vendor representative licensees must immediately notify us upon any discovery of a violation or of a suspected violation of RCW 9.46, this Chapter, or any violation of local, state, tribal, or federal ordinances, statutes, administrative rules or court orders.

(4) Licensees must immediately notify us, in the format we require, when unusual wagering activity or suspicious wagering activity is identified, including changes with the status of, or information related to, a previously reported unusual or suspicious wagering activity.

BetMGM Comment:

Similar to the above requirement WAC 230-06-054 , BetMGM recommends providing a 72 hour notification window to be added.

11. Rule (NEW) WAC 230-17-xxx Integrity Monitoring Provider Requirements

- (3) Integrity Monitoring Providers must immediately notify us when they identify unusual wagering activity or suspicious wagering activity.
- (4) Integrity Monitoring Providers must immediately notify us, and all other Integrity Monitoring Providers, sports wagering operators, and all other agencies or organizations as directed by us, on any previously reported unusual wagering activity it finds rises to the level of suspicious wagering activity.

BetMGM Comment

Similar to the above comment , BetMGM recommends providing a 72 hour notification window to be added.

BETMGM

12. Rule (NEW) WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering System Requirements

(2) All sports wagering systems must be tested and certified by a licensed independent testing laboratory.

(3) All sports wagering kiosks must be tested, approved, and certified by a licensed independent testing laboratory.

(4) All sports wagering systems must be approved by the Tribal Gaming Agency where the system is to be installed and operated.

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM recommends removing “approved” from subsection (3) to require the kiosks to be tested and certified by a laboratory, but ultimately “approved” by the Tribal Gaming Agency.

13. Rule (NEW) WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering System Requirements

(9) Cloud storage for sports wagering data and information may be used for duplicate or backup data. Cloud storage facilities must be located in the state.

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM recommends allowing cloud storage facilities outside the state, so long as it is accessible to the Commission.

Rule (cont.)

(11) Sports wagering systems and sports wagering kiosks will, at a minimum, allow for a display of commitment to responsible gaming and link to the Class III tribal sports wagering operator’s responsible gaming policies. It will also have solutions for including, but not limited to: patron controlled wager and deposit limits; and connecting players to problem gambling resources.

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM seeks clarification as to whether there will there be any responsible gaming requirements specific to mobile applications?

Rule (cont.)

(12) Licensees bringing sports wagering systems, components, and kiosks into the state must provide us access to the sports wagering system(s), including hardware, software or other related sports wagering equipment as needed for us to develop our regulatory program and trainings. Sports wagering system hardware, software, or other related equipment provided to us must be identical or substantially similar to what is deployed in the state.

BetMGM Comment:

How far in advance is access to sports wagering systems, components, and kiosks required to be provided?

BETMGM

14. Rule (NEW) WAC 230-17-xxx Geofence and Geolocation Requirements

(1) Mobile sports wagering must be contained to an approved Class III tribal gaming facility premises as approved pursuant to each tribal-state sports wagering compact amendment. Licensees will incorporate controls, including geofence and geolocation compliance and monitoring, to ensure wagers cannot be placed in violation of federal, state, or tribal laws and rules within each jurisdiction.

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM seeks clarification as to the meaning of “premises” (i.e. does the premises include all lands owned by the tribe? Some subset of tribal lands where a physical gaming facility exists? Or some other definition?).

15. Rule (NEW) WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering Account Requirements

(1) Licensees that manage or have access to a sports wagering account must maintain and produce all sports wagering account information when requested by us or a tribal gaming agency.

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM recommends adding a temporal requirement i.e. such information must be produced within 10 days of a request.

Rule (cont.)

(3) A sports wagering account must be registered and verified in-person at a tribal gaming facility before the acceptance of any wager using that Sports Wagering Account.

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM seeks clarification on the definition of “in-person.” Would verification on a mobile device on or at a tribal gaming facility suffice?

16. Rule (NEW) WAC 230-17-005 Sports Wagering Definitions

(13) “Sports wagering vendor” means all three sports wagering licensees—major, mid-level, and ancillary—identified in this Chapter unless identified otherwise in these rules.

BetMGM Comment:

BetMGM recommends specifically identifying each level of sports wagering vendor license to clarify which vendors will require a major, mid-level, and ancillary license.

Brian – Thank you for seeking stakeholder input on the proposed Sports Wagering Rules.

While I may have additional suggestions as the process moves forward, at this time I will limit my comments to three areas where I have significant concerns with the state’s approach.

My first and by far biggest concern is the proposed language for WAC Sub-Chapter 230-17.

This sub-chapter sets forth definitions, accounting standards, records keeping requirements, and other operational requirements for sports wagering.

Placing this language in the Washington Administrative Code is simply inappropriate. It is disrespectful of tribal sovereignty, of government-to-government relationships, of the role of Tribal Gaming Agencies as the primary regulator of Class III Gaming, and of the long hours of work invested by all sides in the compact negotiation process.

IGRA (and state law) require that Tribal gaming be conducted according to the language and requirements of the IGRA, the compact and the internal controls, not by the WAC regulations unilaterally adopted by the state.

In the Sports Wagering Compact negotiations, when the Tribes agreed to the state’s position of adding new licensing categories for sports wagering, we understood that this would involve new state rules for certification (licensing) of sports wagering vendors and representatives. We did not expect that the state would expand the scope of their rulemaking from Sports Wagering Vendor Licensing to the general regulation of sports wagering activities.

This rule making must distinguish between rules related to the backgrounding and licensing of Vendors, and rules related to the operation and conduct of a Tribe's Sports Book activities. The former is a proper subject of state rule making, the latter belongs in a Compact and/or the internal controls agreed to by a Tribe and the state of Washington. We spent many hours in negotiations discussing what language should be in the Compact and what should reside in the IC’s. The state cannot now ignore that process and adopt its own rules for regulation of Class III Sports Wagering, which it appears to me is exactly what you are attempting to do in Sub-Chapter 230-17.

I would request that all this proposed language in Chapter 230-17 be stricken from the rule making.

My second concern is the contract submission requirements in WAC 230-03-xxx titled “Additional information required for sports wagering vendors”, and in WAC 230-06-xxx titled “Submitting sports wagering related contracts and agreements for review”.

Why is this requirement placed on Sport Wagering vendors, when it is not placed on other licensees? I am unaware of any other area where you make licensees submit contracts for review before they are even signed.

I am concerned that by submitting these proprietary business agreements to the state, they will become public records. If you think some Public Records exemption applies, please let me know.

Finally, I am concerned that these sections are written so broadly that it is not clear exactly what range of contracts a vendor would have to submit.

My third area of concern is the Fee Schedule in WAC 230-05-170. For other type of class III vendors, the fee has a minimum and a maximum based on the amount of Gross Receipts. Why is there only a single fixed fee for Sports Wagering Vendors regardless of size or amount of business conducted in the state? Also, the fee for Major SW Vendors is $85,000, which is 3.5 times the maximum fee charged Manufacturers, who’s fees range from $1,500 to $25,000. What is the rational behind that?

Again, thanks for the opportunity to provide input on the proposed rules. I hope my comments are helpful.

Re: FanDuel Comments on “Proposed WSGC Sports Wagering DRAFT Rule Changes”

Dear Manager Considine and Coordinator Laydon:

I write to provide comments on behalf of FanDuel Group, Inc. (“FanDuel”) regarding the Washington State Gambling Commission’s (“Commission”) “Proposed WSGC Sports Wagering DRAFT Rule Changes” (“Proposed Rules”). Based on our extensive experience as an operator in the sports betting industry and collaborator with regulators of sports betting in many states in the development of their regulations, we offer constructive feedback on ways in which the Proposed Rules can be improved for effectiveness and consistency with other state regulations.

Following the Supreme Court’s decision to strike down the Professional and Amateur Sports Protection Act (PASPA) in May of 2018, FanDuel has now become the leading sports wagering operator, and the largest online real-money gaming operator, in the United States. FanDuel currently operates sixteen (16) brick and mortar sportsbooks in nine (9) states and online sports wagering in ten (10) states. We appreciate the opportunity to share our perspective on sports betting regulation with you and have arranged our comments in three parts. Part I is focused on major issues of concern in the Proposed Rules that may significantly impact the ability of sports wagering operators to successfully operate in Washington. Part II is focused on areas in the Proposed Rules where adjustments can be made to improve the regulation and operation of sports wagering. Finally, Part III is focused on requests for clarification.

All changes will be shown as follows: proposed additional text will be bolded and underlined and all text to be deleted will be bracketed and struck through. For the sake of clarity, where we are suggesting changes to existing regulations that the Commission is also proposing changes, our additions will be shown in black, while Commission proposed changes will be shown in red.

Part I - Major Concerns.

- Issue 1 – Sports Wagering Vendor Representative Licensing.

The Proposed Rules include three new rules (WAC 230-03-311, 312, and 313) which require sports wagering vendors to have their business and marketing representatives licensed. As we have worked with regulators on employee and key employee licensing in numerous jurisdictions, we have not seen such a requirement applied to sports wagering. While requirements vary by state, generally, the employees who may be required to be licensed fall into one of three buckets: 1) employees who interact directly with the public in a retail setting; 2) employees who have the ability to directly implement changes to the sports wagering system; and 3) employees who have access to customer personally identifiable information (PII). We have not seen requirements by regulators to license our business and marketing representatives. To address this concern, we suggest the following amendments:

“(NEW) WAC 230-03-311 Applying for a major sports wagering vendor [~~representative~~] employee license

You must apply for a major sports wagering [~~representative~~] employee license if you, as an individual, [~~sell, market, promote, represent, service, or otherwise work in~~] have the capability to directly affect the outcome of a sports wagering or the capability of directly affecting a payout to a patron related to any sports wagering activities under employment or contract to a major sports wagering vendor in our state or you supervise those who do.”

“(NEW) WAC 230-03-312 Applying for a mid-level sports wagering vendor [~~representative~~] employee license

You must apply for a mid-level sports wagering [~~representative~~] employee license if you, as an individual, [~~sell, market, promote, represent, service, or otherwise work in~~] have the capability to directly affect the outcome of a sports wagering or the capability of directly affecting a payout to a patron related to any sports wagering activities under employment or contract to a mid-level sports wagering vendor in our state or you supervise those who do.”

“(NEW) WAC 230-03-313 Applying for an ancillary sports wagering vendor [~~representative~~] employee license

You must apply for an ancillary sports wagering [~~representative~~] employee license if you as an individual [~~sell, market, promote, represent, service, or otherwise work in~~] have the capability to directly affect the outcome of a sports wagering or the capability of directly affecting a payout to a patron related to any sports wagering activities under employment or contract to an ancillary sports wagering vendor in our state or you supervise those who do.”

- Issue 2 – Clarification to allow sports wagering vendor representatives/employees to work while license application is pending.

The Proposed Rules include an update to WAC 230-03-335 which adds representatives of sports wagering vendors to the list of those individuals who may not work until they have received their license. We support the requirement to ensure employees are properly licensed in order to perform their duties. However, for sports wagering operations to get up and running expeditiously in order to be fully operational for the upcoming NFL season (which represents a disproportionate share of annual sports wagering handle and revenue in all other sports wagering jurisdictions), we suggest that the Commission provide a temporary exemption through the end of this year to allow for sports wagering employees to be allowed to work while their license applications are pending. To address this concern, we suggest the following amendment:

“WAC 230-03-335 Representatives must not work before receiving a license. If you are applying for a license as a representative or employee for a manufacturer, distributor, gambling services supplier, call centers for enhanced raffles, a sports wagering vendor, or linked bingo prize provider, you must not work until you receive a license from us. However, if you apply for a license as a representative of a sports wagering vendor prior to December 31, 2021, you may continue to perform the same duties you conducted prior to the effective date of this regulation during the pendency of your application for a license.”

- Issue 3 – Accounting and recordkeeping requirements for sports wagering vendors.

The Proposed Rules include three new rules (all numbered as WAC 230-17-xxx) related to accounting and recordkeeping requirements for sales by sports wagering vendors. These requirements are very detailed and appear to be drafted to ensure that vendors who are subject to state licensing fees based on volume of sales appropriately report their income in the state. However, it is our understanding of the draft rules that sports wagering vendors are intended to be subject to flat license fees based on the category of vendor, and not pay an additional license fee based on their volume of sales in the state. Since these detailed recordkeeping requirements are not necessary to support license fee assessment, and they appear to go beyond the requirements of other jurisdictions as it relates to sports wagering vendors, we suggest their removal as follows:

~~“(NEW) WAC 230-17-xxx Accounting records for sports wagering vendors
Sports wagering vendors must keep and maintain a complete set of records for their licensed activity and include, at a minimum:~~

~~(1) Double entry method of accounting updated at least once a month, including a monthly balance for each account; and~~

~~(2) Maintain their records in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and ensure the records can be reconciled to the licensee's federal income tax return; and~~

~~(3) Maintain and keep for at least three years following the end of the fiscal year:~~

~~(a) Cash disbursements book (check register) — Sports wagering vendors must document all expenses, both sports wagering and non-sports wagering related, with invoices or other appropriate supporting documents. They must enter information monthly and include, at least:~~

- ~~(i) The date the check was issued or payment made;~~
- ~~(ii) The number of the check; and~~
- ~~(iii) The name of the payee; and~~
- ~~(iv) Type of expense; and~~

~~(b) Cash receipts — Sports wagering vendors must keep a record of cash sales and cash received from all sources. They must enter information for each payment received monthly and include, at least, the:~~

- ~~(i) Date; and~~
- ~~(ii) Name of the person paying; and~~
- ~~(iii) Amount; and~~

~~(c) General ledger — Sports wagering vendors whose sports wagering related sales are greater than five hundred thousand dollars per year must have a general ledger which contains, in addition to all other accounts by month, a separate sales account for each type of sale; and~~

~~(d) Bank reconciliation — Sports wagering vendors must reconcile their accounts each month. "Reconcile" means the sports wagering vendors must compare the two balances, resolve any differences, and document the comparison and the differences in writing; and~~

~~(e) Copies of all financial data — Sports wagering vendors must keep copies of all financial data that supports tax reports to governmental agencies;~~

~~(j) Maintain copies of all contracts related to sports wagering they enter into which fully disclose all terms.~~

~~(NEW) WAC 230-17-XXX Sales invoices for sports wagering vendors~~

~~Sports wagering vendors must document each sale of equipment or services, any return or refund, or any other type of transfer of sports wagering equipment, with a standard sales invoice.~~

~~Sales invoices and credit memos — These invoices and credit memos must:~~

- ~~(1) Be prenumbered sequentially at the time of purchase, using not less than four digits. Sports Wagering vendors may use computer~~

~~generated numbering systems if:~~

- ~~(a) The system numbers the invoices and credit memos sequentially; and~~
- ~~(b) The sports wagering vendors use the same system for all sales; and~~
- ~~(c) The sports wagering vendors must not use a manual override function; and~~

~~(2) Record:~~

- ~~(a) The date of sale. Sports wagering vendors must also enter the date of delivery if different from the date of sale; and~~
- ~~(b) The customer's name and complete business address; and~~
- ~~(c) A full description of each item sold, or service provided, and~~
- ~~(d) The quantity and price of each item, and~~
- ~~(e) The gross amount of each sale, including all discount terms and the total dollar amount of any discount.~~

~~(NEW) WAC 230-17-xxx Sales journals for sports wagering vendors~~

~~Sports wagering vendors must keep a monthly sales journal containing, at least:~~

- ~~(1) Each date of sale; and~~
- ~~(2) Each sale invoice number; and~~
- ~~(3) The name of the person paying; and~~
- ~~(4) Sales categorized by the sports wagering goods, equipment or services sold; and~~
- ~~(5) The total amount of each invoice.]”~~

- Issue 4 – Prevention of prohibited participants

The Proposed Rules include a new rule (WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering Integrity (3)) which requires licensees to “make all reasonable efforts to detect and prevent prohibited sports wagering participants from participating in sports wagering.” While we appreciate the Commission’s decision to utilize a “reasonable effort” standard for this regulation, we believe this should be clarified to be a “commercially reasonable” standard. Such a standard has been adopted by multiple other jurisdictions including Colorado (Rule 7.11(2)(b)); Indiana (68 IAC 27-12-2(2)); and Virginia (11 VAC 5-80-70(2)). To address this concern, we suggest the following amendment:

WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering Integrity (3):

“(3) Licensees must ~~[make all]~~ take commercially reasonable efforts to detect and prevent prohibited sports wagering participants from participating in sports wagering.”

- Issue 5 – Requirement for sports wagering vendors to be licensed before the “sale” of a sports wagering system.

The Proposed Rules include a new rule (WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering System Requirements) which provides that sports wagering vendors must be licensed before the “sale” or delivery of a sports wagering system to be used in Washington. We support the requirement to ensure vendors are properly licensed in order to perform their duties. However, for sports wagering operations to get up and running expeditiously in order to be fully operational for the upcoming NFL season (which represents a disproportionate share of annual sports wagering handle and revenue in all other sports wagering jurisdictions), we suggest that the Commission provide a temporary exemption through the end of this year to allow for sports wagering vendors be allowed to complete sales while their license applications are pending. To address this concern, we suggest the following amendment.

WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering System Requirements:

“(1) Sports wagering vendors must be licensed before the sale or delivery of a sports wagering system(s) to be used in our state. However, if you apply for a license as a sports wagering vendor prior to December 31, 2021, you may conduct sales during the pendency of your application for a license.”

- Issue 6 – Server location and cloud storage requirements

The Proposed Rules include a new rule which has two concerning provisions related to the operation of the sports wagering system (WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering System Requirements (8) and (9)). The first concern relates to the requirement in subdivision (8) which provides that “the primary server for a sports wagering system must be in the state and located within a class III tribal gaming facility.” We acknowledge the requirement for the placement of a server in the state as it relates to the conduct of mobile sports wagering, however, we would seek to be able to locate the server in a secure data center outside of the gaming facility. The second concern relates to the requirement in subdivision (9) that any cloud storage facilities must be located in the state. While mobile sports wagers must be processed within the state, other states have recognized that vendors and operators who are engaged in sports wagering in multiple jurisdictions utilize cloud-based solutions for data and that those cloud facilities are not required to be located within the state. To address these concerns, we suggest the following amendments:

WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering System Requirements (8) and (9):

“(8) The primary server for a sports wagering system must be in the state and located within a secure data center [~~Class III tribal gaming facility~~].

(9) Cloud storage for sports wagering data and information may be used for duplicate or backup data. [~~Cloud storage facilities must be located in the state.~~]”

- Issue 7 – Requirement for “in-person” registration and verification of sports wagering accounts.

The Proposed Rules include a new rule (WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering Account Requirements) which provides that patrons must have their accounts “registered and verified in-person at a tribal gaming facility” prior to customers being able to access their accounts. While this requirement may not seem onerous due to the fact that mobile sports wagering is geofenced to the tribal gaming facility, it will create an unnecessary burden on customers who will be required to appear in person and then wait on line to be personally verified by an employee of the operator. Only two states in the U.S. require in-person identity verification in order to create a sports wagering account (Illinois and Nevada) both of whom have considered eliminating the requirement. Additionally, Iowa and Rhode Island no longer have their in-person identity verification requirements. States have recognized that modern Know Your Customer (KYC) and identity verification procedures allow for patron identity verification to be completed successfully remotely and have abandoned the antiquated policy of requiring in-person identity verification. To address this concern, we suggest the following amendment:

WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering Account Requirements:

“... (3) A sports wagering account must be registered and verified [in-person at a tribal gaming facility] before the acceptance of any wager using that Sports Wagering Account.”

Part II – Secondary Concerns.

- Issue 1 – Clarification that sports wagering vendors and sports wagering vendor representatives are not required to complete training.

The Proposed Rules include an update to WAC 230-03-070(3) which adds “major sports wagering vendors” to the exception for required training that is already granted to “manufacturers” and “manufacturers’ representatives.” While we believe this change is warranted, we believe this exemption should be extended to all sports wagering vendors and all sports wagering vendor representatives in order to parallel the exemption for all manufacturers and all manufacturer representatives. To address this concern, we suggest the following amendment:

WAC 230-03-070(3):

“(3) We do not require manufacturers, ~~[or]~~ manufacturer’s representatives, ~~[or major]~~ sports wagering vendors, or sports wagering vendor representatives to complete training....”

- Issue 2 – Clarification that “Minor League” does not include alternative professional leagues.

The Proposed Rules include a new rule (WAC 230-17-005) which provides for the definitions of terms related to sports wagering. Included among the definitions is one for the term “Minor League” which appropriately defines “minor leagues.” However, a small clarification would be helpful to guard against any misinterpretation that may prevent wagering on a number of international sports teams, where an entire team may be promoted, or relegated, between professional leagues based upon the performance of the entire team. As an example, English professional soccer leagues see this movement of an entire team without being classified as a “minor league” in the traditional sense that we may apply to single, double, or triple-A baseball teams for example. To address this concern, we suggest the following amendment:

“(6) “Minor League” means a lower professional league or division within a sport, such as baseball or hockey, where a professional team has the exclusive contractual rights to promote and relegate players. “Minor League” does not include professional leagues where entire teams of players may be promoted or relegated between leagues based upon the performance of the entire team.”

- Issue 3 – Requirement for “immediately” notify the Commission of violations and unusual or suspicious activity.

The Proposed Rules include two new rules (WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering Integrity and WAC 230-17-xxx – Integrity Monitoring Provider Requirements) which include an “immediate” reporting standard for sports wagering vendors to reports suspected violations or regulations or statutes and unusual or suspicious wagering activity. Sports wagering vendors need to report this information in a timely manner to the Commission, however, creating an “immediate” reporting requirement does not allow the sports wagering vendor the flexibility to conduct an initial investigation which would provide the Commission with useful information in the report. Additionally, such initial investigation may resolve the underlying concern (especially in relation to unusual wagering activity) and prevent the overreporting of “false alarms.” This prompt reporting standard is similar to that required in Michigan (R432.743). To address this concern, we suggest the following amendments:

“(New) WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering Integrity

(1) Sports wagering vendor and vendor representative licensees must [immediately] promptly notify us upon any discovery of a violation or of a suspected violation of RCW 9.46, this Chapter, or any violation of local, state, tribal, or federal ordinances, statutes, administrative rules or court orders.

(4) Licensees must [immediately] promptly notify us, in the format we require, when unusual wagering activity or suspicious wagering activity is identified, including changes with the status of, or information related to, a previously reported unusual or suspicious wagering activity.

(NEW) WAC 230-17-xxx Integrity Monitoring Provider Requirements

(3) Integrity Monitoring Providers must [immediately] promptly notify us when they identify unusual wagering activity or suspicious wagering activity.

(4) Integrity Monitoring Providers must [~~immediately~~] promptly notify us, and all other Integrity Monitoring Providers, sports wagering operators, and all other agencies or organizations as directed by us, on any previously reported unusual wagering activity it finds rises to the level of suspicious wagering activity.”

- Issue 4 – Requirement for responsible gaming “link” and deposit limits on sports wagering kiosks.

The Proposed Rules include a new rule (WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering Systems (11)) which provides requirements related to responsible gaming resources within the sports wagering system and displayed on kiosks. We strongly support making responsible gaming resources, including wager and deposit limits available to sports wagering patrons. However, as written, this rule appears to impose a “one size fits all” requirement on both mobile sports wagering and retail sports wagering through the use of kiosks. The rule requires the display of a “link” to a sports wagering operator’s responsible gaming policies in the kiosk interface itself. Additionally, the rule requires kiosks to have solutions for patron wager and deposit limits. Sports wagering kiosks may or may not have the functionality to be linked to a patron’s sports wagering account and may be used by patrons who have not established a sports wagering account with the operator or patrons who do not wish to access their account on the kiosk. As such, the requirement to provide wager and deposit limits on the kiosk may not be appropriate in every situation. Additionally, the functionality of kiosks may not include sending a customer to an outside website containing the operator’s responsible gaming policies via a “link” and should be updated to allow operators to provide a URL where the patron can access the responsible gaming policies on their own device. To address these concerns, we suggest the following amendments:

WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering Systems (11):

“(11) sports wagering systems and sports wagering kiosks will, at a minimum, all for a display of commitment to responsible gaming and URL or link to the Class III tribal sports wagering operator’s responsible gaming policies. It will also have solutions for including, but not limited to: patron controlled wager and deposit limits (if applicable); and connecting players to problem gambling resources.”

- Issue 5 – Requirement to maintain reserve funds in federally regulated financial institutions who do business in Washington.

The Proposed Rules include a new rule (WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering Account Requirements (5)) which requires licensees who maintain player account funds to hold them in a “federally regulated financial institution who does business in our state.” To provide greater flexibility to licensees, we suggest that player account funds should be allowed to be held at a state or federally regulated financial institution in the United States. To address this concern, we suggest the following amendment:

WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering Account Requirements:

“... (5) Licensees who maintain player account funds shall hold these funds at a federally or state regulated financial institution in the United States [~~who does business in our state~~].”

- Issue 6 – clarification for use of single wallet across multiple products

The Proposed Rules include a new rule (WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering Account Requirements (6)) which prohibits the transfer of funds held in a sports wagering account from one patron account to another patron account. We fully support the prohibition on transferring of funds from one patron to another. However, we would seek clarification to ensure that this provision is not interpreted to prevent the use of a unified account and wallet by patrons to access the funds while in a jurisdiction where sports betting or other products offered by the licensee are legal and the licensee is authorized to offer those products. To address this concern, we suggest the following amendment:

WAC 230-17-xxx – Sports Wagering Account Requirements:

“... (6) Player funds held in a sports wagering account shall not be allowed to be transferred from a patron account of one individual to another patron account of a different individual.”

Part III Requests for Clarification.

- Issue 1 – License fees for sports wagering vendors.

The Proposed Rules include an update to WAC 230-05-170 to provide for the license fees for sports wagering vendors. As included in the chart it appears that the proposed license fees for sports wagering vendors are: $85,000 for major; $10,000 for mid-level; and $5,000 for ancillary with no additional license fee based upon Gross Gambling Receipts. Can the Commission confirm this reading of the Proposed Rules?

We appreciate your time and consideration of our comments and would be happy to discuss at your convenience.

Sincerely,

Cory Fox

Re: Rush Street Interactive, L.P. – Comments to initial draft rules for sports wagering

Dear Mr. Considine:

On behalf of Rush Street Interactive, L.P. (“RSI”), we greatly appreciate the opportunity to provide comments to the Washington State Gambling Commission concerning the initial draft of proposed sports wagering rules.

Please accept our comments as follows:

WAC 230-05-120 Paying annual license fee.

We are seeking clarity that we can opt to make one payment annually for the annual license fee.

WAC 230-06-030 Restrictions and conditions for gambling promotions.

(9) We recommend adding a section to permit mobile sports wagering suppliers to offer promotional prizes based on chance, as they do in other jurisdictions. Our suggestion is: (c) Licensed major sports wagering suppliers are authorized to give promotional prizes or items as part of a physical drawing, spinning a wheel, or selecting from a group of concealed items.

(NEW) WAC 230-17-xxx Accounting records for sports wagering vendors

We are seeking clarification that while we need to maintain these records, we do not need submit them to WSGC. Should WSGC require any review of these records, we would ask for advance notice of such review and expectation.

(NEW) WAC 230-17-xxx Authorized Sports Wagering Menu

We believe that a statewide menu like this is always ideal. How will new event/sport approvals be handled? Will there be a licensee request process?

(New) WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering Integrity

(6) In other jurisdictions, system access is provided to the regulators, not the integrity monitoring service. We recommend that WSGC take the same approach.

(NEW) WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering System Requirements

(3) Recommend deleting “, approved,”. This is redundant with the requirement of certification.

(12) We seek clarification of the requirement to provide sports wagering system software to the WSGC that “must be identical or substantially similar to what is deployed in the state”. Please clarify that access to a non-production environment would be sufficient to comply with this requirement.

We would be pleased to discuss these comments or answer any questions you may have. I can be reached at: 312-915-2801 or lcx@rushstreetinteractive.com.

Sincerely,

Brian and Ashlie – Thank you for the opportunity to provide feedback on the proposed sports wagering regulations released by your office on May 27th. I am reaching out to you on behalf of Sightline Payments a premiere payments solution provider for the digital and land based gaming industries. CC'd on this email is Jonathan Michaels, SVP of Strategic Developments and Government Affairs at Sightline. His team's expertise is relied on by regulators throughout the U.S., and they work closely with many of the leading sportsbook operators. We hope you will consider Sightline a resource to the WSGC on all matters related to the payments ecosystem.

With respect to the proposed rules we are requesting that the regulation includes defined payment methods for sports bettors, along with regulator flexibility to approve innovative payment solutions as the market evolves. Currently, under 230-17-005 Sports Wagering Definitions the draft rules define "Sports Wagering Account" as "an electronic account established by a patron for the purpose of sports wagering, including deposits, withdrawals, wagered amounts, payouts on winning wagers, or similar adjustments." We would recommend adding this language to define payment methods the would be acceptable.

A patron's sports wagering account for sports wagering may be funded through the use of:

- 1) a patron's credit or debit card;
- 2) a patron's deposit of cash or vouchers at a cashiering location approved by the executive director or executive director's designee;
- 3) a patron's reloadable prepaid card, which has been verified as being issued to the patron and is nontransferable;
- 4) promotional credit;
- 5) winnings;
- 6) adjustments made by the sports wagering operator with documented notification to the patron;
- 7) ACH transfer, provided that the operator has security measures and controls to prevent ACH fraud regarding failed ACH deposits;
- 8) wire transfer; or
- 9) any other means approved by the commission.

This is regulatory language we have seen in other jurisdictions. Attached is a summary of Indiana's sports wagering rules on payments for you to see as a good example of what state regulators have approved within their rules and regulations.

If you have any questions about this comment, or would like to schedule a time to discuss further, we would be happy to connect. The team at Sightline are happy to be a resource to you!

Appreciate your willingness to get input from industry.

Dear Ms. Griffin:

On behalf of the Spokane Tribal Business Council, thank you for the opportunity to provide these comments on the draft sports wagering rules presented at the Washington State Gambling Commission's (WSGC) meeting on Thursday, June 10. For the reasons set forth herein, the Spokane Tribe is concerned that WSGC's draft rules improperly circumvent our co-regulatory relationship under the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act ("IGRA") and our gaming compact with the State of Washington.

As a preliminary matter, we are concerned that the draft rules were not made available to us in time to allow for a thoughtful review and discussion. Moving forward, we request timely notice of agency rulemaking that is directly related to STOI gaming activities.

As to the substance of the draft sports wagering rules, the Tribe has several concerns. Under IGRA, the co-regulatory relationship between the State of Washington and tribes is governed by the Class III gaming compacts. As fully recognized by section 2 of HB 2638, the operation of sports wagering on tribal lands is a feature of the compacts (which are negotiated between the State and tribes), not a feature of state rule (which is adopted as a unilateral action of the State). We appreciate this is the first time there has been legislation authorizing a tribal only activity, but that does not change the fact that IGRA—and therefore the compacts—are what govern the conduct and operation of the gaming activity.

While HB 2638 gave WSGC rulemaking authority over licensing (or more appropriately, certification), it did not give, nor would IGRA allow it to give, WSGC rulemaking authority over Tribal gaming activities conducted on Spokane Indian lands. Accordingly, I respectfully request that draft rule section 230-17 be removed in its entirety. That section is largely a restatement of what is already in compact, and that is where it should stay.

We acknowledge that HB 2638 authorizes WSGC to track and monitor certain transactions, require certain reports, and the like. However, those issues were discussed at the compact negotiation table, and we are frustrated that WSGC is taking a second bite at the apple by requiring certain reports and documents by rule that the WSGC had already agreed would be handled by compact and internal controls. Any concern for WSGC to take action against our vendors for their failure to follow our compacts can be better addressed by including a catchall provision in the rules that says that. That is far more effective, efficient, and appropriate than restating tribal compacts in WSGC rules.

Next, we join the torrent of tribes and vendors who object to the proposed licensing fee structure. Sports wagering will be a minor financial addition to the Tribe's Class III gaming offerings. However, the proposed fee for major vendors is more than three times what TLS vendors currently pay. Excessive vendor certification fees lead to one of two outcomes: (1) the fee is passed on to the tribes (a de facto illegal tax on Class III tribal gaming revenues), or (2) the fee is not passed on to the tribes, and - as some vendors have already pointed out - vendors are dissuaded from participating in the Washington market at all. This is especially true here, for an on-premises only game, and even truer at smaller properties. Instead, WSGC should approach sports wagering vendors the same way the agency has approached other gaming vendors in the past: a more appropriate fee combined with special investigative fees as needed to address unique costs of investigating certain vendors.

Finally, we join in the Suquamish Tribe's comments to the draft rules, and we concur with the comments submitted by the Washington Indian Gaming Association.

Respectfully,

Carol Evans
Chairwoman

Hi Brian,

Our team at Sportradar thanks you for all your efforts as you continue the monumental task of launching sports betting in Washington. Although we did not have any edits or suggestions to submit by this morning, we have some clarifying questions that would likely apply to all vendors, especially mid-level sports wagering vendor licensees.

Our clarifying questions mainly focus on the quarterly license reports and fees, specifically:

- Will mid-level vendors be able to submit one comprehensive quarterly report/fee that covers total gross gaming revenue derived from services supplied to all WA bookmaking customers? Or will mid-level vendors need to submit individual quarterly reports/fees for each bookmaking customer we supply to in WA?
- Does the calculation of quarterly reports/fees apply to both fixed-fee and revenue-sharing agreements that mid-level vendors execute? If fixed-fee agreements also apply, will there be any changes in how to calculate total quarterly fees owed?

Lastly, we are hoping to clarify which data suppliers are captured under the mid-level vendor license. There are two main ways to supply data into a market, either (1) the direct route: supplying to B2Cs such as DraftKings or FanDuel, or (2) the indirect route: supplying to B2B platforms such as Kambi, IGT, or SciGames. While we believe both supply chain routes should be captured and require a mid-level vendor license, we have noticed some jurisdictions exempting the latter option completely in certain cases. Since data is the critical component that powers the entire betting operation, we raise this concern as a matter of licensure equity amongst existing and future data suppliers.

As a resource for you, I've attached our model supplier language that addresses both supply chain routes (found under the definition of a sports betting supplier). Although this model language is more for statutory purposes, we welcome the opportunity to walk you through these licensure equity concerns and how the WSGC can ensure all entities involved in the data supply chain are captured and licensed accordingly.

Again, we appreciate your efforts and transparency throughout this entire process. Our team remains open to further dialogue at your convenience.

Kind regards,
John

Definitions

"Sports betting supplier" means a person that provides services, goods, software, or other components necessary for the creation of betting markets and determining bet outcomes, directly or indirectly to any license holder or applicant involved in the acceptance of bets. Examples include, but are not limited to providers of data feeds and odds services, internet platform providers, risk management providers, integrity monitoring providers, and other providers of sports betting supplier services as determined by the [regulator]. A sports governing body that provides raw statistical match data to one or more designated and licensed providers of data and odds services shall not be a sports betting supplier.

"Sports betting supplier license" means a license issued by the [regulator] to a sports betting supplier.

Sec. X Sports Betting Supplier License

(1) The [regulator] may issue a sports betting supplier license to a sports betting supplier. A person that is not licensed under this section shall not sell, lease, distribute, offer, or otherwise provide services, goods, software, or other components necessary for the creation of betting markets and determining bet outcomes, directly or indirectly to any license holder or applicant involved in the acceptance of bets, except that an interactive sports wagering operator shall not be required to obtain a separate sports betting supplier license in order to act as a sports betting supplier. A supplier must be licensed under this section if providing supplier services under a fixed-fee or revenue-sharing agreement.

(2) On application by an interested person, the [regulator] may issue a provisional sports betting supplier license to an applicant for a sports betting supplier license. A provisional license issued under this subsection allows the applicant for the sports betting supplier license to conduct business regarding the operation of sports betting with a license holder or applicant before the sports betting supplier license is issued. A provisional license issued under this subsection expires on the date provided by the [regulator].

(3) A person may apply to the [regulator] for a sports betting supplier license as provided in this act and the rules promulgated under this act.

(4) Except as otherwise provided in this section, an application under this section must be made on forms provided by the [regulator] and include the information required by the [regulator].

(5) The [regulator] shall require applicants to disclose the identity of (a) the applicant's principal owners who directly own five percent or more of the applicant; (b) each holding, intermediary or parent company that directly owns fifteen percent or more of the applicant; and (c) the applicant's board appointed CEO and CFO. The [regulator] shall have the authority to waive any or all qualification requirements for any person or entity in this subsection.

(6) Legislatively created entities such as sovereign entities, government entities, government agencies, pension investment boards, and public corporations, that are direct or indirect shareholders of the applicant, shall be waived from any information disclosure requests in connection to the license application as determined by the [regulator].

(7) Investment funds or entities registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission, whether as Investment Advisors or otherwise, as well as the entities under the management of such entities registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission, that are direct or indirect shareholders of the applicant, shall be waived from any information disclosure requests in connection to the license application as determined by the [regulator].

(8) In no scenario shall a person holding a sports betting supplier license or a temporary sports betting supplier license be subject to, or required to obtain, any additional license to offer the services under this section.

Dear Brian and Ashlie:

On behalf of the Suquamish Tribe, I write today to offer comments to the proposed draft sports wagering rules in advance of the upcoming Washington State Gambling Commission (“WSGC”) meeting. Attached is a redline of our recommended revisions, but I did want to highlight a few themes of concern that we had after reviewing the proposed draft.

First, the draft rules—and in particular, 230-17, Proposed Sports Wagering Rules—misunderstand the role (or lack thereof) of state regulations in the larger context of the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act (“IGRA”) and the tribes’ relationship with the state. State adopted rules cannot govern tribal gaming activities; rather, the co-regulatory relationship between the state and tribes is governed by the Class III gaming compacts, and supplemented by tribal ordinances and other tribal regulations. See 25 U.S.C. § 2710(d). The only appropriate purpose of state gaming regulations rules would be the certification of tribal gaming vendors.

This distinction is recognized by HB 2638, which as you know, authorized tribes to engage in sports wagering on Indian lands pursuant to their gaming compacts. Consistent with IGRA, the bill directed that the Commission’s five pillars (licensing; fees associated with the gambling commission's regulation of sports wagering; how sports wagering will be conducted, operated, and regulated; issues related to criminal enforcement, including money laundering, sport integrity, and information sharing between the commission and the tribe related to such enforcement; and responsible and problem gambling) be included in those compacts. The bill also confirmed that the Commission had authority to engage in rulemaking to issue licenses to sports wagering vendors. HB 2638 does not give the WSGC rulemaking authority over the activity of sports wagering on Indian lands. It gives the WSGC the authority to determine whether someone is qualified to be a vendor for sports wagering.

We acknowledge that section 7(6) of the bill gives the WSGC the authority to track and monitor gambling-related sports wagering transactions; however this authority is tied to WSGC’s enforcement of criminal laws related to suspicious or illegal wagering activities. Some of the obligations these draft rules purport to put on all vendors—not just those with access to integrity-related data—and the data WSGC is requesting goes beyond that purview and would impose obligations on our vendors that are not market standard. Further, the proposed rules conflate licensees with operators. See e.g., New WAC 230-17-xxx Sports Wagering Integrity at p. 9 (“Licensees must make all reasonable efforts to detect and prevent prohibited sports wagering participants from participating in sports wagering.”). Licensees will not be stopping people from betting. We, the tribal operators, will. And we are not licensees; instead, our relationship is governed by the compacts.

Not only does the approach in the draft rules conflict with IGRA, but it ignores the extensive negotiations and compromise we have engaged in to reach tentative agreement on our compact. For the last year, we have engaged in negotiations to ensure that the gaming compact covers all five pillars noted above in a way that works for the state and the tribes. We were therefore both surprised and disappointed to see much of what we already covered in the compacts reflected—unnecessarily, inappropriately, and in some cases, inconsistently—in the draft rules. For example, we agreed to deal with information sharing matters in our internal controls; yet these draft rules force our vendors to provide WSGC information that WSGC requests, irrespective of whether the data is even theirs or whether WSGC’s request comports with the parameters established in the compact or the internal controls. The result is an end-run around our compact negotiations and collaborative process. The compact and our internal controls are a negotiated set of documents; WSGC’s regulations are completely in WSGC’s purview.

Lastly, I would be remiss if I did not point out our concerns with the amounts of the proposed license fees. As you know, sports wagering here in Washington will be on an extremely limited, on-premises only basis. This means that, especially for the smaller properties, sports wagering will not be a particularly lucrative game. To charge our vendors more than three times the current highest vendor fee in the state is wholly out of line with the value of the activity. Moreover, a vendor’s supply chain could include multiple participants at the major, mid, and ancillary levels. If licensing is cost prohibitive, reputable vendors will take a pass on Washington. Please consider addressing these vendors like the other tribal licensees that WSGC certifies, where they pay an annual amount, plus any special investigative fees WSGC incurs. That way, WSGC can be sure that its costs, especially when higher in that first year, are covered, while at the same time making clear that these fees do not indicate the WSGC’s entry into improper tribal tax territory.

We may have additional comments depending on the final draft you consider on Thursday, but I wanted to provide you these preliminary comments ahead of the June WSGC meeting.

Thank you,

(NEW) WAC 230-03-xxx Additional information required for sports wagering vendors.

Sports wagering vendor applicants must provide contracts and agreements, ~~or proposed contracts or agreements,~~ with any ~~third parties~~ other vendors that are part of their sport wagering offerings in the state ~~and relate to the applicant's or a third party~~ the vendor's sports wagering equipment, goods, services, and information for review for compliance with Title 230 WAC and chapter 9.46 RCW. ~~Contracts or agreements to be provided for review will relate to the applicant's or a third party vendor's sports wagering equipment, goods, services, and information.~~ Provided, however, that nothing in this rule requires a sports wagering vendor to provide its contracts or agreements with a federally recognized Indian tribe.]

WAC 230-03-200 Defining "gambling equipment." "Gambling equipment" means any device, gambling-related software, expendable supply, or any other paraphernalia used as a part of gambling or to make gambling possible. "Gambling equipment" includes, but is not limited to:

- (1) Amusement games;
- (2) Punch boards and pull-tabs;

Commented [A3]: Our strong preference is that this draft rule is deleted in its entirety, but at the very least this rule must exclude the tribe's agreements with sports wagering vendors.

Commented [A4]: Including sports wagering equipment in this definition results in a SW equipment provider needing two separate licenses: (1) major sports wagering vendor, and (2) manufacturer under 230-03-025 or distributor under 230-03-190. It is unduly burdensome to require two licenses for providing the same piece of sports wagering equipment, particularly for vendors providing mere components of a sports wagering system.

(4) Electronic devices for conducting, facilitating, or accounting for the results of gambling activities, including, but not limited to:

Re: Tulalip Tribes Comments on the WSGC Sports Wagering Rules

Dear Director Griffin and Chairman Sizemore,

On behalf of the Tulalip Tribes, we appreciate your work on the proposed Sports Wagering rules discussed at the WSGC public hearing June 10, 2021, and we thank you for opportunity to provide input of the proposal. We also want to express our concerns with the WSGC's proposed language, in what appears to be an attempt to circumvent the carefully negotiated sports wagering compact amendment negotiated between the Tulalip Tribes and the WSGC. The proposed language ignores the co-regulatory relationship between Indian Tribes and the State of Washington under the Indian Regulatory Gaming Act (IGRA) and the Tribal – State Gaming Compacts.

The WSGC is blurring the lines between its role to adopt Sports Wagering rules for the purpose of certifying sports wagering vendors and the general regulation of sports wagering activities on Indian lands, of which the WSGC has no authority to do under its rulemaking process. While the bill confirmed that the Commission had authority to engage in rulemaking to issue licenses to sports wagering vendors, this is a far cry from giving the WSGC rulemaking authority over the activity of sports wagering on Indian lands. Instead, Tribal government gaming in Washington State is conducted pursuant IGRA, tribal-state gaming compacts, tribal gaming ordinances, tribal regulations, and tribal internal controls.

The Tulalip Tribes spent significant tribal resources in government-to-government sports wagering compact negotiations with the WSGC which ultimately led to the Tulalip Tribes Appendix S. Throughout the compact negotiation each party made compromises, and, in many instances, Tulalip negotiated specific language out of the WSGC sports wagering proposal. To see this same language inserted into this proposal appears like an attempted end-run around our government-to-government compact negotiation, and a loss of Tulalip's bargained-for-exchange.

We provide the following specific comments:

1. WAC 230-03-xxx and WAC 230-06-xxx – Additional information required for sports wagering vendors and Submitting sports wagering related contracts and agreements for review.

- a. Language in these sections that require vendors to provide vendor contracts and agreements to the WSGC and should be stricken. This language was first discussed in the government-to-government sports wagering negotiations. The parties agreed to remove this language based on these negotiations. Information contained in vendor contracts contain proprietary information and should be kept confidential. Even if the section is amended and limited to vendor-to-vendor contracts only, it is untenable for vendors because of its broad interpretation of who must be licensed as a vendor for goods and services. There are also routine modifications and amendments to contracts, a submission of which will be burdensome and create significant administrative challenges. At a minimum, contracts and agreements between vendors and tribal gaming operations should be excluded from this requirement.

2. WAC 230-17 - New Section.

- a. This entire section is problematic and should be deleted in its entirety. Some sections in WAC 230-17 are already addressed in Appendix S and are the tribes', not the vendors', responsibility. Other sections are inconsistent with Appendix S. For example, WAC 230-17-xxx (3) is inconsistent with Appendix S because it states that "All sports wagering kiosks must be tested, approved, and certified by a licensed independent testing laboratory." Pursuant to Appendix S, the tribal regulatory bodies "approve" the kiosks and sports wagering systems, not the independent testing laboratories.

The requirement in proposed rule WAC 230-17-xxx (10) requires that sports wagering system reports be provided, but the submission of sports wagering system reports are already addressed in Appendix S and will be further delineated in our internal controls.

WAC 230-17-xxx (Authorized Sports Wagering Menu) implies that a vendor will be accepting wagers. This is incorrect. The tribal gaming operations will be accepting wagers based on what is approved on the Authorized Sports Wagering Menu as agreed to in Appendix S. This section should be deleted in its entirety.

These examples are by no means exhaustive. We urge the WSGC to delete WAC 230-17 in its entirety for various substantive reasons.

3. WAC 230-05-170. Fees for other businesses.

- a. The Sports Wagering Vendor fees are extremely high. These costs will either be passed down to tribal government gaming operations, or simply prevent vendors from entering the market here in Washington State. We understand and agree that there may be additional costs associated with licensing sports wagering vendors, especially in the initial year. We do not believe, however, that the higher costs associated with the licensing sports wagering vendors in the first year will be representative of the second and third year etc. For this reason, we recommend that the WSGC lower the fees substantially and create a process to charge vendors additional fees to cover the costs should the costs exceed what is collected from the vendors. The WSGC has a loan they can pull from if they need to cover costs on the front-end.

We thank you for taking the time to address our concerns set forth in this letter. We also ask that you review closely other comments by both vendors and tribes, as we share similar concerns. Given the long-standing relationship between the Tulalip Tribes and the WSGC, we are optimistic that our concerns will be addressed. If you have any questions or would like to discuss this matter, please contact Lisa Koop Gunn, Attorney for the Tulalip Tribes.

Thank you,

Teri Gobin,
Tulalip Tribal Chairwoman

Bud Sizemore, Chair
Tina Griffin, Interim Director
Washington State Gambling Commission
P.O. Box 42400
Olympia, WA 98504

Dear Bud and Tina:

On behalf of the Washington Indian Gaming Association (WIGA), I write today to offer feedback on the draft sports wagering rules presented at the Washington State Gambling Commission's (WSGC) meeting on Thursday, June 10. To summarize, WIGA is concerned that WSGC's draft rules improperly circumvent our co-regulatory relationship under the gaming compacts via unilateral rulemaking.

Prior to addressing the substance, I first wanted to address the process. The draft rules were made available to a blind copied stakeholder list by Brian Considine on Thursday, May 27. Some tribal staff are presumably on that list; many are not, and I suspect tribal leadership is not. You did not notify the tribal stakeholder list of these same draft rules until a full week later via email from Michelle Rancour. Seeing as that email was received near the close of business on Thursday, June 3, and comments were requested by 8:00 a.m. on Monday, June 7, considering the weekend, tribes really had only one business day to review and comment on the draft rules. I would ask that in the future when rules that affect a tribal gaming matter are issued—and especially when they affect a tribal only gaming activity—they really should be discussed through a government to government consultation with an opportunity for meaningful input. At the very least I would hope the draft rules would go to the tribes on the same schedule as other stakeholders.

As to the substance of the draft sports wagering rules, WIGA has several concerns. After a 25-year relationship between WSGC and Washington tribes, I know you understand the scope of the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act (IGRA). Under IGRA, the co-regulatory relationship between the State of Washington and tribes is governed by the Class III gaming compacts. As fully recognized by section 2 of HB 2638, the operation of sports wagering on tribal lands is a feature of the compacts (which are negotiated between the State and tribes), not a feature of state rule (which is adopted as a unilateral action of the State). I appreciate this is the first time there has been legislation authorizing a tribal only activity, but that does not change the fact that IGRA—and therefore the compacts—are what govern the conduct and operation of the gaming activity.

Although HB 2638 gave WSGC rulemaking authority over licensing (or more appropriately, certification), it did not give WSGC rulemaking authority over tribal gaming activities conducted on tribal lands. Who is certified and how they are certified is a proper function of WSGC rules. See HB 2638 at section 3 (authorizing issuance of licenses for manufacturers and sports wagering service providers, and their employees). How those vendors interact with WSGC is also a proper function of the WSGC rules. But, attempting to address issues more appropriate for tribal gaming compacts is not. Therefore, I would respectfully request that draft rule section 230-17 be removed in its entirety. That section is largely a restatement of what is already in compact, and that is where it should stay.

I acknowledge that some sections of HB 2638 give you the authority to track and monitor certain transactions, require certain reports, and the like. But, as I understand it, those conversations were part of the compact negotiations. While Jamestown was not a direct party to those negotiations and I defer to my sister tribes and their experiences, you will likely hear from them directly that they are frustrated that you are taking a second bite of the negotiation apple by requiring certain reports and documents by rule that you had already agreed would be handled by compact and internal controls. I'm sure you can understand that this makes the negotiating tribes feel like what they thought was a fair compromise was really an underhanded way of getting the results WSGC wanted by rule instead. If you think you need a hook to take some kind of negative licensing actions against our vendors for their failure to follow the compacts, you can simply include a catchall provision in your rules that says that. That is far more effective, efficient, and appropriate than restating our compacts in your rules.

And finally, and I'm sure unsurprising to you, I take great issue with the proposed licensing fee structure. Sports wagering is another game being added to tribes' current offerings. Relative to our other forms of gaming, it will be a minor financial addition. However, the proposed fee for the major vendors is more than three times what our TLS vendors currently pay. As you likely recall from our conversations around the fee simplification project some years ago, excessive vendor certification fees lead to one of two outcomes: (1) the fee is passed on to the tribes, looking a lot like an unlawful tax on tribes and tribal gaming, or (2) the fee is not passed on to the tribes, and as some vendors have already pointed out, might dissuade vendors from participating in the Washington market at all. This is especially true here, for an on-premises only game, and even truer at smaller properties like 7 Cedars. I would encourage you to approach sports wagering vendors the same way you have approached other gaming vendors in the past: a more appropriate fee combined with special investigative fees as needed to address unique costs of investigating certain vendors. Here you are in an even better position because you can draw on the $6 million cushion the loan provides you.

Under HB 2638, legal sports wagering will occur only in Indian country. The compacts govern sports wagering in Indian country. Therefore, much of what you are trying to accomplish in draft rule section 230-17 seems at worst, improper, and at best, unnecessary.

Very truly yours,

Staff Proposed Rule-Making

WAC 230-03-210- Applying for a gambling service supplier license.

October 2021 – Discussion & Possible Filing
January 2020/July 2020 – Initiated Rule-Making

Tab 5: OCTOBER 2021 Commission Meeting Agenda.

Statutory Authority 9.46.070

Who Proposed the Rule Change?

Washington State Gambling Commission Staff

Background

BOLD= Changes made after July 2020 Commission Meeting.

In 2020, Commissioners initiated rule-making to amend and adopt rules for both electronic raffles and sports wagering.

Sports Wagering

In July 2021, you chose to take final action on rules to address licensing and regulation, and licensing fees consistent with the Gambling Act and recently negotiated tribal-state sports wagering compact amendments. As part of these compact amendments, sports wagering systems need to be tested and certified by an independent testing lab to ensure they meet or exceed GLI-33 standards and provisions outlined in Compact and Appendices. Independent Testing Labs must be licensed by both the Tribe(s) and the Gambling Commission. We do this through a gambling service supplier license, and therefore WAC 230-03-210, Applying for a gambling service supplier license, must be amended to include performing the testing and certification of sports wagering systems as a service requiring a gambling service supplier license.

Electronic Raffles

WAC 230-11-305- Electronic raffle systems, is before you today for final action. This rule requires an independent testing lab, licensed by us, to perform testing and certification of electronic raffle systems to ensure the system meets or exceeds GLI-31 and complies with Washington gambling laws and rules before the electronic raffle system will be authorized to be brought into this state.

Therefore, amending WAC 230-03-210, Applying for a gambling service supplier license, to include performing the testing and certification of gambling equipment as required by Title 230 WAC will cover the testing of electronic raffle systems and any future gambling equipment we may require certification by an independent testing lab.

Stakeholder Outreach and Feedback

Draft language was sent out on September 9, 2021 to independent testing labs who hold a license in this state and to tribal stakeholders. Feedback was received from:

- Derek Smith, BMM Testlabs
- James Luccarelli, Gaming Laboratories International
- Judy Mihelcic, Eclipse Compliance Testing
- Steve Bolz, Suquamish Tribal Gaming Commission (verbal)

Feedback received was either supportive of the proposed changes or was seeking clarification on whether the proposed changes would require independent testing labs to obtain a new license to perform these addition services. Existing gambling service supplier licenses will cover these services. Independent testing labs will not need to obtain a sports wagering vendor license unless they are providing services listed in WAC 230-03-229, WAC 230-03-231, or WAC 230-03-233.

Staff Recommendation

Greeting Ashlie!

I hope you've been well. Our internal team here at BMM shared your email below with the draft. It looks fairly straight-forward, but did raise a question. Will this addition of sports wagering systems testing be appended to existing licenses or will an action be required to include this in our scope of testing?

On a separate but related note, would it be possible to include my BMM email (Derek.Smith@BMM.com) for these distributions? I assume SciGames requested you remove my SG email (derek.smith@scientificgames.com) after my departure. If not, please feel free to do so.

Who Proposed the Rule Change?

Ann Huysmans, Galaxy Gaming, Inc. from Las Vegas, Nevada

Background

BOLD = Changes made after August 2021 Commission Meeting.

At the August 2021 public meeting, Commissioners accepted a petition and chose to initiate rule-making to address minimum cash on hand requirements, including keeping jackpot money in a separate, off-site bank account rather than on the premises. The draft language before you today addresses this, and also addresses staff’s concerns of how licensees will maintain funds and pay out prizes.

Ann Huysmans, of Galaxy Gaming Inc., Las Vegas, Nevada, is proposing to amend WAC 230-15-050, Minimum cash on hand requirements, to allow operators who are running house-banked jackpots to keep the required jackpot money in a separate, off-site bank account rather than on the premises.

The petitioner feels this change is needed because operators have expressed security concerns associated with keeping large sums of money on the premises.

The petitioner feels the effect of this rule change would reduce the risk of burglaries, theft, misappropriation of funds associated with having large sums of cash on the premises. The petitioner feels that this rule change would allow for increased accountability and tracking of funds as financial institutions are heavily regulated and maintain numerous records for various regulators, both at the federal and state level.

- Stakeholder Feedback

Policy Considerations

Staff recognizes the petitioner’s safety concerns for card rooms and for players leaving card rooms with large sums of money on their persons.

Staff has policy concerns with the petitioner's approach in the original petition because the rule change would not apply to the petitioner, but card room licensees and the request does not appropriately address how card room licensees would maintain reserve funds and pay out prizes.

Staff has discussed their concerns with the petitioner and believes the agency can draft new rules to address how licensees will maintain funds and pay out prizes should this petition be accepted. However, it would be good to hear from card room licensees to determine if they believe this rule change is needed.

Staff worked with the petitioner to address these concerns.

Stakeholder Feedback

Staff worked with the petitioner on draft language to address staff's concerns on how licensees will maintain funds and pay out prizes. Draft language was sent to the petitioner for review on September 8, 2021 and to licensed house-banked card rooms for review on September 10, 2021 with a request for feedback by September 22, 2021. Feedback was received from the following stakeholders in support of the draft language:

- Ann Huysmans, Galaxy Gaming
- Dave Magee, Hawks Prairie Casino
- Vernon West, Roxy's Bar & Grill

Staff Recommendation

Staff recommends filing draft language for further discussion.

Rule Petition Type: Amend Rule – I am requesting WSGC to change an existing rule.

==Amend Rule – I am requesting WSGC to change an existing rule.==

List rule number (WAC) if known: 230-15-050

I am requesting the following change:

Requesting to change Rule 230-15-050 (2) to be in line with Rule 230-15-455 (2)(a)(i).

Specifically, so the operator who is running a house-banked jackpot is allowed to keep the required jackpot money in a separate off-site bank account rather than on the premises.

This change is needed because: Operators have expressed security concerns associated with the large jackpot sums being kept on the card room premises.

The effect of this rule change will be:

Reduced risk of burglaries, theft, misappropriation of funds associated with having large cash sums on the premises.

Increased accountability and tracking of funds as the financial institutions are heavily regulated and maintain numerous records for various regulators both at the federal and state level.

WAC 230-15-050 Minimum cash on hand requirements. (1) Card game licensees must have sufficient cash on hand to redeem all chips issued for play and pay out all prizes.

(2) Within three hours of opening for the business day, at a time included in the internal controls, house-banked card game licensees must have at least the following minimum amount of cash on premises in their cage, safe, and vault combined:

(a) One thousand dollars for each house-banked table on the gambling floor; plus

(b) The amount of the largest single prize available excluding progressive jackpot, player-supported jackpot, and house jackpot prizes (~~(when WAC rules require a deposit into a separate bank account (for example, player-supported jackpots and progressive jackpots))~~).

For example: If a house-banked card room has ~~((fifteen))~~ 15 house-banked tables and a largest single prize of ~~((twenty-three thousand dollars))~~ $23,000, before opening, the cage must have at least ~~((thirty-eight thousand dollars))~~ $38,000 on hand: 15 tables x $1,000 = $15,000 + largest single prize of $23,000 = $38,000.

(3) Except for the restrictions on player-supported jackpot pay outs in WAC 230-15-405 and progressive jackpot pay outs in WAC 230-15-690, licensees may pay prizes by check if sufficient funds are available on deposit.

(4) Failure to keep funds to cash in chips, pay prizes, or redeem gambling related checks is prima facie evidence of fraud. Meeting the minimum cage cash amount does not relieve the licensee from the requirement to have sufficient funds available to redeem all chips and pay out all prizes.

NEW SECTION

WAC 230-15-673 Paying out house jackpot prizes. (1) House-banked card room licensees must immediately pay out verified prizes of $5,000 or less.

(2) For verified prizes over $5,000, licensees must immediately pay out a minimum of $5,000 and pay the remaining balance within 24 hours by check. The player may request that the licensee pay up to the entire prize balance by check. Licensees must then issue a check for the entire prize balance within 24 hours.

NEW SECTION

WAC 230-15-674 Keeping funds to pay house jackpot prizes. House-banked card room licensees must maintain at least the amount of the single largest house jackpot prize offered in a bank, mutual savings bank, or credit union located in Washington. Licensees must maintain a monthly record showing the daily amount of each house jackpot prize offered.

We absolutely should be able to keep the promotion money in a bank account to gain interest but more importantly because we don't want to keep potentially huge amounts of cash in the cashiers cage whether insured or not. We have very limited security guards and no matter how many we have we will not try to stop an armed robber.

Tab 7: OCTOBER 2021 Commission Meeting Agenda.

Statutory Authority 9.46.070

Who Proposed the Rule Change?

NHL Seattle, Seattle Mariners, Seattle Sounders FC, Seattle Seahawks

Background

BOLD = Changes made after AUGUST 2021 Commission Meeting.

At the March 2020 meeting, Commissioners accepted a petition and chose to initiate rule-making to allow sports teams charitable foundations to operate electronic raffles at sporting events. At the August 2021 meeting, Commissioners chose to file draft language for further discussion. Today, you may take final action on that draft language which:

- Defines electronic raffles and other necessary terms,
- Outlines requirements for operating electronic raffles, including:
 - Raffle tickets,
 - Authorized ticket sellers,
 - Methods of payment,
 - Ticket pricing, sales, and restrictions,
 - Raffle drawings,
 - Prize payouts and limits,
- Defines and outlines equipment standards, including:
 - Raffle systems operating requirements,
 - Security requirements, and
- Outlines recordkeeping requirements.

The petitioners respectfully request amending the raffle rules to allow for the sale of 50/50 raffles tickets at professional sports games and matches via electronic devices and systems in compliance with current applicable state statutes.

The petitioners feel this rule change is needed because conducting 50/50 raffles under the existing rules, requiring cash or check payments for paper tickets, accrues administrative expenses nearly exceeding the relatively small amounts raised by the 50/50 raffle itself.

The petitioners feel the effect of this rule change would more effectively achieve the public policy goals by generating significantly more funds to reinvest in the community, while at the same time, increasing organizational efficiencies and reducing the likelihood of fraud and theft.

In 2014, a similar petition was brought forth by Pointstreak 50/50, who had obtained a manufacturer's license and intended to lease their electronic raffle system to charitable and nonprofit organizations. That petition was withdrawn and instead a pilot program was initiated to test the regulatory and economic impact of charitable and nonprofit licensees using electronic raffle systems to conduct 50/50 raffles. The pilot program was slated to last 18 months and staff was to report back to the Commission on the results of the pilot program along with any recommendations. However, before the pilot program could be implemented, the Washington State Legislature passed budget provision removing the Gambling Commission's authority to "approve any electronic raffle systems to conduct fifty-fifty raffles until the Legislature has reviewed all impacts to the state lottery" and thus, the pilot program and all rule-making associated with it was administratively closed.

Stakeholder Feedback

Prior to drafting rule language, staff met with each of the Teams, affiliated nonprofit organizations, and potentially interested manufacturers to discuss how they envisioned running an electronic raffle in Washington. These meetings took place December 2020 through February 2021. In each meeting, staff highlighted that electronic raffles would need to function like a raffle as defined in RCW 9.46.0277, meaning the raffle would need to include a manual draw with paper tickets. Staff also highlighted that RCW 9.46.240 prohibits the transmission of gambling information over the internet, and therefore a closed network with an onsite server would need to be used.

Staff then had interested manufacturers submit equipment as part of the rulemaking process under WAC 230-17-192. Due to COVID-19 restrictions, some manufacturers were unable to submit equipment for review during rulemaking, therefore demonstrations were provided to staff via Zoom.

On March 3, 2021, staff sent out an update on draft rules development and notified affiliated nonprofit organizations that they could apply for licensure. On March 30, 2021, a stakeholder meeting was held to discuss the progress staff had made on draft rule language based on review of electronic raffle equipment and to discuss the estimated timeline for the rule-making process, licensure, equipment approval, and expectations for an implementation date.

On May 28, 2021, staff received a joint letter from the petitioners expressing their shared goals for rule amendments to 1) modernize the draw method to allow for electronic selection, 2) allow for the use of cloud-based support systems, 3) allow for deduction of expenses, 4) allow for paid raffle ticket sellers, 5) eliminate the requirement to collect purchaser information, 6) include credit/debit card sales and electronic processing equipment, and 7) eliminate prize caps.

Staff responded to the petitioners' joint letter acknowledging that modernizing the draw method to allow for electronic selection, the use of cloud-based support systems, and the allowance of paid raffle ticket sellers could not be considered as they were not consistent with the Gambling Act, RCW 9.46.0277, RCW 9.46.240, respectively. Staff conveyed that the other requests were still under consideration and asked petitioners if they wished to continue with rulemaking knowing that a manual draw and an onsite server would be required. At least one petitioner confirmed they wished to move forward with rulemaking.

Draft language was sent out to the sports team charitable foundations of the NHL Seattle, Seattle Mariners, Seattle Sounders FC, and Seattle Seahawks, as well as electronic raffle manufacturers and distributors for review and feedback on August 11, 2021. Feedback was received from the following stakeholders:

- BUMP, Division of Canadian Bank Note Company, Limited
 - On-site location of server,
 - Requirement of a closed network,
 - No refund capability,
 - Manual drawings,
 - Gambling manager responsibilities,
 - Fee calculation, and
 - Location of gambling activities.
- Diego Plietez, One Roof Foundation, Kraken
 - Use of cloud-based server,
 - Use of electronic receipts,
 - Possibility of remote access,
 - Expense deductions,
 - Cash vs. credit,
 - Definition of a “member,”
 - Annual reporting requirements,
 - Internal controls,
 - Testing of electronic raffle systems,
 - Fees,
 - Recording manual draw,
 - Seeding future pots,
 - Authorized discount plans, and
 - Raffle licensing.
- Drew Johnston, Seattle Seahawks, First & Goal, Inc.
 - Expense deductions,
 - Applicability of $40,000 prize maximum amount, and
 - Authorized location of ticket sales.

A stakeholder meeting was held on August 16, 2021 where other stakeholders discussed similar concerns.

Additional feedback was received from the following stakeholders after August 20, 2021 who had the following concerns:

- Alen Cisija, Seattle Seahawks
 - Fee deductions,
- Shivani Anand, Ascend Fundraising Solutions
 - Who would be permitted to use electronic raffles,
 - Location of sales,
 - Drawbacks of physical servers, and
 - Advantages of random number generator.

Draft language was filed with the Office of the Code Reviser on September 1, 2021 and published in the Washington State Register (WSR 21-18-123) as well as posted on the agency website. No additional feedback has been received.

Policy Considerations

Staff has put considerable time and resources into meeting with stakeholders and drafting rules that will both meet the needs of the petitioners and fit within the parameters of the Gambling Act. There are some concerns that staff cannot address, as the Gambling Act does not allow for, such as the use of a cloud-based server and the transmission of gambling information over the internet. However, staff has made efforts to address other petitioner concerns by:

- Allowing for remote access of the electronic raffle system for repair, trouble shooting, and technical support,
- Allowing for refunds,
- Allowing for ticket sales in areas where a ticket to the sporting event is required for entry,
- Allowing the affiliated nonprofit organizations to deduct expenses up to a maximum amount before calculating prizes, and
- Working with licensees to develop internal controls.

Staff feels that this rules package addresses the concerns that stakeholders have expressed, except for those concerns that cannot be addressed without amending the Gambling Act, such as the use of a cloud-based server, allowing for electronic selection of winning raffle tickets and issuance of electronic receipts.

Staff Recommendation

Staff is proposing final action be taken, including minor, nonsubstantive changes to the following rules in order to provide clarity to licensees:

- WAC 230-03-138
- WAC 230-03-153
- WAC 230-06-050
- WAC 230-11-305

Final action on these rules would make them effective 31 days after filing with the Office of the Code Reviser – expected on November 18, 2021.

Rules Coordinator
Washington State Gambling Commission

Re: Proposed Amendment to update 50/50 Raffle

Dear Ms. Laydon:

Thank you for the opportunity to submit the following proposed amendment for consideration by the Washington State Gambling Commission (“WSGC”). NHL Seattle, Seattle Mariners, Seattle Sounders FC, and Seattle Seahawks respectfully request amending the WSGC raffle rules to allow for the sale of 50/50 Raffle tickets at professional sports games and matches via electronic devices and systems in compliance with current applicable state statutes.

The proposed rules amendment furthers the statutory public interest objective of “raising funds for the promotion of bona fide charitable or nonprofit organizations,” RCW 9.46.010, and helps modernize the rules to reflect advances in technology. The current raffle rules in Washington, drafted in 1973 before 50/50 Raffle electronic devices existed, have not yet been construed to include such devices, but rather continue to require cash or check payments for paper tickets. Local teams have attempted to implement the 50/50 Raffle under the existing rules but the administrative expenses nearly exceeded the relatively small amount raised. The proposed amendment will more effectively achieve the public policy goals by generating significantly more funds to reinvest in the community, while at the same time increasing organizational efficiencies and reducing the likelihood of fraud and theft.

The 50/50 Raffle is commonly used by professional sports teams in both the United States and in Canada to generate donations for charitable causes in their communities. In the past ten years a number of jurisdictions have updated their laws and rules to incorporate technological advances, in the same way that such advances have been incorporated into every other element of organizational operations. In the case of the 50/50 Raffle, technology has served to meaningfully increase the amount of funds raised and in turn impact created for local communities. Washington currently lags behind much of the country in its approach to the 50/50 Raffle laws and rules, and the proposed amendment would increase the impact on OUR

The professional sports teams in our region are collaborating to increase our collective social impact. We are focused on, among other things, addressing historic and systemic barriers to access and opportunity so that everyone in our community, and particularly our youth, can realize their potential. According to the recently released State of Play Report², a child's ability to participate in organized sport in this region is determined to a large degree by zip code, household income, and skin color. The study points to entrenched policies and structures that will require the commitment of leadership across public, private, philanthropic and nonprofit sectors to dismantle over time. In the meantime, Sounders FC, Mariners, Seawolves, Seahawks, Storm, Cascades, and NHL Seattle are working together to start reversing these unacceptable trends through joint advocacy, funding, and programming.

In addition to collaborative work, many of the professional teams have an affiliated 501(c)3 private foundation or public charity that supports both internal programs as well as other nonprofits and community causes. For example, the Sounders RAVE Foundation's mission is to build small fields for free play and use, recognizing that inequitable access to fields and facilities is one of the greatest barriers to participation. Since 2016 the RAVE Foundation has built mini pitches in three different underserved neighborhoods in King County, with the goal of completing 26 pitches and distributing 100,000 soccer balls by 2026. The Mariners Cares Home Base program is another strong example of a professional sports team leaning in to help our most vulnerable. In 2018 the Mariners partnered with the United Way of King County and donated $3M to help low income renters navigate our state's eviction laws, thereby allowing them to retain their homes and their dignity, and in turn reducing the homeless population. NHL Seattle, set to commence operations in the fall of 2021, has entered into a ten year $10M partnership with Youthcare that includes financial, capacity building, and marketing support, as well as job training and employment opportunities to help Youthcare end the cycle of youth homelessness. Finally, through a robust network of programs, initiatives, events and strategic partnerships the Seahawks and CenturyLink Field educate, empower and encourage youth, with opportunities ranging from the Fuel Up to Play 60 health and wellness program in partnership with the Washington Dairy Council operating in over 2,000 schools and reaching over 950,000 students, to multi-year donations of synthetic turf football fields to high school athletic programs in need, to, in accordance with state law, annually providing twenty percent (20%) of net profits of the CenturyLink Field Event Center to the Washington State Permanent Common School Fund. In addition to these and other signature programs, the teams collectively donate millions of dollars in cash and in-kind support annually to hundreds of nonprofits, impacting thousands of people in our community.

² The Seattle/King County State of Play Report was released in September of 2019 by the University of Washington Center for Leadership in Athletics and the Aspen Institute.

Our teams know we have a duty to serve the community and make a positive difference in people's lives and we are eager to join our counterparts across the country in utilizing more current technology to do just that. We also believe that our impact-centered and uniquely collaborative approach to advancing positive social change presents a rare opportunity - for the teams and this region - to set an example for others across the country to follow, for the benefit of all.

Thank you for your consideration of this proposal. Please let us know if we can provide any additional information.

Hello all,

Thank you all for your patience with our rule-making process for electronic raffles—I really appreciate it. The agency is still negotiating with several Tribes on sports wagering compacts and that unfortunately is taking up a lot of our time at the moment. Additionally, we just announced today that our Director is leaving the agency so that is going to create some extra challenges as well in the short term.

Commission staff is working with manufacturers/suppliers to review their equipment and work on equipment draft rules. We've been in contact with each of them and are working on the logistics for review of their systems and equipment so we can complete a draft of the equipment section of the rules. Unfortunately, getting equipment to review has been slow and we are not as far along as we had anticipated by this time.

Staff continues to also work on refining some draft rules based on our conversations with all of you a couple months ago. Therefore, I'm hopeful that we can have a more substantive update on the electronic raffle rules in the next few weeks.

I hope to set up a collective virtual call in the next 2-3 weeks with all of you and the manufacturer representatives to go over the work we need to accomplish with some possible timelines for that work. I'm waiting for my staff to put some information together before I set up the call.

However, there is something you can do now, if you choose. In talking with staff, we do not intend to create a new and separate application/background process for this activity. Instead, there may be a different license and license fee for this activity, but the application process will remain the same.

Therefore, your nonprofit organizations could apply for a raffle license right now, if you do not already have a license. This will allow you to work through the application review process and become a qualified licensee while we work on the new rule language. This would give you and our staff a head start on part of the process that is independent of our new rules.

Information on how to apply for a license is on website here and an application can be submitted through our online licensing portal once you have registered an account in the State's Secure Access Washington (SAW) system.

I know costs are always a question and our fee schedule is in rule but also our website. As you will see, the application/license initial cost is $65 and then there is a quarterly percentage (3.380% for raffles) of gross revenues collected reporting requirement that is submitted through your online licensing account. However, I suspect there likely will be no activity until you transition to the new electronic raffle license, and, if so, then there will be no additional cost. However, you will need to report each quarter even if the gross revenue collection is $0.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Also, I am happy to connect you with our licensing staff, if needed, for questions about the application process.

Thank you,

Brian

Ms. Ashlie Laydon
Rules Coordinator
Washington State Gambling Commission

Re: 50/50 Raffle Rules Amendment

Dear Ms. Laydon:

As per our joint letter dated January 22, 2020, the Seattle Mariners, Seattle Sounders FC, Seattle Seahawks, and Seattle Kraken strongly support the Washington State Gambling Commission's ("WSGC") decision to amend Washington's 50/50 raffle rules in compliance with applicable state statutes. Our shared goals in advocating for this amendment are to: 1) increase organizational efficiencies; 2) reduce waste and promote sustainability; 3) decrease opportunities for theft and fraud; and 4) advance the statutory public policy objective of maximizing funds raised for charitable causes and communities in need.

We appreciate your office keeping us apprised of the process and inviting our input over the past 12 months. Each of the teams have conducted separate research and outreach within their respective leagues to understand how best to achieve our common goals. Based on our collective research, we have identified several priority areas set forth below. We acknowledge that you and members of your office have discussed a number of these issues with the teams throughout this process, and this letter intends to consolidate the substance of those conversations. We encourage the WSGC to incorporate these recommendations into the revised rules.

1. Modernizing the draw by allowing for electronic selection

WAC 230-11-040 requires raffle operators to "place each ticket, ticket stub or other detachable section of each ticket sold" into a receptacle "from which the organization will draw the winning tickets." For the reasons set forth below, we respectfully recommend eliminating the requirement for paper tickets and modernizing the draw to allow raffle operators to use an electronic method to randomly select winning tickets using a WSGC approved random number generator.

The current method compromises the integrity of the draw. Manually selecting the winning ticket allows for manipulation of results and accidental or intentional exclusion of tickets from the pool from which the draw is made.

Additionally, as part of our commitment to combat climate change, Sounders and Kraken games will be paperless. Paper raffle tickets would be anomalous, harmful to the environment, and inconsistent with our shared (and the State's) commitment to sustainability.

2. Allowing for the use of cloud-based support systems

WAC 230-11 did not contemplate the existence or use of cloud-based systems as part of standard organizational operating procedures. We respectfully recommend allowing for the use of cloud-based raffle systems. Using cloud-based resources provides the third-party raffle provider remote access into the applications to ensure smooth operations by troubleshooting any technical difficulties the teams may encounter and helping in case of any emergencies.

By prohibiting the use of cloud-based systems, the teams and the raffle process are left extremely vulnerable in the event of mechanical or technological malfunctions. We want to protect the integrity of our raffles and ensure consumer trust in our operations. The use of cloud-based systems allows us to do both.

3. Allowing for deduction of expenses

The 50/50 raffle will generate funds for the winning ticket holder and the community, not the teams. At the same time, the team affiliated nonprofit raffle operator will incur expenses administering the raffle, including, without limitation, staffing and vendor costs, equipment rentals, and regulatory and other fees. We respectfully request clarifying that these expenses can be deducted before distributing the funds to the winning ticket holder and chosen nonprofit. The teams will take necessary measures to ensure that fans, purchasers, and nonprofit beneficiaries are informed of this accounting in advance of each raffle.

4. Allowing for paid raffle sellers

WAC 230-11-030 provides that only “members of the organization” or “volunteers under the supervision of a member” are allowed to sell raffle tickets. Additionally, organizations “must not pay members or volunteers for selling tickets or managing or operating a raffle” unless the person is an “employee of the organization with duties other than selling tickets or managing or operating raffles” per WAC 230-11-035. We do not object to the option to use volunteers for this role, but respectfully recommend adding the alternative to pay individuals to work as raffle sellers.

Requiring volunteer ticket sellers, particularly for sports that have upwards of 40 games per seasons, imposes a heavy burden to recruit, track, and train up to as many as 1,000 volunteers per season. Additionally, countless reports indicate that paid ticket sellers are more effective than volunteers and would ultimately help us raise more money to invest in our community. Paid sellers are more reliable than volunteers – the “show rate” for volunteers fluctuates. Planning the logistical details for operating a raffle should be smooth and turnkey; requiring our organizations to utilize only volunteers makes it impossible to predict how many sellers will actually show up for each game. Allowing us to hire part-time ticket sellers – whose sole responsibility is selling raffle tickets – is crucial to the success of our respective raffles.

5. Eliminating the requirement to collect purchaser information

WAC 230-11-020 mandates raffle operators to record a purchaser’s personal information, including “name, complete address, telephone number, and other information necessary to notify the winner” unless the team requires the winner be present at the time of the drawing. We respectfully recommend eliminating this requirement in the amendment.

50/50 raffle winners are generally announced toward the end of the final period of a game or match. Practically speaking, requiring a person be present to win will substantially decrease the number of people participating in the raffle, as a significant percentage of sports goers do not stay for the duration. At the same time, collecting the required information at every transaction would severely hamper the ability to complete sales quickly and efficiently. Transaction times would go from mere seconds to minutes and in some cases discourage sales altogether. Reduced participation will significantly diminish the amount raised for charitable causes and at the same time increase overhead expenses.

If the policy concern behind the current rule is that the winner will not otherwise be notified, that concern is no longer valid. Sports teams possess powerful and far-reaching platforms to promote awareness of the winning ticket number. During the game, the winning number is announced over the PA and is posted on the video boards. After the game, teams will deploy a variety of methods to reach the winner, including by way of example, posting the winning number on their websites and social media accounts. We are committed to being transparent with our fans and making every reasonable effort to notify the winner.

6. Including credit/debit card sales and electronic processing equipment

One of the primary drivers behind this rule change is adapting to modern currency usage, including credit and debit cards and electronic processing equipment. Like many teams across the country, the Sounders, Seahawks, Mariners, and Kraken have transitioned to cashless transactions at their games. This shift recognizes the need to enact more environmentally conscious practices, reduce theft and fraud, address sanitary concerns, and meet the expectations of one of the most tech forward and cash free populations in the nation. Additionally, as stated in our 2020 letter, requiring cash and manual sales transactions has proven prohibitively costly and inefficient.

7. Eliminating caps

The issues listed in points 1-6 represent our highest shared priorities because they directly impact our ability to run successful raffles. We would also respectfully recommend eliminating the current individual game ($40,000) and season ($300,000) dollar caps set forth in WAC 230-11-065. While the teams do not yet know exactly what the raffles will yield, we aspire to raise as much for the community as possible. Removing the current caps would eliminate both compliance uncertainty as well as the need for the teams to submit an annual good cause exemption request.

The Seattle Kraken, Seattle Mariners, Seattle Sounders FC, and Seattle Seahawks applaud the WSGC's modernization of the 50/50 raffle rules. We offer the above recommendations in an effort to maximize the dollars raised for our communities in need, protect our environment, enhance the integrity of the raffle process by minimizing theft and fraud, and optimize organizational efficiencies.

Thank you for your consideration of our recommendations. Please let us know if we can provide any additional information.

Thanks Brian for your prompt response and your candor. The Seattle Kraken would like to move forward assuming we can use credit/debit cards, and that our proposed vendor can work within this construct. We'll reach out to them to confirm.

Best,

Mari

Subject: RE: Consolidated recommendations re 50/50 raffle rules amendment

Hi Mari,

Commission staff has reviewed the letter you submitted and we have also spoken with our Interim Director on the items as well.

The following items will not be considered in our electronic raffle rule-making at this time for the following reasons:

1. Modernizing tickets and the draw: As you've heard from us before, raffles must be conducted in the manner they currently exist in law (RCW 9.46.0277) and this includes physical tickets and a hand draw. Equipment must only be able to help facilitate a raffle within the current legal parameters under the Gambling Act. Any changes to this part of the process will need a law change by the Legislature. Commission staff is not, and cannot, consider changing this part of a raffle in our rules.

2. Cloud-based raffle systems: As you've heard from us before, the internet cannot be used in any way to conduct or facilitate a raffle. Cloud-based systems utilize the internet and, unfortunately, RCW 9.46.240 is clear that gambling information cannot be transmitted by telephone, telegraph, radio, semaphore, the internet, or a telecommunications transmission system without express authorization from the Legislature. The only exceptions to this statute are in the enhanced raffle statute (mail, telephone, fax) and sports wagering statute (internet).
3. Paid Raffle Sellers: Raffles in RCW 9.46.0277 requires that "no person other than a bona fide member of the organization takes any part in the management or operation of the game, and no part of the proceeds thereof inure to the benefit of any person other than the organization conducting the game." Additionally, this type of change is something that can have broad implications for all of our nonprofits, including the agency's need to consider RCW 9.46.0209\(1\)\(c\)'s qualification mandate that: "Any person, association or organization which pays its employees, including members, compensation other than is reasonable therefor under the local prevailing wage scale shall be deemed paying compensation based in part or whole upon receipts relating to gambling activities authorized under this chapter and shall not be a [qualified] bona fide charitable or nonprofit organization for the purposes of this chapter." (emphasis added). I believe we have discussed compensation for nonprofit employees and gambling activities before, and happy to have Sonja and her team discuss the current rules/regulations on what is possible with you and your team.

The additional requests: deduction of expenses; collection of customer/purchaser information; use of debit and credit cards; and eliminating caps are still under discussion internally. Currently, debit/credit cards are authorized for all raffles, but we need to check-in individually with our Commissioners individually due to some recent public meeting conversations around the use of credit cards in gambling activities.

We wanted you to have the answers to the three items above as quickly as we could get them back to you because they are likely the most significant items. We do understand the reasonings behind the requests, but do have statutory requirements we need to abide by and enforce.

We are still committed to working on our internal rule draft. However, I want to be mindful of your and your group's time, and also mindful of Commission staff's time. I do not wish to have staff continue forward on rules and creating a regulatory program unless you can affirmatively let me know that you still wish for us to proceed now that we have reaffirmed our position on these items.

Therefore, please let me know, or have each organization let me know, if our position on the three above items changes your or another organizations' desire to move forward with rule-making at this time. If it does, we understand and will pause our work. However, we will continue forward if you are still willing to move forward on this activity knowing the agency's position on the parameters above.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Also, I'm happy to set up a call if that is better.

Thank you,

Brian

Executive Summary

Canadian Bank Note Company, Limited is a leading provider of high security solutions to governments in the United States of America, Canada and elsewhere around the world. Our lottery and charitable gaming group provides secure, transparent and successful gaming solutions to government lottery agencies and not-for-profit foundations. Our recent acquisition of Bump Worldwide Inc. (BUMP) from Sportech has made BUMP one of the most successful electronic raffle providers in the world.

This document provides our specific comments on the proposed changes by the Washington State Gambling Commission (WSGC) to Title 230 WAC that will authorize Electronic Raffles within the State of Washington. This supplements BUMP's prior communications in writing and orally in support of this important initiative of the Gambling Commission.

As an experienced electronic raffle system provider, we have several serious reservations with regards to the proposed changes to Title 230 WAC primarily because the security, integrity and reliability of electronic raffles operated under the proposed rules will be compromised in comparison to the standard that prevails in most North American electronic raffles. The two most serious concerns with the proposed changes are:

- A) the requirement that the 'Server' (back-end Raffle Engine) be physically located at the Home Game Authorized Location (WAC 230-11-300, WAC 230-11-310 and others), and
- B) the requirement for a closed network that restricts all aspects related to connectivity to the internet while carving out unrealistic expectations surrounding authorizing credit card transactions, one-way communication to in-venue connected displays and vaguely documented remote access. (WAC 230-11-300, WAC 230-11-310 and others)

The items above along with other comments are elaborated on within this document.

We view the potential reputational consequences of both items A and B listed as so serious in nature that we would be unable to provide electronic raffle services within Washington State. The proposed changes to Title 230 WAC expose electronic raffle system providers, charitable partners and raffle participants to unacceptable risk related to the integrity, security and maintainability of electronic raffles proposed by WSGC.

WSGC would be the sole Gaming Commission within North America to insist on locating the Raffle Server on-premises of the location of the authorized raffle. Such locations cannot be secured in the way that industry leading cloud hosted data centres are. The security, integrity, redundancy, scalability and maintainability of an electronic raffle system provider's platform, software, database and Intellectual Property would be entirely outside of electronic raffle system provider's control.

This results in an unacceptable risk of fraud, IP theft, data loss, and service disruption. Further, WSGC would also be the sole Gaming Commission within North America to require a closed network for all raffle communications. This requirement is closely tied to 'A' above. While carving out exceptions for in-stadium digital signage, credit card processing and remote access (not fully defined WAC 230-11-310 references WAC 230-16-XXX), these restrictions will result in patchwork of both networking infrastructure, and rules and regulations that materially adversely impact the functionality, security, and integrity of both the raffle and electronic raffle platform.

The risk profile created by the proposed changes should be unacceptable to gaming suppliers, charitable partners, participants and the WSGC itself.

Home Game Authorized Location for Electronic Raffle System

WAC 230-11 proposes the Electronic Raffle System Server(s) be located in the Home Game Authorized Location, meaning the sports facility where spectators gather within an arena or stadium where the home game is being conducted. This deviates from the Electronic Raffle systems that are provided, accredited/tested and secured in every other jurisdiction. This requirement will result in the following unacceptable risks:

Security of Platform

The logical and physical security of the raffle server and system would not be capable of being managed by the electronic raffle system provider. This will result in the full risk profile of server security being assigned to the associated charitable organization which would be unlikely to have the necessary technical knowledge or the appetite to assume those risks and responsibilities.

The electronic raffle system provider would be unable to properly control access to the critical back-end systems which in turn can lead to abuse and/or breaches affecting the underlying hardware, software and data. It would not be a question of if a breach would happen, but rather when. Such a breach would result in permanently damaging the electronic raffle system provider brand, permanent damage to the charitable organization, questions regarding why the WSGC required such a scenario given the industry recommendation, loss of faith from raffle players and avoidable litigation.

Security of Intellectual Property

An on-premise server exponentially increases the risk of exposure of the electronic raffle system supplier's Intellectual Property to external 3rd parties. As noted above, the logical and physical security would be outside of the control of the electronic raffle system provider. It would have no ability to ensure that its IP is not exposed either intentionally or inadvertently to outside third parties. Such an exposure of Intellectual Property would have far reaching consequences, not only for the electronic raffle system provider, but also for every other charitable organization globally that utilizes its platform. It would likely immediately trigger suspension of every gaming supplier license and possibly result in litigation throughout the industry, not simply in Washington State.

Integrity of Platform

The risks associated with an on-premise platform resulting from logical/physical security and IP security would have the additional impact of not being able to ensure the integrity of the raffle. Many security and IP breaches are not proactively but rather reactively detected. Such breaches would call into question every raffle that has previously occurred and that would in future occur under the proposed regulations. A server directly managed by the electronic raffle system provider's technical resources hosted on a high reliability secure cloud infrastructure is the only way to enable rapid reaction to, and correction of, system issues.

Maintenance/Support

While the proposed legislation makes note that the ability for remote access may be defined, it references an unknown section WAC 230-16-XXX. Further BUMP is unable to comment if such a remote access scenario is technically possible. With an on-premise server, full network configuration, maintenance and access would be the responsibility of the charitable organization. The networking capabilities of the venue are completely unknown and the requirement of an on-premise server and closed network would result in little to no ability for an electronic raffle system provider to provide support and maintenance to the system(s) it contractually provides to organizations. The risk associated with being unable to provide timely/any support or maintenance will result in failures of the platform, integrity and security concerns that would materially damage all parties involved.

Durability of data

Requirements for an on-premise server deviate from the industry standard for ensuring data redundancy for disaster recovery. An on-premise server would be subject to increased risk of failure of components (hardware & software) resulting in data loss (i.e., Database). With no ability to ensure off site backup and storage of critical data, the durability of the data in case of disaster is zero. This would result in non-compliance with all record retention and reporting requirements noted in WAC 230 along with the likelihood of being unable to conduct raffles, provide refunds or trace any transactions. Cloud hosted platforms are configured to perform automatic backups and recovery within multiple availability zones ensuring data integrity. Further every pro sports foundation rightly insists on a disaster recovery plan that comprises off site storage of backups.

Scalability

Requiring an on-premise server eliminates the possibility of scaling infrastructure to meet real time demands on the platform. BUMP's cloud hosted platform has the ability to scale during a raffle to meet the needs of the on-going raffle event. An on-premise server requirement would result in zero scaling ability to meet the real time needs of the organization causing significant impairment should the interest in the raffle be greater than the capabilities of the on-site server.

Closed Network Requirement

WAC 230-11 proposes that the electronic raffle system operate on a secure network independent from the Home Game Authorized Location network and further that this network must be a closed network with no connection to outside components or systems. While the proposed changes do carve out exceptions for in-stadium digital signage, credit card processing and remote access (not fully defined WAC 230-11-310 references WAC 230-16-XXX) it is our advice that these restrictions will result in a patchwork of both networking infrastructure, and rules and regulations that materially adversely impact the functionality, security, and integrity of both the raffle and electronic raffle platform for the following reasons:

Network Connectivity

A requirement for a closed network would entirely be the responsibility of the charitable organization to maintain, secure and support. Whether the charitable organization has the sophistication and/or knowledge to create such a network is unknown, but highly unlikely and it would most probably be uneconomic to do so. It is safe to assume that creation and management of such a network will be an expensive and time-consuming effort that will not meet the needs of the raffle platform. Network connectivity between the Raffle Sales Units and the raffle server are paramount to ensure accuracy and integrity of raffles, a custom closed network is unlikely to have the in-venue coverage of a traditional in-venue wifi or cellular connection. This will result in dead spots and connectivity interruptions that will negatively impact the raffle. All current BUMP charitable partners utilize a combination of in-venue public Wi-Fi and cellular data connectivity to ensure close to 100% coverage and up time, with all communications encrypted and secured to industry standards.

Should a breach of this network occur, such a breach could be catastrophic to both the electronic raffle system provider and the charitable organization for all the reasons previously noted with regards to an on-premise server. BUMP's cloud hosted architecture is firewalled and restricted to ensure only authorized access to the underlying systems. In a closed network with an on-premise server an electronic raffle system provider would be unable to monitor whether any unauthorized access or communications are taking place.

Gambling Data Considerations

Gambling consists of prize, consideration and chance which likely constructs part of the WSGC definition of gambling data. The proposed legislation has been previously articulated as being designed to meet the WSGC requirement that no gambling data traverses the internet however ostensibly the proposed WAC 230-11 carves out a specific exception for Credit Card Transactions to be processed over the Internet. We strongly encourage WSGC to align the rules on transmission of raffle data to be consistent with the rules applying to credit card transactions. It is clear that the Gambling Commission has the authority to do so. The relevant section of Washington State Gambling Law chapter 9.46 namely 9.46.240 reads:

RCW 9.46.240

(1) Whoever knowingly transmits or receives gambling information by telephone, telegraph, radio, semaphore, the internet, a telecommunications transmission system, or similar means, or knowingly installs or maintains equipment for the transmission or receipt of gambling information shall be guilty of a class C felony subject to the penalty set forth in RCW 9A.20.021.

(2) This section shall not apply to such information transmitted or received or equipment or devices installed or maintained relating to activities authorized by this chapter including, but not limited to, sports wagering authorized under RCW 9.46.0364 and 9.46.0368, or to any act or acts in furtherance thereof when conducted in compliance with the provisions of this chapter and in accordance with the rules adopted under this chapter and conducted in accordance with tribal-state compacts.

By virtue of section (2) italicized above, the internet can be legally used to carry gambling information required to adopt the same secure, transparent and reliable approach to electronic raffle systems that one finds in all other North American jurisdictions, provided that the person doing so is duly licensed by the Gambling Commission.

Support and Maintenance

A closed network severely impairs an electronic raffle system provider's ability to be both responsive to support requests as well as maintenance of the underlying platform. While WAC 230-11 vaguely references remote access it also references an unknown section WAC 230-16-XXX. As the closed network would be the responsibility of the charitable organization it is impossible to determine whether such remote access could be viably achieved to access the required closed network. It should be assumed that such access will be impossible to achieve. Being unable to constantly support and maintain the platforms will result in failures of the system, with no remediation possible by the electronic raffle system provider or the charitable partners. This will lead to partial or complete impairment of all raffle activities, integrity and security concerns and/or issues.

No Refund Capability

WAC 230-11-320 (10) notes that "all ticket sales are final" and no refunds shall be made under any circumstances. This requirement should be reconsidered as experience has demonstrated that there are circumstances where refunds are necessary and should be permitted. Consider the scenario of a credit card transaction where the seller has made a mistake on the requested transaction, issuing a $10 ticket instead of a $5 ticket as requested by the participant. If the participant 'tapped' to pay, the transaction is approved and then notice of the incorrect amount occurs then the participant should be entitled to a refund as the transaction amount was not what was requested.

Manual Drawing

The advent of electronic raffles approximately 10 years ago saw most regulators adopting a manual drawing model. As time progressed and platforms and highly secure internal Random Number Generators (RNGs) became certified by reputable gaming labs such as GLI, regulators migrated away from the substandard model of manual drawing in favor of RNG drawings for several reasons:

- Integrity concerns with manual drawings – the risk of manipulation of results is high whereas with a certified RNG it is not an issue
- Hardware concerns with manual drawings – manual draw printers often malfunction just as is the case with all commercial printers, leading to purchased tickets being left out of the draw, either knowingly or unknowingly. Under the proposed rules all tickets must be in the manual draw for the draw to be valid, which is important and necessary to protect the public. With an RNG all tickets can be demonstrably shown to be in the draw. Manual draws can never be audited to confirm this. Malfunctions in a manual draw could lead to the nightmare of a need to cancel a draw and refund players if it becomes impossible to know if all tickets are in the drum.
- Audit, reporting and traceability overhead – as noted above manual draws are virtually impossible to audit effectively and any audit is enormously labor intensive and time consuming

- Resource waste/cost of single-use paper – manual draws generate mounds of paper that must be securely stored until audit periods have expired.

While BUMP does have the capability to support manual draws, we strongly encourage WSGC to adopt an RNG winner selection model to address the concerns noted above.

Gambling Manager Responsibilities

Section WAC 230-11-330 (3) of the proposed rule change stipulates that only a licensed gambling manager can restart raffle sales unit or otherwise adjust any associated network equipment for any reason. The technical sophistication required in the proposed rules with regards to a closed network and on-premise server will result in the gambling manager not having the technical expertise to adjust any associated networking equipment. The limitation in this clause should be adjusted to “only a gambling manager or their designate”.

Need for Clarity in Fee Calculation

The proposed text of WAC 230-05-112 has some ambiguity in that sub-clause (3) requires the fee calculation occur before deduction of prizes whereas sub-clause (4) seems to more logically provide that the fee should be calculated after deductions of amounts that are contributed to player supported jackpots. In the most common form of electronic raffle 50 percent of ticket prices are directly contributed to the jackpot in the form of player supported prizes. It seems that sub clause (3) should therefore start with the words “subject to sub-clause (4)”

Location of Gambling Activities

The draft of WAC 230-06-250 specifies that electronic raffle licensees must conduct all gambling activities on the licensed business premises. For all the reasons specified above, this provision should be clarified to permit data storage, data management, software support and maintenance and payment processing transactions to occur off-premises.

Hi Ashlie,

Please forgive me for my late email! I have provided a list of rules below that we would like to discuss during tomorrow's meeting. The rules are listed by importance – the rules at the bottom are smaller questions/require a shorter discussion.

- WAC 230-11-300
 - (4) – “servers located in the home game authorized location”
 - (5) – “raffle sales units can only use a closed network with no access to the internet to conduct raffle ticket sales”
 - (9) – “a printed receipt and record of entry into an electronic raffle provided to the participant”
 - Q – so no cloud-based server, right? And would we be able to provide an electronic receipt, instead of a printed receipt? We would provide the same information on the electronic receipt as we would on the physical copy...
- WAC 230-11-310
 - (1) – System must operate on secure network – exceptions include remote access/credit card transactions
 - Q – so will our vendor/manufacture be able to remotely access our server? Just want to confirm
- WAC 230-11-345
 - “ensure expenses are not deducted from prize payouts”
 - Q – any possibility we could revisit/reconsider? Not being able to deduct expenses from payout ultimately means less money for our charitable efforts in the community...
- WAC 230-11-320
 - (13) – reconcile cash to raffle ticket transactions in a secure location
 - Q – are we required to use cash? Or is this policy in place in case we do accept cash? Will we be allowed to accept debit/CC?
- WAC 230-11-370
 - (2) – licensees must not pay members or volunteers for managing/operating raffle unless person is FT/PT with duties other than managing raffle
 - Q – what constitutes a “member” of the licensee?
- WAC 230-07-145
 - Annual reporting on meeting stated purpose
 - Q – is this in addition to the information we needed to submit as part of our licensing application?

- WAC 230-11-325
 - (1) – must submit internal controls to WSGC for review and approval
 - Q – what controls does the WSGC have in mind?
- WAC 230-11-305
 - Electronic raffle system will be tested for approval at CPA
 - Q – when would WSGC need to do this? How long after this until we get approval?
- WAC 230-05-160
 - New WSGC fees
 - Q – did WSGC base these new fees off another state?
- WAC 230-11-320
 - (17) – video record the entire manual draw process and retain the recording with required records
 - Q – does a cell phone video fulfill this requirement? Or does WSGC envision another medium to record this process? IE – security camera
- WAC 230-05-112
 - Seeding future pots
 - Q – can we seed future pots?
- WAC 230-11-315
 - (1) – WSGC must be allowed to access CPA before, during, and after raffle
 - Q – no issues providing access. But will WSGC provide us advanced notice? Will most likely need to secure your staff with credentials to enter the building and will need time to secure those credentials...
- WAC 230-11-375
 - Authorized discount plan
 - Q – can we sell tickets at multiple price points? Or only 1 price point?
- WAC 230-06-045
 - Holding dual raffle license
 - Q – can we hold both an electronic raffle license and a “standard” raffle license?
- WAC 230-03-153
 - Must apply for a license to operate electronic raffle if you are a NPO affiliated with a qualified sports team
 - Q – is this a completely new application? Or will the application ask for the same information already submitted to the WSGC?
- WAC 230-11-335
 - Nametags
 - Q – what kind of name tags does the WSGC envision us using?

Hi Tina, Ashlie, and Sonja:

I wanted to take a moment to appreciate the quick work you all are doing given a promising update from Amber/Eric.

Before there's text to review, I wanted to put one pressing thought to you and then ask a technical question.

On expense deduction, recognizing the point in time we're at and the overall constraints you face, would it be possible to consider more of a deduction placeholder in lieu of a set amount that may affect the teams differently? We certainly appreciate the movement to allow for some expense deduction, yet given we have 10 home games including preseason versus the 81 of the Mariners, this would allow us to deduct up to $20,000 over a season while the Mariners could go up the $162,000. Could a potential fix be allowing for deductions yet leaving it subject to future rulemaking as we know more the particulars of costs for the teams and equipment/operational costs from the vendors which is a hard to predict variable at this time?

Lastly, on our Monday call you indicated the $40k prize amount maximum elsewhere in the WAC would not apply to electronic raffles but I'm having a difficult time seeing where that's spelled out in the new rules. Appreciate any guidance as we continue reviewing comments.

Happy to jump on the phone if anyone would like.

Best,
Drew

Subject: 50/50 Raffle business premises follow up

Dear Tina, Ashlie, and Sonja:

Thank you for helping to organize the call yesterday and all the work put into the draft rules.

In advance of a more formal response from the Seahawks, I wanted to flag one issue highlighted on the call that will feature prominently in our letter – the scope of business premises. During this process, the Seahawks had assumed our Lumen Field Event Center – connected to the stadium and where we host many pregame fan and community engagement events— would be included as part of our premises. In response to Alen Cisija’s question about the event center, WSGC staff indicated their read of the draft rules suggests it would be prohibited. This is an important issue for us as over a third of Seahawk fans enter through the event center and that area has been an important source of our gameday charitable fundraising.

WAC 230-11-300(3) sets the definition for “home game authorized location” and lists parking areas as indicative of what falls outside the arena premises. Given the heightened security connected to attending a professional sporting event, the Seahawks agree with the Kraken who indicated that a guest with a ticket who has passed the security perimeter is a better definition than one narrowed to the in-arena experience. At the very least, the Lumen Event Center should be considered part of the “licensed business premises” as described in WAC 230-06-045.

Thank you for your consideration as you continue to build the record and background information for the Commissioners.

Best,
Drew

Subject: 50/50 Raffles - Deductions
Date: Tuesday, August 24, 2021 1:50:08 PM

External Email

Hi Ashlie and Tina,

Hope your week is off to a great start. I first want thank you and commission staff for all your work on the 50/50 raffle modernization effort. You've moved the needle and the results should soon show as the Seattle teams begin raising money for the benefit of our communities. I want to highlight one outstanding concern on behalf of the Seahawks and Sounders: the deduction of operating expenses. (Felipe M. from the Sounders is cc-ed here.) We feel that the $2,000 per raffle deduction disproportionately harms our teams as we have far fewer home games—and thus far fewer opportunities to conduct raffles. If, for example, the Mariners were to conduct a raffle at every home game, they could deduct up to $162,000 in expenses each license year. For the Kraken, it's $82,000. By comparison, with 10 home games each year, the Seahawks could deduct only $20,000 in any one license year, and the Sounders $34,000.

Many of the costs we anticipate deducting are fixed. They include printers, point of sale devices (e.g., iPads), card readers, network infrastructure, and the like. Other than paper for tickets, these deductible expenses will likely be close to identical for all teams. Yet, the current draft regulations would allow certain teams to spread those expenses out over the course of a longer season.

Further, we understand that 50/50 raffle prizes in the NFL far exceed prizes for the same raffles in other professional sporting leagues—on average by approximately $15,000 per raffle to the next closest league. (Based on our understanding, the league after that is another $30,000 away, again per raffle.) We believe that the success of 50/50 raffles in the NFL is driven largely by the physical size and capacities of NFL facilities, which as you can imagine, necessitate more points of sale, more equipment, and thus higher expenses. Indeed, if anything, the operating expenses at Lumen Field will likely exceed that of the other facilities.

In light of these considerations, we would like to propose a tiered structure that more equitably accounts for the length of the teams' playing seasons. The amount of allowable deductions would be based on the number of raffles conducted in a license year, as follows:

If a sports team conducts X raffles in any one license year...	...it can deduct up to $Y for expenses.
1-20	$50,000
21-50	$100,000
51-100	$150,000

This framework would not materially adversely impact the Kraken or Mariners, but would go a significant way toward enabling the Seahawks and Sounders to successfully conduct raffles. We would also be open to other frameworks suggested by commission staff that account for the concerns described above. Ultimately, if our charitable foundations are unable to cover a material portion of expenses, we would face a difficult decision as to whether to conduct 50/50 raffles at all.

Thanks in advance for your consideration.

WAC 230-11-300 Definitions.	(2) "Home game" means a live sports event held in Washington that is designated as a home game in an official schedule distributed by the league of a qualified sports team at a home game authorized location.	Does this prevent non-sports foundations from using electronic raffle technology? Are NCAA and CHL affiliated foundations permitted to operate electronic raffles under this rule?
WAC 230-11-300 Definitions.	(3) "Home game authorized location" means a sports facility where spectators gather within an arena or stadium where the home game is being conducted and not at ancillary areas or facilities such as parking areas or areas outside the arena or stadium.	This would prevent sales in the tailgate sections of the stadiums which typically account for a large portion of sales in jurisdictions that permit this. Restricting sales here would reduce the charity's fundraising potential.
WAC 230-11-300 Definitions.	(4) "Electronic raffle system" means the system that connects to and consists of servers located in the home game authorized location, associated network equipment, software, raffle sales units, raffle ticket printers, and related equipment used by an electronic raffle licensee to generate and account for the sale of raffle tickets.	Drawbacks of physical server: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Limited/inconsistent physical security <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ The server is vulnerable to theft/tampering if not kept in a secure location • Limits the ability to keep the system up <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Closed network means the operating system cannot keep up with emerging threats ○ Closed network means the operating system cannot patch vulnerabilities with automatic system updates • Requires on site support from Ascend for system administration <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Closed network means we need someone on site to perform maintenance and troubleshooting

		Amazon AWS provides industry best practice infrastructure and security. Access to the servers is only by authorized AscendFS operations and technical personnel. The raffle database is backed up daily. As opposed to on-site physical hosting, AWS provides better server security, reliability and performance while keeping operating costs low for charities and non-profits.
WAC 230-11-300 Definitions.	“Manual draw” or “drawing” means the method used for the selection of a raffle ticket to determine the raffle winner. A manual draw requires the winning raffle ticket be hand-picked from the receptacle that contains every raffle ticket sold and provides an equal chance for every ticket to be selected.	Use of a random number generator (vs printing counterfoils) is advantageous because it i) increases the draw integrity as there is no chance of losing/misprinting counterfoils, ii) significantly reduces equipment costs, allowing more of the proceeds to be used by the charity and iii) has a better ability to support very large raffles as organizers do not need to account for time (upwards of several hours) to print counterfoils into barrels.
WAC 230-11-310 Electronic raffle system requirements. The electronic raffle system must be approved by us prior to operation and must:	(14) Print one raffle number per ticket	Is this referring to the ticket that goes in the barrel or the receipt provided to the purchaser?

Rule Petition for Repeal

October 2021 – Commission Review
August 2021 –Rule-Making Petition Received

Tab 8: OCTOBER 2021 Commission Meeting Agenda.	Statutory Authority 9.46.070
Who Proposed the Rule Change?
Molly Riley, Chehalis, Washington
Background
Molly Riley, of Chehalis, Washington, is proposing to repeal the rule that requires “casinos” to verify the identification of each patron entering their facility. The petitioner feels this change is needed because it conflicts with other federal, state, or local laws and/or rules. The petitioner also feels that this change would be a kind consideration to patrons because casinos use methods to document patron identification therefore, they should know their customers. Attachments: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Petition
Policy Considerations
While the Gambling Act, specifically RCW 9.46.228, requires that you must be eighteen to play card games, nothing in the Gambling Act, or the gambling rules (Title 230 WAC) requires card rooms to card each and every patron that enters their facility. Card rooms may have their own internal procedures for verifying the age of patrons and therefore this may be done by verifying identification upon entry.
Staff Recommendation
Under the requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act, the Commission must take action on a petition within 60 days of receiving it. Your options are: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1) Initiate rule-making proceedings by filing the rule as proposed for further discussion; or2) Deny the petition in writing, a) stating the reasons for denial and specifically address the concerns stated in the petition, or b) where appropriate, indicate alternative means by which the agency will address the concerns raised in the petition. Staff recommends denial of this petition as no rule exists to repeal. Staff recommended the petitioner follow up with card room and/or casino directly to seek clarification and/or resolution in this matter.

Rule Petition Type: Repeal Rule – I am requesting WSGC to eliminate an existing rule.

==Repeal Rule – I am requesting WSGC to eliminate an existing rule.==

List rule number (WAC) if known:

Reason for repeal: It conflicts with another federal, state or local law or rule

Explain in more detail the reason for repeal:

The age legal to gamble is 18. Why then is it necessary to card each and every person that enters the Casino's everytime the entry is made? If records of the public is recorded then why do they check the same person's I.D. over and over when they know they are of age? And in general the persons to be carded are the ones that are not so known and younger looking than the majority of all the adults that visit the Casino's. And here is my biggest issue, hypothetically speaking, if your wallet gets stolen from you elsewhere and you want to gamble before the wait time to receive new I.D. card and visited many,many times before, that person with no I.D. can get in without showing that you have one. Our picture is on file. It shows each and every person as being of age. All the technical devices being used with or without the peoples knowledge of how far reaching the devices are used for when being scanned before entering surely can alert security of not being of age. I have never witnessed one time that an underage person was ever on the Casino floor. I highly doubt the possibility of underage person getting in. So, back to the request. I suggest to stop continuously "Card" the same persons over and over again. Once should be enough. It would really be a kind consideration to the public to be remembered by Casino's of who their guests are. In my opinion, I request this to be changed.

Thankyou, for your time. Have a nice day.
